WORLD SERIES RUNNER-UP – In the game of Poker, that is – is Garrett County's own Darvin Moon, who defeated 6,492 other players from around the nation, falling only to 21-year-old Michigan resident Joe Cada in the nationally televised (ESPN) final table of the World Series of Poker (WSOP) tournament, which concluded in Las Vegas. Moon and Cada had endured 14½ hours through 276 hands at the final table on Saturday and early Sunday, when they outlasted seven others to make it to heads-up play in front of 1,500 screaming fans in a capacity crowd at the Rio All-Suite Hotel & Casino. Moon was trailing Cada by a 2-1 margin going into the final round. Then the local logger stormed to nearly a 100 million-chip lead after a 20-minute break, only to have Cada rally to nearly even the chips and set the stage for a final winning hand by Cada. "He made a phenomenal call on the final hand," said Moon. "That's why he's the champion." Moon was completely unknown in the world of Poker until earning a spot in this month's world finals in preliminary play back in July. Coming into the finals, he remained the real dark horse, but kept right on winning and defeating all but one of the world's top professional players. Cada, the youngest player ever to win the world title, received a cash prize of $8.55 million. Moon, 46, received $5.18 million as the runner-up. "Darvin is an amazing competitor – a rare combination of tenacity and exceptional sportsmanship," said Dave Curley, WSOP media relations, who took this photo. "He earned the genuine respect and admiration of everyone who saw him play, including the scores of Joe Cada supporters who traveled to Las Vegas from Michigan."

THE SKY WAS AGLOW above the Sang Run area early Monday after fire of as yet unknown origin broke out in a 1½-story residence occupied by Ray and Kathy Myers. A neighbor discovered the blaze and called 911, as the Myers couple was not at home at the time. The house and contents were deemed a total loss, estimated by fire investigators to total $80,000. See story for more details. Photo courtesy of Northern Rescue EMT Keith Maust.

Sang Run Area House Destroyed By Fire Monday

The investigation is continuing into the cause of a fire that destroyed a 1½-story wood-frame house near Sang Run Monday morning.

Volunteers from several local fire departments were summoned to 2924 Sang Run Road at 5:42 a.m. when a neighbor saw the structure in flames and called 911. Called to the scene by the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management were units from the Deep Creek, Accident, Friendsville, Oakland, Bittinger, and Terra Alta fire departments, as well as the Northern Rescue Squad.

Upon their arrival, the house was fully engulfed in flames. The occupants, Ray and Kathy Myers, were not at home at the time of the fire. The structure was owned by Robert Thomas.

The fire was brought under control in about 45 minutes, according to a report released by the Maryland State Fire Marshal's office; however, some units remained on the scene for several hours.

Fire investigators estimated the loss to be $60,000 to the structure and $20,000 to contents.

Driver Ditches 78K Runaway Rig On Backbone Mtn. Escape Ramp

The escape ramp along Rt. 135 on Backbone Mountain was put to good use Monday when a truck driver from Virginia was able to steer his run-away rig onto the sandy trap and thereby save his life and perhaps others down the road.

According to reports, Bonzell Garland, 32, was operating a 1997 Kenworth tractor pulling a 2006 Cherokee trailer loaded with a conveyor belt. The rig, owned by Legacy Express Inc., of Richmond, Va., weighed 78,000 pounds, according to investigating officer Tfc. Blair Bittinger of the Maryland State Police.

Garland started the descent into Bloomington at about 12:30 p.m., on his way to Norfolk, Va. He was traveling at about 45 miles per hour when his brakes and transmission failed.

It was at that moment that he passed the first warning signs with blinking lights, and then knew that an escape ramp was ahead. The truck had accelerated to about 65 miles per hour by the time he hit the ramp, and he continued to travel down the runaway of deep sand and pea gravel for a long distance. Finally, at more than 550 feet into the 1,800-foot ramp, the truck came to a stop.

Bittinger, who has worked out of the Finzel weigh and inspection station for the past eight years in his duty with the Commercial Vehicle Enforcement Division, said that was the farthest he has witnessed any vehicle traveling on the runaway.

The base of the mountain along Rt. 135, where the mountain rises up and the road turns abruptly to the right, has been the site of numerous fatal accidents over the past 30 years. A line of painted crosses de-

MSP Arrest Man For Multiple CDS Violations

Troopers of the Maryland State Police McHenry Barracks were dispatched to Bear Creek Road in Accident on Monday evening for a reported drug violation.

Upon arrival, officers observed a 2003 Dodge Ram truck parked in the driveway of a residence. Officers made contact with 21-year-old Katlin C.J. Patton, who was observed to be slumped over forward on the steering wheel, and observed a white powder substance on Patton's pants and driver's seat.

After regaining consciousness, Patton was asked to step out of his vehicle, and was allegedly unsteady on his feet and was slurring his speech. Officers then observed white powder residue on his nostrils, which officers believed to be a controlled dangerous substance.

A search of the car revealed an open cigarette case with a white powder substance and a straw about three inches long. Officers recognized these items to be possible items used to inhale CDS, and the white powder was later field tested positive for codeine.

Third Resident Sentenced In Burglary Case

A 21-year-old Oakland area resident pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court last week to first degree burglary. Related charges against Bryan Wayne Sisler were dismissed upon his plea.

Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced him to five years in the Division of Corrections and suspended all but 18 months of the sentence. Sisler will be on probation upon his release from the Garrett County Jail, with conditions that include the payment of restitution of $2,600.

Sisler and two others were arrested and charged with the burglary and related theft by investigators with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in July after investigation revealed they had burglarized a cabin in the Gorman area in May. The owner had reported items stolen, including a laptop computer and firearms. Some of the guns were recovered during the investigation, the state's attorney noted.

The two co-defendants, Kevin Tyler Mauk, 19, and Robert Brandon Lewis, 23, both of Oakland, previously pleaded guilty and are serving the same sentence in the Roads Dept. "On Track" With Budget, Will Limit New Equipment Purchases

With fiscal year 2010 about half way over, the Garrett County Roads Department is basically "right on" target with 45 percent of the budget being used, general roads superintendent Jay Moyer reported to the county commissioners on Tuesday.

"Things are looking good; the guys are very conscientious about their spending," Moyers said about department employees. "We're trying to keep it (the budget) right where it should be, and hopefully, actually reserve a little for next year."

With that in mind and in anticipation of more state funding cuts, Moyer wants to limit capital costs as much as possible.

"I'm going to ask all of our shops to look very closely at their existing equipment and give it an intense review of what we have and what's going to be needed to maintain that equipment, in anticipation of not purchasing equipment in the coming fiscal years," Moyer said.

He said he want to structure upcoming budgets to reflect more on repairs and operations rather than capital expenditures for equipment.

"I think the equipment, in general, is in pretty good repair," Moyer said. "There are a few pieces that could be replaced, but I think with some care and good maintenance, that equipment will last another couple of years."

Commissioner Fred Holliday cautioned Moyer not to "run equipment into the ground" and be left without pieces to do needed work. Moyer said he real-

Pedestrian Bridge In Friendsville To Become Reality

Friendsville Mayor Spencer R. Schlosnagle recently received notification from Governor Martin O'Malley and Lt. Governor Anthony G. Brown that the town of Friendsville has been awarded a grant in the amount of $88,500 to build a pedestrian bridge over Bear Creek.

The town will work with Secretary Raymond A. Skinner and his staff of the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development to administer this grant.

"Thanks to the many citizens in our community who wrote letters, as well as the staff at the head start center and our seniors for their support," said Schlosnagle. "Without their help this project would not have been able to become a real-

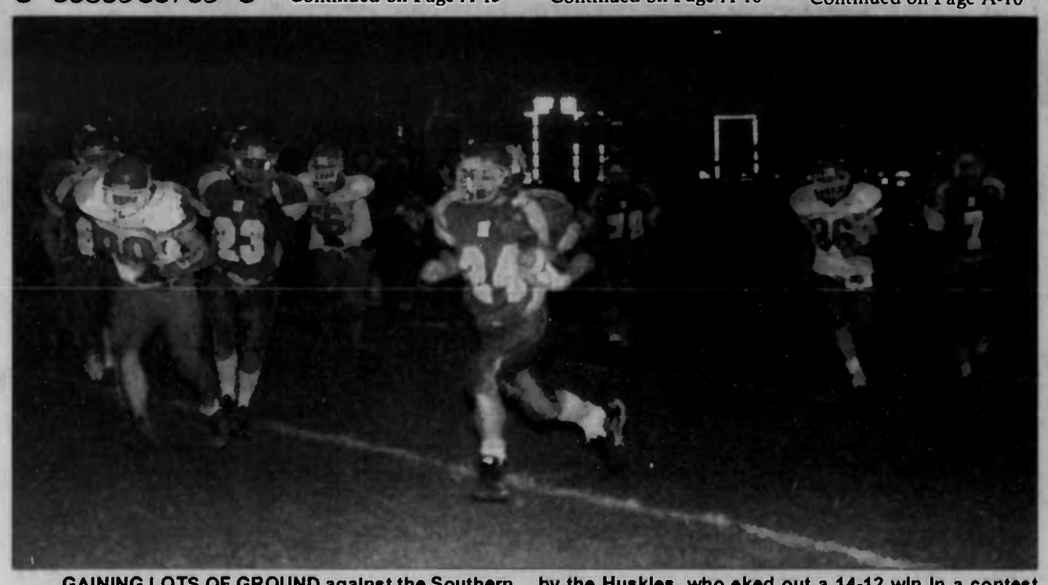
PUBLIC SPEAKING WINNER – Scarlett Fost of the Northern Garrett High School FFA Chapter placed 20th in the nation in the Prepared Public Speaking Career Development Event (CDE) at the 82nd National FFA Convention in Indianapolis, Ind., last month. The event is designed to recognize outstanding FFA members for their ability to prepare and present a factual speech on a specific agricultural issue. The National FFA Prepared Public Speaking CDE is sponsored by Monsanto as a special project of the National FFA Foundation. It is one of three different national events that use competition to connect classroom learning and careers. Pictured above, from left, are Becky Berkeblie, past Maryland state FFA president, Fost, and Gary Baron, a representative of Monsanto.



GAINING LOTS OF GROUND against the Southern High School defense Friday night at the Cove was Northern High School sophomore running back Alex Baker, one of the area's top offensive players, pictured above picking up some of his 182 yards of rushing against the Rams. The annual clash for Garrett County gridiron bragging rights was won for the eighth straight season by the Huskies, who eked out a 14-12 win in a contest that featured numerous turnovers. Also identifiable in the photo, from left, are Southern's Jeremy Sharpless (#80), Northern's Dylan Day (#23), Southern's Tyler Alt (#56), Husky Nick Owens (#79), Ram Bryson Knox (#36) and Husky Patrick Sines (#7). HONORED FOR SERVICE – A solemn commemorative service was held in downtown Oakland yesterday, as well as in other Garrett County towns, in observance of Veterans Day. Words of gratitude and appreciation were spoken, music was performed, and wreaths were displayed in honor of veterans of the United States military, as well as those who are serving today. Joe DiSimone is pictured with the microphone, singing "Taps (Day is Done)" as service representatives placed wreathes for each branch of the military. To the right of him is Major Terry Schlossnagle of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, who gave the keynote address. The Southern Garrett Marching Band is shown in the back. The group played "It is Well" and also marched in a parade in the afternoon, playing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" on the street. A large crowd attended the event, and residents and businesspersons came out to watch the parade as well. Photo by John McEwen.

Officers Arrest Local Man For Traffic Violation

Deputies of the Garrett County sheriff's office stopped a vehicle last Friday on Maryland Highway for not having a rear registration plate illumination.

Investigation revealed that Milton Charles Witemore III was driving on a suspended license and privilege in the state of Maryland. He was subsequently arrested and charged with driving on a suspended license and privilege. He is currently incarcerated awaiting a bond hearing.

GC Deputies Take Two Local Men Into Custody

Garrett County sheriff's officers arrested and charged two men on the strength of court-issued arrest warrants.

Deputies arrested Brian Eugene Deem on Saturday and charged him with failure to register as a sex offender. He is currently incarcerated and awaiting a bond hearing.

Jeffrey Neil Paugh II was arrested by deputies on Wednesday and was charged with first-degree burglary, malicious destruction of property, theft valued at less than $1,000, and trespassing on private property. He is currently incarcerated at the Garrett County Detention Center and is awaiting a bond hearing.

BOARD OF EDUCATION PRESENTS PROCLAMATIONS – The Garrett County Board of Education presented two proclamations during its Tuesday evening meeting. The American Education Week Proclamation was given to Ann Ellis, president of the Garrett County Education Association, by BOE president Rodney Durst and Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of Garrett County public schools. The edict proclaims Nov. 16–22 as the 87th annual observance of American Education Week and recognizes public schools as the "backbone of our democracy, providing young people with the tools they need to maintain our nation's precious values of freedom, civility, and equality." Pictured above, left to right, are Durst, Ellis, and Teets. American Legion Post 71, Oakland, commander James Stewart was on hand for the BOE's Veterans Day proclamation. He is pictured below with Durst and Teets. The proclamation, in part, reads "Whereas, if we are to pass the torch of freedom from generation to generation, Veterans Day must also be a day of education, wherein children must be taught the foundational principles of our country and instilled with a sense of duty, honor, and responsibility for its preservation."

Evening Open House Set At Garrett College

Garrett College will hold an evening open house for prospective students and their families next Thursday, Nov. 19, from 6 to 8 p.m. The program will be held in the Garrett College Continuing Education building, Room 205/207, on the McHenry campus.

Garrett representatives will provide information about both credit and non-credit programs of study, as well as details about applying to the college. Financial aid staff will offer information about scholarships and financial aid opportunities, including the new G.I. Bill and other veterans' benefits. A financial aid session will begin at 7 p.m., and a counselor will be available throughout the evening to answer individual financial aid questions.

Tours of the college campus will begin at 6:15 p.m. and will be offered every 30 minutes. Those who wish to tour the residence halls will also have an opportunity to do so.

"The evening open house is a great opportunity for prospective students of all ages to visit the college," said Rachelle Davis, director of admissions at Garrett College. "I encourage high school students and parents to take advantage of this opportunity to learn more about programs of study, as well as the Garrett County Scholarship and other financial aid."

Davis said that adult learners who are interested in attending college should consider attending the event as well.

"This is a good time for adults considering a new career path or interested in improving existing skills to visit the college," she said. "A program director from Continuing Education and Workforce Development will be providing information about non-credit programs of study and upcoming classes in business, professional development, computer training, health and medical training, and personal interest."

Davis added that anyone interested in seeing the college and hearing about new facilities and programs is encouraged to visit during open house.

Pre-registration for the open house is encouraged, but not required. Further information and on-line registration are available at www.garrettcollege.edu or by telephoning the Garrett College Office of Admissions at 301-387-3044.

Two Cited In Unrelated Motor Vehicle Accidents

Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to two separate motor vehicle accidents last week, which resulted in citations for two local residents.

Investigation of an accident last Thursday revealed that Jody Lee Roe had been operating her vehicle under the influence of alcohol, which resulted in the motor vehicle accident on Garrett Highway near I-68.

Roe was subsequently arrested and charged with driving under the influence (DUI), driving while impaired (DWI), and driving while impaired by drugs and/or alcohol. She was allowed to sign her citations and was released.

The second accident happened on this morning around 2:05 a.m. on Dilly Road. The accident investigation revealed that Ricky Dale Kent was south bound on Dilly Road when he lost control of the vehicle and struck the embankment.

Kent was subsequently arrested and charged with DUI, DWI, driving on a revoked out-of-state license, failure to remain at the scene of an accident, failure to control speed to avoid a collision, controlled dangerous substance (CDS) possession of marijuana, and CDS possession of paraphernalia. He is currently incarcerated and awaiting a bond hearing.

Garrett Chamber Wins Award At Travel Summit

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce won the 2009 Best Electronic Marketing Award from the Maryland Tourism Council at the 29th annual Maryland Tourism and Travel Summit, formerly the Governor's Tourism Industry Conference, held in Ocean City last week.

Competing against nominees from other counties in the state, Garrett County collected the tourism industry award for the WTAE-TV Advertising Campaign at the annual Awards Banquet, held on Nov. 5.

"The chamber is honored to have received this award recognizing our WTAE-TV advertising campaign," said Joyce Bishoff, interim president of the chamber. "It is particularly gratifying to be recognized by our tourism industry peers at the Maryland Tourism Council."

The Best Electronic Marketing Award recognizes Maryland Tourism Council members with the most strategic and innovative electronic marketing initiative to attract visitors, a spokesperson said. Nominated projects included web sites, e-mail marketing campaigns, online promotions, and radio and television advertising. Winners are determined by a panel of judges composed of past recipients of the Maryland Tourism Council's Tourism Person of the Year award.

The project for which the chamber was recognized was initiated in 2008. That year the organization provided its 700+ member businesses with the opportunity to purchase cooperative television advertising with Pittsburgh's WTAE-TV. Footage was shot from that year and in 2009, and the commercials ran on the Pittsburgh station this year in May, June, September, and October. Additional commercials will run again this December and January. Numerous local advertisers were included in the project.

For more information about the Maryland Tourism Council, persons may visit mdtourism.org. For more information about the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, persons may call 301-387-4386 or stop by www.visitdeepcreek.com.

Deer Park Man Charged With CDS Poss.

Garrett County Sheriff's deputies arrested a Deer Park man on Saturday for controlled dangerous substance violations, stemming from a report of an intoxicated subject walking in the roadway.

Investigation led to the arrest of 20-year-old Justin David Dillsworth. He was charged with controlled dangerous substance (CDS) possession of marijuana, and CDS possession of paraphernalia. He is currently incarcerated at the Garrett County Dentention Center awaiting a bond hearing.

Mtn. Lake Park Man Arrested Twice In Same Day By GCSO

Garrett County sheriff's deputies arrested a 24-year-old Mtn. Lake Park man two times last Wednesday for multiple substance abuse violations.

Officers were dispatched to the intersection of Green and Second streets in relation to a domestic disturbance. Adam Kayne Miller was arrested at 9:40 p.m. after being contacted by deputies. At the time of the arrest he was operating a 2000 Ford Ranger truck. Investigation revealed that he was driving under the influence of alcohol, and was transported to the sheriff's office where he was later released pending trial.

At approximately 11:35 p.m., Miller was again stopped by deputies An investigation revealed that after he had left the sheriff's office he drove a 2006 Chevy Cobalt from the Oakland area to Mtn. Lake Park. He was arrested again for driving under the influence of alcohol, and was then transported to the Garrett County Detention Center. He was later released on his own personal recognizance.

Miller was charged with two counts of DUI, two counts of DUI per se, two counts of DWI, and one count of driving a motor vehicle within twelve hours of being charged with DUI.

Congratulations, Darvin Moon!

Garrett County's Cinderella?...

If ever there were a Cinderella story, that of Darvin Moon's amazing run in the World Series of Poker would have to be among the finalists for that title. When one scans down the list of a few dozen top players of the game and notes their occupations that appear beside their names, nearly every one says "professional poker player." But beside Darvin's name it says "logger" or "lumberjack."

Based purely on experience, Darvin should have been nowhere near the top players among the nearly 6,500 who entered the world contest. Yes, he has played the game at much lower levels of competition for some time now, but his rise to the world finals is like the proverbial diamond-in-the-rough sandlot baseball player who suddenly finds himself on the roster of a major league team, and then is named team MVP.

Because of Darvin's completely unpretentious, humble nature, he says that luck had more than anything to do with his success in finishing as the runner-up in this past week's tournament that was watched worldwide on the ESPN network. "In Wheeling, I'm as good as anybody," he said earlier this year. "Here [Las Vegas], I'm maybe 6,300 out of 6,500."

However, anyone who is even vaguely familiar with poker knows that, while the luck of the draw is a significant factor, just as important is how one plays the game, one's strategy, and how quickly one can adapt to the habits and signs displayed by opposing players. Success requires an extremely high level of skill combined with some luck.

The young man who ultimately edged out Darvin for the world title, Joe Cada, said that he regularly plays about a dozen tournaments at a time online, or three at a time in heads-up cash games. Meanwhile, Darvin has never in his life played a single hand of online poker. He doesn't even own a computer or have an e-mail address.

While we in our newsroom have yet to talk to Darvin since his big finish, it is rumored that he has already been offered some amazingly lucrative endorsement opportunities – worth millions – but so far he has elected to turn them down. He really just wants to get back to Garrett County and resume his life as a logger and a family man.

We learned just this morning from a World Series of Poker official that Darvin was truly a fan favorite in Las Vegas (see quote under photo on front page), again primarily because of his nature and the exceptional level of sportsmanship that he demonstrates. So for that alone, we use this column today to congratulate Darvin on his outstanding accomplishment, and more importantly, to say how proud we are of him for representing Garrett County with such class and distinction

To the Editor:

From October 20 to 24, we 11 students of the North Garrett FFA chapter attended the 82nd annual National FFA Convention in Indianapolis, Ind. During the convention, we were the given the opportunity to experience many new things. From testing virtual welders to riding a mechanical bull, meeting representatives from the nation's top agricultural college programs, as well as the members of the Eli Young Band, all of us returned to Garrett County with deeper resolve to succeed in our agricultural endeavors.

It is with the greatest appreciation that the North Garrett FFA recognizes the many businesses and individuals whose contributions helped to make the trip possible: Accident Garage, AgChoice Farm Credit of Oakland, Annie's Kitchen, Burrow Truck Lines, Butterkrust Bread Company, Casselman Restaurant, Ann Ellis, the Family of Jerod and Kim Minnick, Five Spring Farms, Kim Fost, Mary Ann Glotfelty and the Northern High cafeteria staff, Green Valley, Tammy Grove, Hilltop Fruit Market, Lonestar Restaurant, Virgil and Robin Long, McDonald's, Springs Store, Janet Tichinel, Mary Ann Umbel, Carolyn and Michael Voelkel, and Sue Warnick.

In addition, the support of the community with every fundraiser is deeply valued, as our organization continues to grow. We would also like to give a special thank-you to Richard McCrobie, Cindy Garlitz, Becky Berkebile, principal Gary Reichenbecher and the staff of Northern High School, Dr. Wendell Teets and the Garrett County Board of Education, and all of our parents for making our FFA chapter a success. Their support makes it possible for us to experience once-in-a-lifetime opportunities.

Once again, thank you to everyone who helped to make this trip and the North Garrett FFA a success.

Sincerely,
Convention attendees Alex Beitzel, Jared Dennis, Scarlett Fost, Michael Frantz, Jordan Fratz, Toby Grove, Morgan Lipscomb, Ashley Rodeheaver, Bradley Rodeheaver, Cindy Smearman, and Tyler Wilt

To the Editor:

Hello, my name is Travis Kitzmiller and I am 5 years old. Together with the Southern Rescue Squad, I would like to start something in memory of my pappy, Jack Paugh. I'm looking for new and used (in good shape) toys to give to needy kids.

What I want to do is make up sacks to take to the hospital for kids in there at Christmas. I would also like to find a few families in our area that might need some help at Christmas to give to, and I would also like to send a package to needy kids in the Philippines.

You see, my pappy used to collect toys, clean them up, and send them to kids there. He saw these kids were in need because he used to go there. My pappy was a really good man who helped people everywhere. That's why I would like to do this. Any help would be appreciated.

Donations can be made out to SGCRS – Jack's Sacks. You can call Dora Kitzmiller at 301-334-5755 or 301-616-8755.

To the Editor:

The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad Auxiliary will host a spaghetti dinner on Friday, Dec. 4, with proceeds going to the rescue squad. Santa will be our special guest, and will have treats for the children.

The dinner will be served from 5 to 8 p.m. at the squad hall in Mountain Lake Park. The cost will be $6 per person, with children under age 4 allowed to eat free.

The auxiliary will also be supporting "Jack's Sacks," a program that collects new and used toys. The new toys will be given to children at the WVU children's ward in Morgantown.

We know that with your support and kindness, this can be a joyous holiday season for many. Thank you, past and present supporters of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad Auxiliary.

To the Editor:

This being flu season, maybe it would be useful to remember some old-fashioned natural cures for flu and colds.

Classic advice is, at the first sign of symptoms, stop eating grain foods (such as bread, pasta, rice, oatmeal, corn, etc.), milk products, eggs, meat, and sugar (even cough drops with sugar), and eat only fruits and vegetables that have been washed before being eaten, peeled, cut, or cooked. We can also eat nuts, sunflower and/or pumpkin seeds, unsugared dried fruits, and sprouts.

We should remember that honey and garlic are natural antibiotics, and that parsley is loaded with vitamin E, the immune vitamin. It makes a nice tea if you boil water in a glass pot, take it off the stove, and add fresh or dried parsley, cover and steep 10 minutes, then strain and add a little salt.

Speaking of tea, black teas contain tannin and are anti-viral (and anti-tumor, among other things). It probably goes without saying that horseradish used as a condiment will clear sinuses as well as any mist, and that onions have historically been used to reduce fever.

Dried bean soup or a plate of vegetables for lunch and supper, black tea with honey, and cooked fruit in fruit juice for breakfast may be good fortification against flu bugs.

After a week or so on a grain-free diet the body normally will build up a natural defense to whatever strain of flu it is exposed to. With any luck there's only one strain that dominates each season.

If you ask your grandmother what her grandmother did to cure a cold and flu, you're sure to find more natural cures.

Here's wishing you good health. As the song says, "Go forth for God."

All best wishes,
Nancy Dobson

Two letters to the editor appeared in your October 29 edition addressing certain events at the Tri-State Area Pee-Wee football semi-final playoff game, in which the Frostburg Cougars defeated the Northern Maddawgs. The views and opinions expressed in those letters do not reflect those of the 2009 Northern Maddawgs board of directors. We were thrilled to have made it to the semi-finals, and congratulate the Frostburg Cougars on their win and the privilege of advancing to the Pee-Wee Super Bowl.

"On Track"

izes some purchases may have to be made.

"But we'll do our best to work with what we have to get through this until times get better," he said.

Moyer said workers will go over each piece of equipment, rate it from good to poor, and estimate the cost of bringing it up to a good rating. He acknowledged, however, that it may be more cost effective to replace a piece, rather than keep repairing it.

"But if we can get that equipment to operate, safely and efficiently, for the next couple of years, that's what we're going to do," Moyer said.

He also reported that state funding cuts to municipalities have been detrimental. Town officials noted in a recent meeting with state representatives that highway user fee revenue losses have decimated their budgets by as much as 90 percent. As a result, some towns have no money for street repairs and other projects.

"We've tried to – in anyway we can, within reason – assist the municipalities," Moyer said.

That assistance includes providing antiskid materials, allowing incorporated towns to purchase fuel through the county at its cost, and donating materials that the county is not using or no longer needs.

For example, the Roads Department recently gave Friendsville some metal it had left over from a project. The town was then able to use the scrap material to repair some stormwater drains.

Moyer showed the commissioners a letter from Friendsville officials to Road Department foreman Paul Harvey, thanking him for finding and providing the scrap metal.

"They appreciated it," Moyer said about the officials.

He indicated that as the economy worsens, other towns will request assistance from the county. The superintendent said if it involves donating a large amount of material, however, he will get the commissioners' approval first.

"We're going to have to work together, and if we can help each other, we will," Commissioner Denny Glotfelty said about the municipalities and the county.

Moyer also reported on the status of the new Crellin Underwood Road bridge. The structure was delivered on Friday and is being assembled this week. The superintendent said the quickest part of the project is setting the steel. The part that will slow it down, however, is the decking, which includes all of the welding.

"If the weather holds out in the next couple weeks, we should have that bridge pretty well ready to go," Moyer said.

KNIGHTS HONOR FR. PARSON – Knights of Columbus, Council #1771, members presented a plaque to Fr. Don Parson, pastor, during their annual shrimp and bull roast on Saturday at St. Peter the Apostle Parish Hall in Oakland. The plaque commemorates Parson's 52 years as a Knight. He joined in October 1957, and was later elected Grand Knight of Columbia Council #7559. He was ordained a priest in Baltimore on May 26, 1990, and has been the chaplain of Council #1771, Oakland since being assigned pastor of St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Church in January 1999. Seated, left to right, are Parson and Michael Saunders, Grand Knight. Behind them are Michael Rafferty, Joseph DiSimone, Bud Boehm, Brian Zerbe, Daniel Clark, Daniel Poyer, Jim McMenamin, Stephan Moylan, John Maroney, Jack Holt, and Neil Krebs.

ROTARY DONATES TO STEPHEN'S TABLE – Oakland Rotary Club representative John Kinzer (left) presented a $500 check to Rev. Dr. Chip Lee, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church and vicar of St. John's Episcopal Church, on Sunday. The donation was made in recognition of the work several members of the Episcopal Church in Garrett County conducted in the club's french fry booth during the Garrett County Fair in August. The Episcopal group has served the Rotary for the last three years in this capacity. Stephen's Table serves free meals to the public on the next to the last Thursday of each month from 4:30 to 6 p.m. in the parish hall at St. Matthew's Episcopal, 126 E. Liberty St., Oakland. Lloyd Cole, chef and manager of Stephen's Table, has planned the menus, bought the food, and, with his wife Sharon and members of St. John's and St. Matthew's, served the public for the past seven years. Cole estimates that 7,000 meals have been served since the inception of Stephen's Table.

GOP WOMEN DONATE GIFT ITEMS – The Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club (SGCRWC) has joined the Joint Ventures program initiated by the Oakland Civic Club. As a part of that effort, SGCRW members chose the Lighthouse Treasure Chest to be the beneficiary of their first project. The Treasure Chest is a gift shop located onsite at the Garrett County Lighthouse and is exclusively for the consumers who are enrolled in the agency's programs and services. SGCRW collected and donated several boxes and bags of gift items, including Halloween and Christmas decorations, vases, basked filled with tiny "treasures," baskets of flowers, note cards, and ceramic pieces. Pictured, left to right are club members Lisa Thayer Welch and Rita Watson presenting gift items to Treasure Chest managers Loretta Baille and Bobbie Henderson.

Mating Deer Cause Mayhem For Motorists

by Bobby McMahon
Capital News Service

Ah, the things we do for love.

School girls draw hearts on notebooks. Men spend months of salary on diamond engagement rings. Deer dart into traffic.

With mating season at its peak, many lovesick deer are charging across roadways in search of potential mates, creating danger for themselves and Maryland drivers. State officials and safety experts advise motorists to stay alert, watch their speed and, most importantly, don't veer for deer.

The vast majority of Maryland deer mate in the fall, said Brian Eyler of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources. Also called "the rut," mating season peaks during the first weeks of November, meaning higher levels of activity for deer.

"They're on a mission," Eyler said.

Deer use scent to find potential mates, said Eyler, which often brings them into the roadway.

"If you've got a buck on one side of the road and he smells a doe in heat on the other side of the road, he's going to cross that road," Eyler said.

The number of deer collisions has been on the rise in the past five years, said Maria Jackson, a spokeswoman for State Farm Insurance in Maryland. She speculates the increase is the result of more registered drivers in the state as well as a "combination of the growing deer population and the displacement of their habitat caused by urban sprawl."

Drivers can take several steps to avoid hitting deer, said Charlie Gischlar, spokesman for the Maryland State Highway Administration. They can pay particular attention during dawn and dusk when deer are most active, drive with their high beams on, and slow down if they see a deer – where there's one, there's most likely a herd.

But, if a deer darts into the road, Gischlar urges drivers to "never veer for deer," as swerving could cause the car to collide with trees or other cars.

"It's an instinct that you really have to fight," Gischlar said. "It's best to hit the animal instead of doing a quick evasive maneuver."

Collisions with deer can be costly for motorists (notwithstanding their obvious impact on the deer). The average cost for repairs after a deer strike is about $3,050, according to State Farm.

Collisions with deer can on rare occasions result in injury or death. In 2007, 1,962 crashes involving deer and other animals in the state killed two people and injured 458, according to the Deer Vehicle Crash Information Clearinghouse (www.deercrash.com).

Deer mating season wraps up at the end of November.

VOLUNTEERS SOUGHT TO PROVIDE HOLIDAY MEALS – Donna Arndt and Chuck Dean are shown reviewing requests for Thanksgiving Day meals. They and other Area Agency on Aging personnel are currently making a list of Meals on Wheels clients who will not be joining family or friends for Thanksgiving and/or Christmas and will need meals on those days. "Since the agency is closed on these days, we are looking for volunteers in the community who are willing to assist some of our frail, home-delivered meals clients by providing them with a holiday meal," said a spokeswoman. "When preparing your holiday meal, share a small part of your feast with one or two of our homebound clients by making a dinner plate and delivering the meal 'from your table to theirs.' As you prepare your holiday meals, please remember those in your community who are unable to prepare such a bountiful meal for themselves. Why not make it a family affair by including your children in this community service?" Those who would like to help are asked to call the agency at 301-334-9431, ext. 178 or 137, by Wednesday, Nov. 18, for Thanksgiving, and Thursday, Dec. 17, for Christmas.

LESTER RAY HINKLE

Lester Ray "Buck" Hinkle, 87, passed away Tuesday, Nov. 10, 2009, at Davis Memorial Hospital in Elkins, W.Va. He was born in Davis, W.Va., on Aug. 27, 1922, the second son of the late Omer Scott and Mable Susan Kimble Hinkle.

On April 22, 1950, he married Barbara McDowell Hinkle, who remains at their home in Davis. In addition to his wife, he is survived by one daughter, U.S. Navy Captain (Ret.) Marcia H. (husband Robert) Lemon, Thomas, W.Va.; one son, G. He was preceded in death by one brother, Ellery James Hinkle.

A graduate of Davis High School, class of '41, Mr. Hinkle was drafted into the U.S. Army in 1942, in which he served as a paratrooper and with Co. H, 38th Infantry 2nd Division, in the European Theater. He was awarded the Silver Star for action beyond the call of duty. When he returned to the states at the end of the war, he was greeted with a kiss by Marlene Dietrich; one of many stories he enjoyed sharing.

After his discharge in 1946, he returned to his hometown of Davis, where he went to work at the L.H. Mott & Wayne C. Spiggle Funeral Home. He attended the Pittsburgh School of Mortuary Science and in 1949 graduated as a licensed embalmer and funeral director. In 1963 he bought the business now known as Hinkle Funeral Home. Although he officially retired in 1989 and turned the business over to son Scott, Lester continued to be active in the day-to-day operations.

During his career, Mr. Hinkle had a lifelong interest in his community. He served as town recorder for two terms, and joined the Blackwater Civic Club. He joined the Davis Volunteer Fire Department and served as treasurer until the time of his death. In 2006, he was awarded a Fire Safety Commendation from Sons of the American Revolution for his 63 years of service to the fire department.

Lester served on a committee that started the Winter Carnival in 1951(which eventually became the Alpine Festival Board), for which he served as president for 10 years. He was a former member of the Tucker Community Foundation and the Tucker Building Commission. He was a current member of Thomas Fairfax Lodge #174, Fraternal Order of Eagles Lodge #936, and a life member of Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 8367. In 1997 he was named the Tuckineer by the Tucker Chamber of Commerce. He was a lifelong member of Davis United Methodist Church.

Friends will be received at Hinkle Funeral Home today, Nov. 12, from 4 until 8 p.m. A funeral service will be held at the Hinkle Funeral Chapel on Friday, Nov. 13, 1 p.m., with Pastor Jim Martin officiating. Interment will follow in the Davis Cemetery.

Box 486, Davis, WV 26260, or the Davis Volunteer Fire Dept., P.O. Box 215, Davis. The Hinkle Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Adorable Adoptables

"GARRETT COUNTY READS" PROCLAIMED – In recognition of National Literacy Month, the Garrett County Community Action Overlook Judy Center Partnership (OJC) has proclaimed Friday, Nov. 13, as "Garrett County Reads." The Garrett County commissioners signed the proclamation on Tuesday at the courthouse. The OJC Steering Committee members are working to improve learning opportunities, including early literacy programs, that can provide a foundation of learning for local children. The group encourages everyone to read The Giving Tree by Shel Silverstein to children on Nov. 13 and to continue to read to children every day "so the joy of reading can be shared." The commissioners each received a hardback copy of The Giving Tree and took a moment to share it with a group of Head Start children. Pictured above, front to back, on the left are Alyssa Sweltzer, Christina Liller, Braige Hardesty, Chloe Turner, and Anthony Moreau. On the right are Commissioners Fred Holliday, Denny Glotfelty, and Ernie Gregg. Behind the commissioner, left to right, below are OJC Steering Committee members Cathy Ashby, Ruth Enlow Library director; Tricia Cheesman, Garrett Mentors; Pat Shelton, OJC, holding the signed proclamation with Barbara Baker, Garrett County Board of Education; Patricia Baer, Garrett College; and Melanie Cooper, OJC. For more information about "Garrett County Reads," persons may call 301-334-4211. The OJC is a component of Community Action's efforts to increase the number of families who are economically self sufficient by creating a positive attitude about the value of education among working families and young people. Forensic Nurses Week Under Way by Diane Lee, Public Information Officer Garrett County Health Dept.

While many people think the solution to violence occurs in police stations, courtrooms, and prisons, there is a dedicated group of nurses who understand "Violence is a Health Care Problem." This week, Nov. 9-13, the International Association of Forensic Nurses (IAFN) is observing Forensic Nurses Week. Forensic nurses are on the front line making sure victims of rape, child abuse, and domestic violence receive compassionate care, while vital forensic evidence is collected and preserved.

Garrett County has one forensic nurse, Heather Cooper, RN, with the Garrett County Health Department. She is on call 24/7 for acute adult cases at the Emergency Department at Garrett Memorial Hospital, and by appointment for child abuses cases.

More than 25 years ago, a handful nurses recognized that rape victims often waited for hours in hospital emergency departments for care and evidence collection. Now more than 500 communities have specially trained sexual assault nurse examiners (SANEs) providing care to victims of sexual assault. Other forensic nurses serve as death investigators, or work with attorneys as legal nurse consultants. Anywhere nursing and victims of violence intersect, one can find a forensic nurse.

To meet the increasing need of forensic nurses, many colleges of nursing are creating forensic nursing programs. More than 25 programs now exist throughout the country.

"If you think a forensic nursing program prepares you to work for CSI, you have the wrong idea," said Dr. Kathy Sekula, PhD., coordinator of the forensic nursing program at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh. "The forensic nurse must be able to provide nursing care to victims and perpetrators of violence across the lifespan and develop innovative programs to deal with the short- and long-term health consequences of interpersonal violence."

This year the International Association of Forensic Nurses observes its 17th anniversary of providing education and support to forensic nurses throughout the United States, Canada, and 22 other countries.

"There are data that show that up to 37.5% of health care costs may be the result of violence," said Jennifer Pierce-Weeks, president of IAFN.

In a recent study by the U.S. Department of Justice, 60 percent of the children surveyed were exposed to violence within the past year, either directly or indirectly. Forensic nurses know that some of these exposures place children at risk for lifelong health care problems. Forensic nurses are in the best position to make a difference, by creating programs to both prevent violence and provide early recognition and treatment of the effects of violence.

For more information about the local program, persons may telephone 301-334-7770.

Local Church To Hold Christmas Advent Series

Members of the Mountaintop Seventh-Day Adventist Church will participate in an all-church series called "The Christmas You've Always Longed For."

This five-week seasonal Advent celebration will take place each Saturday from Nov. 28 through Christmas, and will involve everyone in the church – children and adults, families, couples, and singles.

"In addition to five weekend worship services, many people will be working through a special devotional journal that includes daily scriptures, prayers, inspirational readings, in-home ceremonies, and practical ideas for making the Christmas season more God-honoring," said a church spokesperson.

Dr. J. Wayne Hancock, senior pastor, encourages the public to join the celebration by attending the Saturday worship services, which begin at 10:50 a.m. The church is located at 16335 Garrett Highway, Oakland.

Those who are interested in more information or obtaining a devotional journal may call the church office at 301-387-9532.

SHS OCTOBER STUDENT OF THE MONTH – Southern High School's principal James Maddy, left, announced that October's Perkins Student of the Month is sophomore Richard Harvey, center. Harvey was nominated by band director Josh Elmlinger, right, for his positive attitude and "fierce" dedication to the band. "Richard has taken constant correction by the band staff with good cheer and a positive attitude to always do better, said Elmlinger. "When many other kids get down on themselves and adopt an 'i can't do this attitude,' Richard responds with a smile and a determined effort to get it right. He is dedicated, positive, hard working, a team player, and he faces adversity head on. As a result, I've always seen him come out a champion." Harvey is the son of Terry and Bobbi Harvey of Kitzmiller.

SHS STUDENT RECOGNIZED – Sophomore Doug Isinghood was chosen as the Perkins Random Acts of Maturity student of the Month for September at Southern High School. He was nominated by Spanish teacher Kim Sweitzer because of his thoughtfulness and the way he looks out for other students. "Doug shows amazing character traits. He is courteous and kind to everyone," said Sweitzer. "He is one of the few students I've seen take the initiative to anticipate the needs of others by holding doors, and helping wherever it is needed. He is a true joy to have in class and a wonderful young man." Isinghood is the son of Ron and Wendy Isinghood of Mtn. Lake Park. Assistant Principal Brooks Elliott, left, presented Isinghood, right, with a Perkin's gift certificate.

GOBA To Host Outdoor Holiday Decorating Contest

The Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) has announced it will sponsor an outdoor home decorating contest this holiday season.

"People always seem to go out of their way to decorate, so we felt a contest would be a good way to thank them for their efforts, and also encourage others to step up and share their good will," said Arlene Murray, GOBA's Main Street manager.

There will be a $5 entry fee, with the proceeds to benefit GOBA.

First prize will be a $100 gift certificate to Buds to Blooms. Second prize will be a $50 gift certificate to Decorator's Nook, and third prize will be a $25 gift certificate to the Book Mark'et.

"We are encouraging people to decorate early," Murray said.

Judging will take place on Dec. 4. The winners' names will be announced in The Republican newspaper. For more information, persons may call Murray at 301-616-2411 or via e-mail at gobamainstrect@hotmail.com.

KITZMILLER HEAD START READS – The Garrett County Community Action Committee Head Start class in Kitzmiller recently joined Super Bowl MVPs Peyton Manning and Eli Manning and Scholastic Book Clubs to help donate books to disadvantaged children. To participate, classrooms across the nation joined either Team Peyton or Team Eli and kept track of their progress using an oversized poster. Each classroom is required to read 100 books, and, in turn, the Mannings, Scholastic, and charity partners will put 1 million books into the hands of the neediest children. Since August, Kitzmiller Head Start children have read more than 100 books. Pictured in the front is Liberty Sweitzer. In the middle, left to right, are Mikaili Michaels, Cianna Rizer, Kierra Warnick, and Kaylee Baker. In the back are Jonas Paugh, Logan Harvey, and Alexia Wolf. Teacher Mark Rodeheaver reports that at last count, nationwide, Team Eli was beating Team Peyton, 783,115 books to 781,080. Kitzmiller Heard Start is one of several in Garrett County associated with Community Action. For more information, persons may call 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8304 (toll free).

SETBACK THERMOSTATS
by Dr. Thomas Sheahen

Q. I'm thinking of installing a "setback thermostat" in my house, to run the furnace less when nobody's home. But since the house just has to be heated up again when we come home, I don't see how it can save me very much money. What's the advantage?

A. How much you'll save with such a thermostat depends on the details of how you use it, that is, what temperature values the thermostat is set to at different times of day. It is possible to carry out calculations to find out what are the savings for any particular set of conditions. Then, you can add up all the different possibilities over a typical winter, and see what the grand total is. It's a lot of work to do that by hand, but there are computer programs that do it well.

All winter long, both day and night, heat is leaving your house through ceilings, walls, windows, and cracks around doors. There is always a thermal gradient from indoors to outdoors. The numerical value of that gradient is ΔT = [T (indoors) – T (outdoors)]. You get to choose T (indoors), but Mother Nature decides what T (outdoors) is going to be.

Fortunately, we have pretty good experience about T (outdoors) over a full season, and there are tables of values published by weather services that tell you what to expect. For all different regions of the country, the number of heating degree-days is the single characteristic of an entire winter that you need to know. Forecasts never get it exactly right, but over many months the temperature variations average out. The data is available on line for every ZIP code. Anyone who hopes to sell you insulation or storm windows knows how to find that number instantly.

No matter what the outdoor temperature is on any given day, the amount of heat exiting your home is proportional to ΔT. You can always decrease your heat loss by decreasing T (indoors). If you decrease it for only a few hours per day, still during that length of time the outflow of heat will decrease.

With a programmable setback thermostat, you decide way ahead of time what will make your home comfortable. Maybe on Monday through Friday you want it warm from 6 to 8 a.m., then cool most of the day with nobody home, warm again from 4 to 11 p.m., then slightly cool overnight. On the weekends when everyone is home, you want a pleasantly warm temperature all day long.

Once you make that decision and punch a bunch of buttons on the thermostat (guided by the internal software), the electronics will do the rest. To have the building comfortable when folks show up at 4 p.m., it will turn on the furnace at 3 p.m. And you can always override the entire thing, anytime there's a special day that doesn't match the standard plan (maybe you're sick and stay home from work).

Suppose you set the thermostat back from 70° F to 65° F for 6 hours at night, at a time when the outdoor temperature is 25° F. By changing ΔT from 45° to 40° F, the heat flow becomes 8/9 of what it might have been. The difference of 1/9 lasts for 1/4 of a day (6 hours), so the heat-flow savings is 1/36, roughly 3%.

What if you set it back from 70° F to 55° F in the daytime, when the outdoor temperature is 40° F and you're absent for 1/3 of the day? Repeat the equivalent math and you'll come out saving 1/6 of that day's heat flow. That begins to get your attention!

Of course, things are never that simple in real buildings. To begin with, when the setting changes downward, the furnace will go off and the house will "coast" for several hours, during which T (indoors) will be some intermediate value, so you'll get less than the full heat-flow saving. Moreover, the colder outdoor temperature at night makes ΔT greater, which means that more heat will leave per hour at night compared to the warmer daytime. And tomorrow will likely be different from today.

The importance of the heating degree-days index to smooth out over a winter becomes clear when you're considering an entire season instead of just one day. Imagine that the outdoor temperature was exactly 30° F all 24 hours for 120 consecutive days. With T (indoors) = 70 F, you'd have ΔT = 40° F constantly, and so the season would contain 120 x 40 = 4,800 heating degree-days. If you live in a place where the estimated winter has 5,000 heating degree-days, it means the average conditions are about like that. But real weather varies, and it's only an estimate.

Still, anytime you lower the indoor temperature, it decreases the outward heat flow a little. For the typical values that a homeowner might choose, a programmable setback thermostat will save several percent of heating costs; 5% savings could be worth over $50 per year.

Tri-State Concert Assn. Announces Rock 'n' Roll Series

ART IN THE PARK PROCEEDS PRESENTED – The Western Garrett County State Parks Volunteers Inc. and the Garrett County Arts Council held the 10th annual Art in the Park festival recently. The event combines music, arts and crafts, food, and naturalist programs for the enjoyment of visitors to the Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake State Park. WGCSPVI president Fred Schaich is shown presenting 50 percent of the proceeds to Arts Council executive director Karen Reckner. Money raised at the festival will benefit the design and construction of a tree canopy project adjacent to the Discovery Center, as well as the Arts Council Endowment Fund, which supports community art endeavors. Next year's Art in the Park will be held July 10–11.

The Tri-State Concert Association's Legends of 2010 Rock 'n' Roll Concert Series has been announced, along with some changes to the earlier announced line-up. It will be a five-show series, although a sixth show may be added if ticket sales are high, a spokesperson said.

The series will begin on Jan. 16, 2010, with the return of Matt Lewis and his Tribute to Elvis the King. Lewis's performance has been described as "electrifying" and is reportedly the top-requested show in the series.

The Bowser's Rock and Roll Party will come to Cumberland on Feb. 20. Featuring Jon Bauman, also known as "Bowser" of the music and stage show Sha Na Na, this variety show will feature songs of the 1950s and '60s, along with Bowser's humor.

The Contours, featuring Sylvester Potts and the Crystals, will take the stage on March 20. The Contours' signature hit "Do You Love Me?" was featured in the movie Dirty Dancing. The Crystals had many hits as well, including "Da Do Ron Ron."

Herman's Hermits starring Peter Noone will give a show on April 3. A household name in the mid 1960s, Noone and the Hermits charted with several hits, including "I'm Into Something Good" and "I'm Henry the Eighth."

The Unexpected Boys and their "Tribute to Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons" will be presented on Sept. 18. The Unexpected Boys are New York City actors and musicians. Their tribute show will include renditions of Valli's hits "Sherry," "Big Girls Don't Cry," and "Oh, What a Night."

All shows will be given at the Allegany High School auditorium. Showtime is 7:30 p.m., with doors opening at 6:30 p.m. All seats are reserved. For information and/or season tickets, persons may call 301-759-0580. Concert information is also available at www.tri-stateconcerts.com.

DANCERS CONTINUE TO EARN MEDALS – Local young ballroom dancers Victoria Miske and Benjamin Christophel, pictured, recently participated in a Collegiate Practice Competition held at Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, Pa. As it was a collegiate competition, the young pair competed in all three levels: Beginner Dance Level, equivalent to the NDCA (National Dance Council of America) Bronze Division in which they normally compete; the Intermediate Dance Level, equivalent to the NDCA Silver Division; and the Advanced Division, equivalent to the NDCA Gold Division. They took first place in both the cha-cha and rumba in the beginner division, and placed second in the intermediate division jive dance and the advanced division samba dance. Both dancers belong to the Art & Style Dance Team of Pittsburgh, Pa., and train locally under the direction of Jennifer Christophel (Benjamin's mother), Balanced Body Studio, Deep Creek Lake. Tori lives in Oakland and is a daughter of Curt and Rita Miske. Benjamin is the son of Daniel and Jennifer Christophel, Springs, Pa.

ity. The town council and I have lobbied for many years on this project for the safety of our citizens. We would like to also thank the county and its staff for its support in helping us obtain this grant."

Mayor Schlosnagle also stated that these funds are a valuable resource for Friendsville and will assist the town with the much-needed pedestrian bridge over Bear Creek along Rt. 53. This area of roadway is heavily traveled by those going to and from the Community Park, the Head Start/Senior Center and the apartment complex.

Garrett County Jail.

In other proceedings, David Richard Armstrong, 36, Kitzmiller, stood trial in the Circuit Court on Friday on charges of second degree assault and reckless endangerment.

"The victim in the case elected to assert her spousal privilege," the state's attorney said. "Therefore, with no other witnesses or evidence to support the charge, Armstrong was found not guilty."

Armstrong was arrested and charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in May after Antoinette Armstrong reported events that had occurred in April and May. The trial, held before Judge Sherbin, involved the events that were alleged to have occurred in April.

In an related case, Joseph Earl Kaczorowski, 62, Friendsville, pleaded guilty in Circuit Court on Friday to driving while impaired by alcohol.

Sherbin sentenced Kaczorowski to 60 days in the Garrett County Jail, which was suspended. He was placed on probation and assessed fines and costs totaling $625.

In July 2008, he was stopped by a Maryland State trooper who observed Kaczorowski's vehicle being driven across the center line on Sang Run Road. After making observations of Kaczorowski, including his inability to perform field sobriety tests, the trooper placed him under arrest.

LOCAL STUDENT GIVES RECITAL – Three Glenville State College students, including Kenny Noland of Mtn. Lake Park, performed in their junior recital on Monday in the Glenville Fine Arts Recital Hall. Noland, a senior music major with a concentration in instrumental performance (euphonium), is a member of Glenville's Pioneer Marching Band, concert band, concert choir, chamber singers, brass ensemble, and jazz band. Locally, he serves as drum major for the Garrett Highlands Pipes and Drums. The Southern High School graduate was part of the tuba/euphonium ensemble that represented Glenville at the International Tuba and Euphonium Conference in 2008, and will perform at the same conference in Tucson, Ariz., in 2010. Following his graduation next fall, Noland plans to pursue a graduate degree in music history. For Monday's recital, Noland performed a piece from Spring Suite by Barton Cummings and a "Sonata for Unaccompanied Trombone or Euphonium" by Fred Clinard.

THE LOVE OF THE NIGHTINGALE, a play by Timberlake Wertenbaker, is the next stage show slated at the West Virginia University Creative Arts Center, Morgantown, W.Va. The play will be presented Nov. 19 and 20 and Dec. 1-5 at 7:30 p.m., and at 2 p.m. on Dec. 6. It will be given in the Gladys G. Davis Theatre of the Creative Arts Center. For tickets, persons may call 304-293-SHOW (7469). An adaptation of the ancient Greek myth of Philomela, the play deals with an ancient myth, but is relevant to today's audience, a spokesperson said. "The play tells of the brutal rape of Philomela by her brother-in-law Tereus, and the sisterly love that enables Philomela and her sister Procne to enact their devastating revenge," the spokesperson said. "Philomela is silenced both physically and mentally by acts of violence that are carried out in the name of love. The responsibility of onlookers in tragedy is explored through a traditional chorus that commentates throughout the production. It is an explosive mixture of ethics, politics, and feminism."

PERFORMING ADMIRABLY for Northern's injured first-team quarterback Jake Bosley was sophomore Patrick Sines, pictured above carrying the ball for a gain against the Southern Ram defensive unit. Sines had to take the reins of the NHS offensive unit with just one week of practice, after Bosley was sidelined with a broken hand last week. Blocking for Sines in the photo is teammate Josh Mason (#5). Ram defenders pictured are Tyler Gregory (#41), Bryson Knox (#36), and Tyler Alt (#56). At far right is Northern's Tyler Opel. The play captured below sparked controversy, with the Husky fans believing there should have been an interference call against Southern's Brutus Scheffel (center), as he broke up a pass intended for Northern's Dylan Day, right. Going for the interception at left is Ram Bubba Scheffel. For more photos of this game, and of others, readers are invited to visit the web site www.therepublicannews.com and click on the blue button at the bottom of the page.

Huskies Hold On To Edge Rams, 14-12, In Turnover-Filled Game

In a football game filled with turnovers, the home-standing Huskies of Northern High School were able to hang on for a 14-12 victory over their county rivals, the Southern Rams, last Friday evening.

While the Rams hold an overall lead of 33-18-2 for the series between the county's two high schools, this was the eighth straight win for the Huskies, who finished their season with a 2-7 record. The Rams wrapped up their campaign with a 3-7 mark.

The Rams had an opportunity to win the game in the final moments, having forced Northern to punt with about two minutes to play. Southern took over on their own 35 and began to drive down the field. But on a third-down pass play, the ball was caught by Jeremy Sharpless at the Huskies' 20 for what would have been a first down, but a strong hit by Northern's Cody Rodeheaver knocked the ball loose, and Tyler Opel recovered for the Huskies to squelch the Rams' final threat and preserve the victory.

In all, the Rams fumbled five times and lost all five, while the Huskies coughed it up four times, losing it once. However, the Ram defense also picked off two passes by Northern's backup quarterback Patrick Sines.

Alex Baker, who finished with 172 yards rushing on 20 carries, put the first points on the board midway through the second period via a two-yard carry. The pass for the conversion was no good, and the score remained 6-0 until early in the third quarter.

Baker broke loose on a 22-yard touchdown run, scoring at the 10:41 mark of the third. The successful two-point conversion run by Dylan Day would prove to be the difference in the final score.

The fourth period belonged almost exclusively to the Rams, as they put a pair of touchdowns on the board.

Tyler Gregory took the ball into the end zone on a four-yard carry with 8:57 remaining in the game. The run for the conversion was stopped by the Husky defense.

The Rams' next possession featured another successful drive for a score, as well as some key passes completed by quarterback Bubba Scheffel. It was on fourth down that he connected with Jeremy Sharpless on a 21-yard touchdown pass, scored with 4:15 left.

However, what would have been the tying conversion failed when the Rams were called for offensive pass interference.

Bubba Scheffel went 9-for-14 in passing for the evening, and Brutus Scheffel led the team in rushing with 33 yards.

For the Huskies, Josh Mason added 47 yards on just five carries.

Excelling for the Huskies on defense were Adam Moranduzzo with 20 tackles, Mason with 16 tackles and a forced fumble, and Tyler Opel with a dozen tackles, including one sack, plus the key fumble recovery with 50 seconds left in the game.

"I would always rather win ugly than lose pretty," said Northern head coach Phil Carr. "Our defense played well most of the game, and of course came up with the huge stop in the final minute. But it certainly was nowhere near our best offensive effort of the season. We were given so many more chances to score and didn't finish. We were inside their 20 four other times and came away with no points.

"But some of that is certainly to the credit of Southern," he said. "They hung in there and didn't quit. Even with all of the mistakes, it was an exciting game. We were lucky to win it."

Carr acknowledged that the cause of some of the turnovers was because of how physically both teams played.

"It was a physical, hard-hitting game, just like it always is," he said.

"Our turnovers early in the game really hurt us," said Southern head coach Steve Savage. "We fumbled the ball away on our first two drives. But we were pleased with the fact that our kids didn't quit, fought back, and gave themselves a real chance to win the game. It was so different from last year, when our players just gave up."

Last year's contest ended in a 53-0 rout by the Huskies.

"With Bubba's pass to Jeremy (Sharpless) at their 20 with less than a minute to play, we were well within Brutus' field-goal range," Savage said. "But as Jeremy was trying so hard to get a couple extra yards, he got blindsided by Rodeheaver's big hit and lost the ball. But we missed on other earlier opportunities too."

While the 2009 season was frustrating for both local head coaches, both also pointed to a number of positive things for the future, as both squads are relatively young.

"We had three sophomores start in our backfield this past week," said Coach Carr. "Alex Baker is one of the best backs in the area. Patrick Sines filled in very well for Jake Bosley [broken hand] at quarterback, and they are both sophomores, as is Josh Mason. And we have a number of other players who will be back next year.

"We played everyone tough," he continued. "Plus, it's always nice to finish up with a win to give everyone a good attitude going into the weight room in January and then into next season," he said.

A positive change in attitude is something also noted by Coach Savage about an equally young Ram team.

"Team attitude was much improved this year," he said. "While our season was pretty frustrating at times, we were really just three scores away from being 6-4 instead of 3-7. That was the difference in our games against Hampshire, Tucker County, and Northern."

Most of Southern's players will be eligible to return next year, including the likes of Bubba Scheffel, Kody Sanders, Joe Kissclovich, Tyler Gregory and, it is hoped, Ryan Bennett, who sustained a serious ankle injury several weeks ago.

"Really, we are only losing Brutus Scheffel, Andrew Brenneman, and Jeremy Sharpless," said Savage, "so we are already looking forward to next year."

To My Clients, Friends, and Relatives,

As I am sure most of you have heard, I recently got arrested for drug possession. Months before my arrest, I had sought out help from my local physician and had started counseling. Nothing seemed to help and so I started researching rehab programs. I had hoped to be treated for this disease and in remission before this very private problem became public knowledge, but that's not how it happened.

I am reaching out to my clients, friends, and relatives in asking for their support as I go through this difficult time. I am sure some of you feel as if I have let you down and that you are disappointed in my poor judgement. Let me assure you that no one could be more disappointed than I am in myself. I ask only that you pray for my recovery so that I can return to work happy, but most of all healthy.

OZIAS NAMED LEAGUE MVP – For the second year in a row, a Division II Oakland Rams player was named the Most Valuable Player for the division in the Cumberland Youth Football League. Playing his 6th season in the Oakland Youth Football League, Coy Ozias received the honor this year after teammate Reese Haskell was selected MVP last season. "Coaches around the league told me every weekend that they had to change their offensive attacks to account for Coy," said Ram head coach Brian Cooper. "Coy was double-teamed all season long, and opposing offenses always tried to run away from his side of the line." Coy finished the season with 47 tackles, including 19 assists, seven tackles for a loss, five sacks, two fumble recoveries, and two interceptions. Coy's teammate Jordan Dixon was close behind with 44 tackles. As a running back on offense, Coy finished with 294 yards on 82 carries, one reception for 14 yards, two touchdowns, and three conversion runs. Coach Cooper noted his appreciation to his players for their hard work, their parents for their dedication to the game, and to his assistant coaches, Paul Harvey, Rodney Reckart, Jamie Ashby, and John Mayne. Pictured from left above are Coach Cooper, Coy Ozias, and Coach Paul Harvey.

Huskies Fall To Boonsboro, 2-1, In Semifinals; Finish Season 13-3

The Northern High School girls' soccer team fell short in its bid to advance to the 1A West Regional finals last Thursday at home in the semi-final matchup with Boonsboro. The Warriors won the game 2-1 from a direct free kick with 8:37 remaining in the game, putting a cap on the most productive attacking offense in Huskics' history.

The Huskies scored 109 goals on the season, while only giving up 20 for a plus 89 goal aggregate.

"Our athletes really had a great season," said head coach Jeff Graham. "The girls averaged 6.8 goals per game which is really a tribute to their willingness to play for each other."

Unfortunately, in last Thursday's game, Boonsboro made it tough for Northern to get on the scoreboard. Boonsboro grabbed the early lead at the 24:43 mark when Jen Sherdel slotted a pass to Jaclyn Fiola for the score from about 12 yards out in front of the goal.

Moments later, the game was halted for about 20 minutes when the field lights went out during an abrupt high-wind snow squall. After the unexpected intermission, the Huskies took the field with a purpose when junior striker Kaitlynn Fratz found some attacking space on the right from about eight yards out, and finished a high shot over the keeper's head from a tough angle at the 14:40 mark to bring the game even at 1-1.

"We knew at the half that we were in for a good battle down the stretch," said Coach Graham. "They really executed a good game plan against our girls by pressuring the ball and banging our scorers around with physical play in their defending half of the field."

The second half remained a scoreless battle until Boonsboro earned a direct free kick just outside the penalty area with 8:37 to play. The Warriors' Emily Horst finished the free kick attempt directly into the goal to earn the go-ahead score.

The Huskies stepped up the pressure, but couldn't seem to find the rhythm to get off a quality shot.

Boonsboro outshot Northern 5-3 and held a 6-3 edge on corner kicks. Northern goal keeper Brittany Mallow had three saves and Becky Smith had 2 for Boonsboro.

"We know what the playoffs are all about," said senior captain Adria Graham. "You bring all you have and sometimes you still don't come out on the winning side."

"The girls played extremely well, but just like in life, things don't always work out how we plan it," said Coach Graham. "I'm very proud of their season accomplishments and overall efforts."

Northern's Graham finishes her four-year career as varsity starter, guiding the Huskies to a 52-11-2 record. Along the way, she shattered virtually every area single-season and career scoring record. She holds the all-time area career scoring records for most goals scored at 112, most assists for 68, most points for 292, and points per game average of 4.49.

Graham also holds the single season records from her recent 2009 season with 24 assists, 96 points, and an average of six points per game. The only scoring record she doesn't own is the single season goals record which is held by Bishop Walsh's Lauren Zapfi from 1998 with 40 goals. Graham had 36 goals this season, but didn't have the opportunity to play in the same amount of total games that the private schools are allowed to play in a single season.

"That record is going to be a tough one to reach for the Maryland public school girls," said Coach Graham, "particularly when Adria came out of a lot of games early or was dropped back on the field often in her career due to scoring margins."

Graham will continue her soccer career next year as she has made a verbal commitment to play for the Lady Bobcats at Frostburg State University.

The Huskies will be graduating seven seniors including two key defensive players in team captains Kaitlyn Walker and Nikki Diehl. The Huskies will also lose defenders Britta Allen and Kayley Green, midfielder Tara Goff, goal keeper Brittany Mallow, and scoring leader Graham.

However, two of the top five goal scorers in the area will return with sophomore Sydney McFarland who had 19 goals and eight assists and Kaitlynn Fratz who had 33 goals and eight assists.

"Fratz and McFarland are super players who will continue to score lots of goals," said Coach Graham.

Coach Graham will also be leaving the team after six seasons. Graham spent the last two seasons as head coach, departing with a record of 26-6 for the varsity and a 23-8-6 record with the junior varsity.

"This team will be left in very good hands with great returning players and great coaches," indicated Coach Graham. "It has been an absolute joy devoting time and energy to these girls, watching them mature into young women and become successful adults with bright futures."

Scoring leaders were Shannon and Tiffany Warnick, who finished the 2009 campaign with 14 and 12 goals, respectively. Goalkeeper Kloey Werner concluded with 43 saves for the season. "Their hard work and dedication to the team is what made this team go undefeated," said Coach Brittany Milbourne. "They refused to lose. Every girl brought so much heart to the team. They have improved significantly, and I am excited to see what they will do in the coming years." Pictured from left, first row, are captain Ashley Murphy, goalkeeper Kloey Werner, and captain Madi Gallagher. Lakers Go 1-1 in Opening Tourney, Then Top Wesleyan

The men's basketball team of Garrett College opened its 2009-10 campaign by going 1-1 in the Rockingham Eagles Tip-Off Tournament in Wentworth, N.C., and then the Lakers upped their overall record to 2-1 last night by knocking off the West Virginia Wesleyan College junior varsity squad, 90-77, in Buckhannon.

In the weekend tournament, the Lakers opened with a 77-62 loss to highly touted Hargrave Military College on Saturday, and then rebounded Sunday to record a 100-90 victory over North Carolina Prep.

The Lakers trailed Hargrave by a dozen points at intermission of Saturday's game, 36-24, and were unable to close the gap in the second half of action. The young GC team did not perform well at the free-throw line, hitting less than 50% of the shots (10 of 21).

Shawn Greenfield led the Laker scoring effort with 21 points, but was the only member of his team who reached double figures. Mario Lloyde and Jordan Gipson each finished with eight points, while Chris Hilliard and Doma Ibrahim each netted seven.

Hargrave's L. Brown was the big gun of the contest, as he recorded a game-high 32 points, and was also the only member of his team to reach the double-figure level in scoring.

"They have six Division I recruits playing for them," said GC head coach Dennis Gibson. "It's a tough way to open your season, but it could pay dividends down the road, as we'll likely meet teams of this caliber later in our season. It was a good test for us. We played pretty well defensively, but did not capitalize on their mistakes."

While Saturday's game was relatively defensive, Sunday's clash with North Carolina Prep was far more of a run-and-gun affair, as five Lakers and four North Carolina team members each finished in double figures.

The Lakers held a modest four-point advantage at halftime, 44-40, but stretched their lead to as many as 15 points in the second half.

Jordan Gipson, a 6-4 wing, paced GC's scoring effort with 20 points. However, Greenfield added 17 points, seven assists, and three steals, despite missing 13 minutes of action in the second half because of foul trouble.

Howard Ferguson added 15 points, Chris Hilliard netted 14 and pulled down seven rebounds, and Dominique Goodwin recorded 11 points.

Just missing double figures was Doma Ibrahim, who scored nine points and also grabbed seven rebounds.

The scoring leaders for North Carolina Prep were David Franklin with 22 points and Lonnie Keilet with 20. Gaellen Bendaneanpau scored 15 points, and Kevin Flinin added 10.

"This was a very different style of play compared to what we faced on Saturday," Coach Gibson said. "It was run and shoot, with a lot of three-point attempts. I thought our guys did a good job in making the adjustment."

After holding a four-point lead, 41-37, at intermission of last night's game with the Wesleyan jayvees, the Lakers faltered early in the second half of action and found themselves trailing by seven points at about the 13:00 mark.

But Greenfield and Mario Lloyde sparked a rally that put the Lakers back on top for good. Greenfield finished with a game-high 20 points and also had five assists, while Lloyde came off the bench and scored 14 of his total of 17 points in the second half of action.

Also reaching double figures for Garrett were Joe Dubuche with 13 points, and Chris Hilliard and Doma Ibrahim each contributed 11 points. Ibrahim also pulled down six rebounds, and Lloyde recorded three steals.

Greenfield and Dubuche each hit four three-pointers.

"Their five-man spread offense gave us trouble, particularly because of our inexperience," Coach Gibson said. "But led by Greenfield and Lloyde, we came back as a team, played better defense, and started getting some offensive boards."

The Wesleyan jayvees were led in scoring by Pearson with 18 points, Feliciano with 17, Lantz and Schider each with 12, and Gray with 11.

The Lakers also had a much better night at the foul line, hitting 13 of 15 attempts.

The Lakers will make their home debut this weekend in their own annual Railey Realty Tournament, which will feature Garrett, Potomac State, Germantown, and Mercyhurst NE.

Germantown will face Potomac State in the opening game, which will tip off at 5 p.m. Saturday, and Garrett will take on Mercyhurst NE in the 7 p.m. clash.

In the classic format, the Lakers will play Sunday at 4 p.m. against Potomac State.

Garrett last played Mercyhurst NE in the 2006-07 Railey tourney, losing by one poin, 68 – 67.

"It will be nice to play at home," Gibson said, "but we have to be prepared for two very tough games. Teams are getting better each week as they learn how to play, and we have only three road games under our belts so far."

Gibson said that Potomac State has one of the better guards in the region in Jordan Brooks.

"I think they are much stronger than they were last season, so this will be a real test of our team," he said. "We are very inexperienced and it shows at times. Our guys have to play with more composure and toughness if we expect to win."

The Lakers are also slated to host Howard CC next Wednesday.

Black Bear Hunt Closes With 68 Bruins Harvested

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) announced the conclusion of the 2009 black bear hunting season. The season opened Monday, Oct. 26, in Garrett and Allegany counties and was officially closed Thursday, Oct. 29, at 9 p.m. with 68 bears reported to mandatory check stations.

"The 2009 bear hunt was an unqualified success," said Harry Spiker, game mammal section leader for DNR's Wildlife & Heritage Service. "Despite marginal weather conditions most of the week, our harvest range of 60-85 bears was met in four days. The hunt remains a safe, effective, well-regulated, and scientifically sound tool for sustainably managing our bear population."

Spiker added, "The new permit application preference point system proved effective this year. More than 3,600 hunters applied for one of the 240 available bear hunting permits and 81% of the permits were awarded to applicants with one or more preference points."

The average estimated live weight of the bears taken this year was 140 lbs. The largest bear of the season was a 409-pound male taken by Wayne Chenoweth of Westminster.

Of the 68 bears taken, 60 were shot in Garrett County and eight in Allegany County. Three quarters of them (74%) were taken on private land, and four were previously tagged and treated as nuisance bears.

More information about Maryland's black bears can be found online at www.DNR.MD.gov/Wildlife.

OUR FAMILY CHAIN

We little knew that morning
That God would call your name.
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
It broke our hearts to lose you,
But you did not go alone,
For part of us went with you
The day God called you home.
You left us beautiful memories,
Your love is still our guide,
And though we cannot see you,
You are always by our side.
Our family chain is broken
And nothing seems the same,
But as God calls us one by one,
The chain will link again.

In Loving Memory of
Jack W. Paugh
8/9/46 - 11/15/08

We love and miss you so very much,
Your loving wife, children, and grandchildren

DeReck Adam DeWitt
8/22/82 - 11/13/99

The time with you was all too brief, ten years have passed and we still grieve.

Always loving you,
MOM, Family & Friends

HEAVEN NEEDED MY SON

I close my eyes and see the past
But time with you went much too fast.
The way your arms would reach for me,
And how your childhood used to be.
You were my precious, loving son,
But Heaven must have needed one.
For angels came and took your hand
And led you to God's promised land.
I often long to see your face,
And none will ever take your place.
I also know you're in God's care,
And I will someday join you there.
And on that day we meet again,
I'll hear your laugh and see you grin.
I close my eyes and I can see –
A loving son who waits for me.

Please remember to be responsible with guns in honor of DeReck who lost his life to a gun accident.

Tickets Available For HART's New Year's Eve Fur Ball Gala

HART for Animals Inc.'s 2009 Fur Ball Gala will be held this year at the Elks B.P.O. Lodge, 100 Elk St. in Oakland on New Year's Eve from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m.

"Tickets were sold out two weeks before the event last year, so we suggest that people buy their tickets early," said Nina Tate-Elliott, event chairperson

Tickets can be purchased for $75 per person at Studio 24E in downtown Oakland or online at hartforanimals.org.

The Fur Ball is an annual fundraising event for HART. The term "fur ball" is used by many national and local animal organizations to describe an elegant party or ball designed to raise funds for the benefit of animals. HART will use its proceeds for an animal adoption center, to be constructed along Bumble Bee Road, McHenry.

"Last year's Fur Ball was a fantastic success," Tate-Elliot said. "We had a very diverse crowd that enjoyed dressing up to their personal level of casual elegance. They danced until the band went home and had a wonderful New Year's Eve celebration."

Included in the ticket price is music by 2nd Street, a 12-member band that plays rock, funk, rhythm and blues, pop, and soul from the 1960s through today; dinner catered by the Champions, followed by dancing; and the opportunity to try one's luck in a casino room and at the silent auction.

Additional details about the Fur Ball are available on HART's web site or by e-mailing furball@hartforanimals.org.

HART for Animals Inc. is a 501(c)(3) organization, established in Oakland in 2003 to rescue homeless animals in Garrett County.

notes lives lost there over the years. Without the ramp, Bittinger said another death may very well have been added to the list.

Garland had reportedly never traveled along Rt. 135 before Monday.

The escape ramp was built some years ago, and was a high-priority project of the late Roger Glotfelty Sr., a Garrett County commissioner who died while in office of leukemia. Glotfelty pushed the project at many state and county road-planning sessions, always expressing the dire need for the runaway ramp.

Former County Resident Attends Ramsey Program

Bob Wolf, with Keller Williams Realty Platinum Partners, a former Oakland resident, is among the top-performing realtors in the country who recently were invited to attend "Accelerate '09." The program of personal finance expert Dave Ramsey is designed to inspire and motivate real estate professionals to higher levels of customer service and achievements.

The two-day event was held in Nashville October 27 and 28. The realtors took part in a live broadcast of The Dave Ramsey Show, a Fox Business Network program that focuses on real estate topics. The invited participants are part of Ramsey's Endorsed Local Provider Program, which connects local realtors, brokers, CPAs, and health insurance agents with the general public.

Motorcycle Accident Sends Terra Alta Man To Hospital

Investigation revealed that Jamie Savage, 33, was traveling south on Rt. 219 just south of Sand Flat Road when a deer jumped into his path. He struck the deer and was ejected from the motorcycle. He was transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital for non-life threatening injuries and no charges were filed.

Ruth Enlow Library Collects 350 Used Cell Phones For Soldiers; Still Accepting

The Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County has collected more than 350 used cell phones since it joined the Cell Phones for Soldiers program in May of 2007. As an official cell phone collection center, the library sends the collected phones to Cell Phones for Soldiers, a 501c3 non-profit organization that recycles the phones for cash to purchase pre-paid calling cards or unlimited free video phone calls for service people overseas.

Lisa Pinter, circulation clerk at the Oakland library, pictured above, collects the phones and packages them for shipment.

"I want to thank everyone who has donated used phones and accessories, and I encourage the community to continue to drop off these items," Pinter said. "With our troops overseas and so far from loved ones, this program is one way in which we can support them. The free calls made possible through the proceeds enable families to stay in touch."

In addition to the main library in Oakland, all branches of Ruth Enlow are participating in the program, and the public may drop off cell phones at the circulation desk at any location during normal business hours. Any model or make of phone is accepted, as well as attached batteries and accessories.

For more information, persons may visit www.cellphonesforsoldiers.com, or call the Ruth Enlow Library at 301-334-3996. A listing of the library's programs and services can be found on the web site at www.relib.net.

LEARN WHY BARNS LIKE THIS WERE SPLIT during Fred Will's "The Pennsylvania Barn in Somerset County" presentation at the Folk Meeting House on Monday, Nov. 16, at 7:30 in Springs, Pa. He will present photos and stories of barns, including unique additions, construction, and "split" barns. "Some barns were split in two, pulled apart, and an addition inserted," explained a spokesperson for the Springs Historical Society, the program's sponsor. Pictured is a barn being split on the Glen Miller farm, located along Rt. 31 near Bakersville, Pa. Will's research includes 16 split barns that are known to exist in the county and is a continuation of the Barn Star project that he is conducting for the Somerset Historical Society. Since 2002, he has documented more than 200 barns and collected over 2,000 photos, according to the spokesperson. Will is a resident of Somerset, Pa., and serves on the Somerset Historical Society's board of directors. He has also demonstrated coopering at local festivals. Admission to his presentation is free and open to the public. The Folk Meeting House is located at 1711 Springs Road. YOUGH GLADES STUDENTS SHOW CARE FOR OTHERS – The students at Yough Glades Elementary School are currently focusing on the character trait of "caring," and with that theme in mind, the youngsters donated money all last week to be given to Warm the Children. Representatives of the program, which is operated by the Civic Club of Oakland and The Republican newspaper, attended two assemblies last Friday to accept the donations, which totaled almost $170, and to watch pep rallies focused on the caring theme. The students also created a bulletin board design to celebrate Warm the Children, as pictured above. They donated their money by putting it in the "doll" being held by the children, center. From left are Keith Harvey, principal; Betty Ellington, volunteer coordinator and Civic Club representative, and at right, Mary McEwen, the Warm the Children director at the newspaper. The children are representative of the student body, with all grades participating in the donation process last week.

Preston County Farm Service Agency Reports

Eric M. McCartney, County Executive Director
Preston County FSA Office
425 E. Main St., Suite 420, Kingwood, WV 26537-1793
304-329-1923

Matt Briggs, farm loan manager for USDA/Farm Service Agency (FSA) in White Hall, recently announced that the agency provided $16.8 million in direct and guaranteed loans to 395 family farmers in West Virginia during FY 2009. This has been a record-setting year for number of loans made and dollars lent. The White Hall office made a total of 52 loans totaling $1,352,890. The White Hall Office covers Marion, Taylor, Monongalia, and Preston counties.

This funding included over $1.18 million in direct loans for 64 Socially Disadvantaged (SDA) borrowers and $5.7 million in loans for 126 beginning farmers. For purposes of this program, socially disadvantaged groups include women, African Americans, American Indians, Alaskan Natives, Hispanics, Asian Americans, and Pacific Islanders. Beginning farmers include those who have farmed less than 10 years.

FSA makes loans to purchase and operate family-size farms. Loan funds can be used to finance livestock and farm equipment and cover annual operating expenses, as well as most other farm-related expense. Interest rates vary from 1.5% to 4.875% depending on loan type. Applicants must meet eligibility requirements which are outlined on the agency web site at www.fsa.usda.gov. Persons are invited to contact the local FSA office at 304-363-8861 to obtain information or to schedule an appointment with a loan officer.

Florists Tong, Mitchum To Be Guest Speakers At Garden Club Meeting

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club will meet at the Mountain State Brewing Co., located along Sang Run Road, for a Tuesday, Nov. 17, meeting, beginning at 10:30 a.m. Jim Tong and Jo Mitchum, pictured, from Jan Florist, Oakland, will present a program titled "Natural Arrangements for the Holidays."

The meeting is open to both men and women. Members will be called in advance and guests are asked to make lunch reservations by calling Ginni Neff at 301-334-7387.

Tong moved to Garrett County in 2000 after purchasing the Maxwell Cottage in Mountain Lake Park. Born in Illinois, his family moved to the West Coast during his high school years. In college, he majored in music and became a choir director at three churches in southern California. He is a past winner of the Golden Arrow Award of the Pasadena Beautiful Foundation, given for excellence in the beautification of the city of Pasadena, Calif., home of the Tournament of Roses. He owned a business specializing in parent/child playmovement and art classes in Los Angeles.

Tong became the owner of Jan Florist in mid-2007, now located along Second Street in Oakland, turning a favorite hobby, he said, into his own business. Other hobbies include interior decorating, traveling, cooking, and music. He sings with the choir at St. Mark's Lutheran Church and is a member of the Garrett Choral Society.

Jo Mitchum moved to Oakland in her teens with her family in the late 1980s to be closer to relatives. During her high school days she delivered flowers for a floral boutique.

She then moved away and worked at shops in Beckley, W.Va., Harrisburg, Pa., and Virginia Beach, Va. She and her children moved back to Garrett County in 1999. Mitchum has worked for Jan Florist since 2002 and has been the manager for the last 2½ years.

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club is a member of the National Garden Clubs Inc., the Central Atlantic Region, and the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland Inc. Affiliated clubs provide education, resources, and national networking opportunities for members, as well as promote gardening, floral design, and civic and environmental responsibility, a spokesperson said.

PLEDGING TO STOP VIOLENCE – Students at Southern Garrett High School took a pledge late last month to put a stop to dating violence. They first watched a video about a young girl who was murdered last April while in her freshman year at Gettysburg College. Her ex-boyfriend stands accused of the crime. More information about this story can be found at www.emilyfund.org. Students received dating pledge cards given to the school by Debbie Holler and the Dove Center, and signed the pledge wall pictured.

Military Family Support Group Notes Meeting

The next Military Family Support Group meeting is scheduled for Nov 18 at 6:30 p.m. at the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad building, located along Maryland Highway in Mtn. Lake Park.

The group is a volunteer organization that helps families meet the challenges of military life. Those with family or friends serving in any branch of the military are invited to attend.

"We involve the entire family, as well as people from the community," a spokesperson said. "Families get together through the group and share practical and emotional support."

The group encourages communication and also provides answers to common questions. Those in attendance are encouraged to express ideas and concerns.

"The group leaders understand military life and are a wonderful source of strength and comfort for the spouses and parents of the servicepersons," the spokesperson said.

Those interested in joining are asked to contact the group, provide the serviceperson's name, rank, and place of deployment. The military persons can be stationed within the United States or overseas.

The group wished to issue thanks to Sandy Tasker, representative from the Elks Lodge, for that organization's food donation given during the support group's food drive. The items were used to make care packages to be sent to local servicemen and women stationed overseas.

For more information, persons may call Sheila Shaffer at 301-616-6109 or Larry Schlossnagle at 301-746-5723, or visit the web site, located at www.supportlocalmilitary.com.

A DIFFERENT KIND OF INDEPENDENCE DAY – In Papua New Guinea, thousands of people come from all over the country to celebrate traditions and culture at the Goroka Sing-Sing, which is held each year for Independence Day. Traditional costumes are worn for the celebration. This event was one that Bittinger resident Rachel Stanton experienced first-hand during her 11-month term as a teacher in Papua New Guinea, which she completed in July of this year.

FAR AWAY FROM HOME – Bittinger resident Rachel Stanton is pictured above (far left in the back) in Papua New Guinea where she spent 11 months as a teacher. She returned to her home in July, but hopes to go back to teach for another three years beginning in January. The class photo was taken after a social studies lesson. Also pictured with the students in the back is Dimiko, a worker at the school who volunteered to help with the lesson by modeling a traditional costume. Rachel explained that the country is in a warm climate, and the only time that the children wear shoes is for school, since it is a requirement. Below, Rachel spends time in an area village with friends.

Rachel Stanton Takes The Road Less Traveled, And Hopes To Do It Again

by Brenda Ruggiero

Over the last several years, Bittinger resident Rachel Stanton, 24, has taken quite a few trips. At first glance, this may not seem unusual. But Rachel's trips were not the normal spring break variety often taken by people in her age group. Her trips involved volunteering for several weeks in other countries with Wycliffe, an organization involved in Bible translation.

For a home-schooled Garrett County farm girl, this is a far cry from business as usual. But the seeds were planted at a Wycliffe informational banquet she attended before she finished high school.

"I went from never conceptualizing leaving this place or having a life that was any different to thinking I would take a once-in-a-lifetime trip," Rachel said. "And once you get into a place like that, you realize how different your life is, and then I thought I could do it over the summer. As I became more involved, I saw that they really need people, and I felt called to help."

Her first trip was a three-week stint in Kenya in 2004. Next, she traveled to Malaysia for another three weeks in 2005, then back to Malaysia again for four weeks in 2007.

Last year, she traveled to Papua New Guinea in June and stayed until July of 2009.

"I had been going on the short-term missions, and those were for child care for mission children while their parents were in conferences," Rachel explained. "The more I was there, the more I realized that there was a lot of work, and that it was important work and they needed help.

"Then the last time I was in Malaysia, the parents figured out that I was getting my teaching degree, and they began the recruitment process because they really needed teachers in their schools. When I graduated, I didn't have a lot of debt, so I was able to actually commit for a year to volunteer and kind of test the waters, because it was a long way away. But it ended up being a really good thing."

In fact, Rachel hopes to return to Papua New Guinea to teach for a three-year stint beginning in January 2010. However, she must first raise the monetary support that is necessary.

"I do not get paid," she explained. "I will be living from the support of partners in the states. At this point, I still need to raise about 80%, but I'm just getting started. I have a long way to go, but it's possible. I have several church engagements set up, and I'm really hoping to make it back in January."

While in Papua New Guinea last year, Rachel lived on the Ukarumpa Center, which is the main center for Summer Institute of Linguistics (SIL), a sister organization to Wycliffe Bible Translators. The base was established by Wycliffe in the mid-1950s.

The center is near the Ukarumpa Village, and covers an area about two miles wide.

"On the center we had electricity (most of the time)," she explained. "They collect rainwater off the roof to drink, and they use river water for everything else. I think there's one TV station in the entire country, and I never lived in a place that had a TV, so people would just spend time with people. It's more people-oriented than we are here."

At the center, Rachel lived in a house with two apartments that had hardwood floors. However, she noted that in the nearby villages, most people live in grass huts with dirt floors. Some have electricity and some do not. People must have gardens to grow their own food.

While cell phones are popular in the center, reception is often an issue.

"I lived at the very top of the hill at one point, so on Saturday mornings when the rates were cheaper, I would put chairs out in my yard because everyone would come up to make their calls," she said.

The classes Rachel taught during her 11-month stay were composed of a wide variety of children.

"There were a few nationals, but mostly they were "expat" (expatriot, or outsider) children at an international school," she explained. "I had children from eight different countries who spoke six different languages, but their main language was English."

Rachel explained that all the students were children of parents involved in Bible translation. Some parents were actual translators, but others were involved in support roles such as pilots or nurses.

"They have the support personnel and then the actual translators," she said. "The needs they have are for support from teachers to pilots to medical personnel to managers. There are more than 800 languages in the country, and it's just a huge job to coordinate everything and figure out what's going on, and they really struggle a lot of the time to come up with people who have the skills to manage, to give direction and organize things."

Rachel noted that some of the translation work is done in the center because the technology is available to make things easier. However, many translators will spend a few weeks or months in villages, then come back to the center to work on inputting the information.

"They don't translate by themselves," she said. "They

Community Action Celebrates National Weatherization Day

Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. recently celebrated National Weatherization Day, which took place on Oct. 30. Members of Community Action's Weatherization Program, along with representatives from the state's Department of Housing and Community Development, recognized efforts made in the county to weatherize existing homes for those in need of assistance.

Sixty homes have benefitted from the infusion of American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) funds as modifications of such items as insulation, weatherstripping, and furnace repairs have been made over the past seven months.

ARRA funds have targeted weatherization improvements in an effort to put people back to work in "green" jobs and increase the energy efficiency of homes thereby saving money for the homeowner or tenant.

"We are very excited about being able to weatherize more homes this year, due to increased stimulus funds through ARRA," said Brenda Roszell, Community Action's Weatherization Program director. "The funds have helped create new jobs, and also provide work for local contractors who have received training through the Department of Energy to be able to weatherize homes."

The Weatherization Program improves the energy efficiency of homes thereby decreasing the amount of money families pay in heating and utility costs, she noted.

Garrett County residents Kenneth and Patsy Marple recently received weatherization assistance for their home from Community Action. Crews insulated their attic, worked on their furnace, sealed around windows, replaced the front door, and installed carbon monoxide detectors.

"The furnace doesn't run nearly as much as it used to," Patsy said. "The house is warmer, and we don't feel the drafts like we used to. The weatherization crew from Community Action couldn't have done a better job – they all knew exactly what to do."

Homeowners and renters alike may be eligible for weatherization assistance. Anyone interested in applying may contact Community Action at 301-533-9018, ext. 14.

Community Action is a private, nonprofit organization committed to improving the quality of life for people in need in Garrett County and increasing the number of families and individuals who are economically self-sufficient.

Grantsville Woman Sentenced To Three Years For Theft Charge

A Grantsville woman was found guilty by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert for charges of theft and fraud in recent Garrett County District Court proceedings.

Susan Elaine VanSickle, 57, was sentenced to three years for her charge of theft valued at $500-plus. Two years and six months of that sentence was suspended. She was also sentenced to three years of supervised probation and $257.50 in fines.

Maryland State Police were contacted in June by the security manager of M&T Bank in Grantsville, and were informed that an employee, later identified as VanSickle, had admitted to taking more than $38,000 over a 9-month period. She had allegedly forged documents to obtain the money.

VanSickle was not prosecuted on charges of forgery of private documents and issuing false documentation.

In an unrelated court hearing, Erica Lynn Robinette, 29, Oakland, was found guilty for a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) possession of marijuana charge, and was sentenced to one year with 11 months, 28 days suspended, 18 months of unsupervised probation, and $57.50 in fines.

Garrett County sheriff's officers and members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force executed a search and seizure warrant in May at Robinette's place of residence. A search of the residence revealed loose marijuana, a foil smoking pipe containing burnt marijuana residue, three bags containing marijuana, a set of digital scales, marijuana residue in an Altoids can, a cigar box containing a burnt marijuana roach, and a glass smoking pipe.

Robinette was not present at the time of the search and was later charged. She was not prosecuted on a CDS possession of paraphernalia charge.

In another district court proceeding, Joshua Lee Reckart, 22, Huttonsville, W.Va., was found guilty for two charges of theft valued at less than $100, and was sentenced to 90 days, with 30 days suspended for each charge, to be served concurrently, and fines were suspended.

It was reported that in January 2007, two separate complaints came in about a breaking and entering and burglary at two separate residences. Investigation revealed that Reckart and another adult had entered the residences and had taken various items. He was later charged and a warrant was issued for his arrest.

Reckart was not prosecuted on two charges of first-degree burglary, one charge of malicious destruction of property valued at $500-plus, and one charge of malicious destruction of property valued at less than $500.

Barbara Ann Reel, 34, Beverly, W.Va., was found guilty for theft valued at less than $100, and was sentenced to 90 days with 88 days suspended, 18 months of unsupervised probation, and $57.50 in fines.

Reel was charged in March after GCSO investigated an alleged theft at the local Family Dollar store in Oakland. Investigation revealed that she had fled on foot from the store with an employee following her, who had called the GCSO while in pursuit of Reel. Reel reportedly went in the Appalachian Crossroads building and entered the bathroom. Officers confronted her and searched the bathroom, finding a canvas bag and pills wrapped up in toilet tissue.

It was reported that Reel had taken items amounting to over $21 from the store and was also carrying Lorcet, a schedule III CDS. She was not prosecuted on charges of CDS possession not marijuana and CDS possession of paraphernalia.

Ronnie Ray Weimer, 43, Cumberland, was found guilty for a charge of telephone misuse by repeated calls, and was sentenced to 60 days with all being suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $157.50 in fines.

MSP responded to a complaint in August in regard to a harassment and telephone misuse. Investigation revealed that in the months of July and August, Weimer made repeated calls to a victim, and made threats of harmful action. He was not prosecuted on a charge of harassment as a course of conduct.

Matthew Evan Shaffer, 23, Springs, Pa., was found guilty for a charge of theft-scheme valued at less than $500, and was sentenced to 30 days, and fines were suspended.

Shaffer's charges stemmed from an investigation into three thefts that occurred in November and December 2008. Investigation revealed that he and another adult removed hardware items from Hardesty's Hardware in Grantsville. MSP reviewed surveillance tapes into order to identify Shaffer and the other adult. He was not prosecuted on three charges of theft valued at less than $100.

HEARING INSTRUMENT/CELL PHONE COMPATIBILITY

To address the problem of audio interference that hearing instrument wearers may experience when using cell phones, the FCC has required wireless phone manufacturers to product products with reduced radio frequency (RF) emissions. Cell phones with a passing grade of "good" or "excellent" are assigned hearing aid compatibility (HAC) ratings of M3 or M4. ("M" stands for "microphone.") The higher the "M" rating, the less expectation that a hearing instrument set in microphone mode will experience interference when the wearer is using a cell phone. As for cell phones that provide telecoil coupling capability, those with an HAC rating of "T3" or "T4" ("T" stands for "telecoil") perform best. Because ratings don't guarantee performance, consumers should "try before they buy."

Technology is constantly on the move toward innovative ideas and products to bring back the sounds of life to the hearing impaired. The cell phone/hearing instrument compatibility mentioned above is a perfect examples of this. If you think your hearing is not what it should be and could stand a boost, we invite you to AUDIBEL to see the many marvels that exist today in the hearing industry, all designed to enhance the hearing you have.

P.S. Hearing instrument manufacturers use a rating system that is similar to the one described above to let consumers know how well their hearing instruments work in the microphone or the telecoil mode.

WEPCO Federal Credit Union has announced its first Employee of Quarter, Lesa Upole. She has worked for WEPCO since September 2003, making this her sixth year of service to its members.

"Lesa is creative and enthusiastic and an asset to our branch," said Vicki Thayer, Oakland branch manager.

Upole has also been active in WEPCO's monthly promotions and has submitted several slogans, including one for a fall money market campaign, "More For Your Buck," and a Christmas loan campaign, "Dashing Through the Dough."

Upole has completed 12 BVS training courses since September. The courses are offered on a voluntary basis to all employees to educate them on such topics as "Improving Member Services" and "Fighting Fraud." She is currently working toward a certificate in Teller I.

Zion Lutheran Women Convene

Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America at Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting at the church last week.

The annual thank offering service was held, using the theme from Lutheran Women magazine, "A Litany for Thanksgiving." Two hymns were sung and the offering was dedicated. A table was decorated with candles and thank-offering envelopes.

The study for the day, "Hope does not Disappoint," was led by Leota Baker. It opened with a prayer for peace and the singing of a hymn. The lesson focused on Paul's writings emphasizing "why having been put right with God by Jesus' faithfulness changes lives forever."

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting. A thank-you note from Our Savior's Lutheran Church, Rocky Boy Indian Mission, for the gift of jackets and sweaters sent in October was shared.

A tribute to the memory of Richard Yommer was made through a gift offering from his wife Shirley. A portion of the offering was sent to Women of the ELCA/Churchwide, designated for Young Adults in Global Mission, and the remaining portion was placed in Zion's treasury.

The Christmas box of gifts for children at Our Savior's Lutheran Church at Box Elder, Mont., consisting of a wide variety of clothing items, has been sent. Offerings for November and December were sent to the synodical unit.

Veterans

On Veteran's Day, we honor our veterans for the sacrifices they have made in the name of our freedom. We remember their losses: of time with growing families, and of health, both physical and mental.

Veterans, many of whom still suffer the ill effects of their injuries, regularly offer volunteer support and inspiration for each other. Though, in 1 Corinthians 12:25-26, Paul speaks about the body of believers, our body of veterans share this connection as well..."that the members may have the same care for one another. If one member suffers, all suffer together; if one member is honored, all rejoice together."

As we worship during this time of reflection, let us pray for our veterans and offer them and their families our support.

Faithfulness

Faithfulness is the seventh quality which Paul lists as the fruit of the Spirit. (Galatians 5:22-23) Faithfulness is the translation of the Greek word "pistis," which can also be rendered as conviction or belief. Although it usually has the connotation of fidelity or loyalty, and applies particularly to someone who exhibits the virtue of reliability. A person who is faithful will be true to their faith, but will also be true to their friends and family. They will be someone whose word can be relied upon. Faithfulness is extremely important to maintaining good relations. True friends will strive to keep their word, and of course, families cannot function without everyone being faithful to each other. But, in addition to being faithful to others, we should also be faithful to ourselves. Being faithful to oneself entails being honest with oneself which is harder than it sounds. It also requires that you stick to your word when you have made a promise to yourself. There was a time when a gentleman could ensure that he would keep a promise to himself by simply saying to himself that he was honor bound to keep the promise. He would only break the promise to himself by simultaneously destroying his sense of honor, which no self-respecting gentleman would ever do. So we should be faithful, first and foremost to ourselves and faithfulness to others will follow naturally.

This above all: to thine own self be true, and it must follow, as the night the day, that thou canst not be false to any man.

Hives: Causes and Treatments

Urticaria, also known as hives, is a common condition of the skin characterized by a red, itchy rash. There are many different causes. Allergic reactions occur when a trigger, such as a food or insect bite, causes a reaction leading to histamine release. Insects that can cause a reaction leading to hives include hornets and fire ants. Certain foods, such as eggs and nuts, can cause an allergic reaction, typically within 30 minutes. Latex, soaps, and detergents also can lead to hives. Certain medications, including penicillins and sulfa-containing medications, can also result in allergic reactions.

Treatment of hives largely involves identifying and avoiding reaction triggers, such as a certain food or type of detergent. Antihistamines are used to control associated itching, which is a result of histamine release. Antihistamines are classified as histamine-1 (H1) receptor blockers and histamine-2 (H2) receptor blockers. Hydroxyzine and diphenhydramine are first generation H1 receptor blockers, and may cause drowsiness. Second generation H1 receptor blockers are more likely used for persons with hives lasting more than a few days. Loratadine and cetirizine are examples of second generation H1 receptor blockers. They tend to be less sedating than the H1 blockers.

'Diva' will sing again: Lifetime renews show

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Brooke Elliott

Q: My husband and I recently watched the season finale of "Drop Dead Diva." When will the show start up again? –Carol Guglielmino, Indiantown, Fla.

A: Prompted by promising ratings – and particularly good reviews for series star Brooke Elliott as the attorney reincarnation of a deceased model – Lifetime has ordered a second season of 13 episodes. The network is saying only that those will be shown in 2010, without attaching a firm premiere date yet. With that said, we'd bet on summer for them.

Q: The best new show last season was "The Unusuals." When will it be coming back? –Carl Gerling, Shoreline, Wash.

A: It won't be. About halfway through the show's run in the spring, ABC announced that it wasn't renewing the police comedy-drama series that starred Amber Tamblyn and Terry Kinney (who now appears on CBS' "The Mentalist").

Q: I heard about a year ago that a new version of "Hawaii Five-O" was in the works, but I haven't heard anything since. Could you please tell me the status? –Tom Merchand, Westminster, Colo.

A: The version you heard about, which would have been overseen by "Criminal Minds" creator and executive producer Edward Allen Bernero, didn't pan out. Nevertheless, there's cause for hope: CBS is making another run at the idea, with "CSI: NY" executive producer Peter Lenkov and "Fringe" (and "Transformers" and "Star Trek" update) talents Alex Kurtzman and Roberto Orci in charge.

Few other specifics about the "Five-O" reboot were known at this writing, but with original star Jack Lord now deceased, it would be very nice to see James MacArthur in at least a cameo as sidekick Danny "Danno" Williams.

Q: What happened to Chad Michael Murray and Hilarie Burton on "One Tree Hill"? –Gayle Dunseth, Fort Mohave, Ariz.

A: They drove off into the sunset, in more ways than one. That's how their newly married characters, Lucas and Peyton, were last seen in the sixth-season finale of the CW series last spring. In an amateur video he didn't record himself, Murray expressed his belief that he wasn't being brought back as a cost-saving measure, though Burton suggested in a print interview that money wasn't the issue – at least in her own case.

A new item has recently been added to the Hello Kitty line, but it is decidedly not for kids: The Super Hello Kitty Jewel doll is on the market for $150,000. To celebrate the 35th anniversary of the character, Sanrio (the maker of Hello Kitty), Swarovski (known for high-end crystals) and Japanese jewelry maker I.K. have created a 4-inch-tall Hello Kitty of platinum, and studded the doll with 1,939 pieces of white topaz, 403 pink sapphires, eyes of black spinel and a nose of citrine. The whole thing is topped off with a one-carat diamond on its hair ribbon.

• The onion is actually a member of the lily family.

• The next time you have a little bit of food stuck in your teeth, consider this: More Americans choke on toothpicks than on any other object.

• In La Paz, Bolivia, you can find one of the most unusual prisons in the world. At San Pedro Prison, inmates have to purchase their cells. Those who are well off financially can buy private cells with bathrooms, television and kitchens. Those who are less lucky must share tiny rooms.

IRS Seeks Owners Of Undeliverable Fed. Tax Refunds

The Internal Revenue Service is looking for 1,619 Maryland taxpayers whose federal income tax refund checks, totaling over $1.7 million, were returned to the IRS by the U.S. Postal Service because of mailing address errors.

"We want Marylanders to get this money as soon as possible," said Jim Dupree, IRS spokesman. "If you think you are missing a refund, please take a few minutes and visit IRS.gov online or call the toll-free IRS Refund Hotline. The web site is available 24/7 to help you get your check."

The taxpayer need only update his or her address once. The IRS will then send out all checks due. Undeliverable refund checks in Maryland average $1,086 this year, compared to $1,012 last year. Some taxpayers are due more than one cheek.

The vast majority of checks mailed out by the IRS each year reach their rightful owner, said Dupree. Only a small percent are returned by the U.S. Postal Service as undeliverable.

Taxpayers can update their addresses with the "Where's My Refund?" tool online at IRS.gov. The tool enables taxpayers to check the status of their refunds. A taxpayer must submit his or her social security number, filing status, and amount of refund shown on his/her 2008 return. The tool will provide the status of the refund and in some cases provide instructions on how to resolve delivery problems.

Taxpayers checking on a refund over the phone will be given instructions on how to update their addresses. Taxpayers can access a telephone version of "Where's My Refund?" by calling I-800-829-1954.

The IRS encourages taxpayers to choose direct deposit when they file their returns because it puts an end to lost, stolen, or undeliverable checks. Taxpayers can receive refunds directly into personal checking or savings accounts. Direct deposit is available for filers of both paper and electronic returns.

The IRS also encourages taxpayers to file their tax returns electronically because e-file eliminates the risk of lost paper returns. E-file also reduces errors on tax returns and speeds up refunds.

"E-file, coupled with direct deposit, is your best option; it's easy, fast, and secure," said Dupree.

always have a team of expat translators and the national translators who are working with them. The expats know how to do translation, and the nationals have the grasp of the language, so people have to work together."

Rachel explained that although Papua New Guinea is considered a Christian country, the people depend on whatever the pastor is saying, because there is currently no Bible for them to learn from.

"I just think of my walk as a Christian, and what it would be like if I couldn't look things up in the Bible," she said. "It makes a difference in giving people an opportunity to learn how to read and to go to school. I really appreciate working in a place where I can see changes happening... changes for the good and changes that people are looking for and hoping for.

"I want to be a part of it in any way I can. I can't translate, but I can teach those kids, and it's a needed thing, because those families would not be there if their children didn't have a place to go to school and get an education at a level that will allow them to go back to their home countries and go to college."

Rachel explained that she made a lot of good friends during her stay, and she was well-received. The people of the country appreciate the work that Wycliffe is doing there.

Soon after she arrived in Papua New Guinea for her 11-month stay, Rachel's resolve was tested in a way she hadn't expected. Her parents, Joe and Mary Stanton, were seriously injured in a motorcycle accident.

"I was there two weeks, and on my second day of teaching I had gotten up early because I wanted to go over lessons and those kinds of things," she said. "I will never forget sitting there and trying to make sense of an e-mail from my sister Holly. I was shaking and waiting for the ladies who lived next door to wake up, and it was not a good day."

The e-mail explained that her parents were in the trauma center, but they were going to make it.

First, Rachel had to figure out how to make an international call home. Once she was reassured that everyone was doing all right, her next decision was whether or not she would return home. However, when everyone realized how much help the family had from the community, it was decided that Raehel would remain where she was.

"Everyone was so helpful with everything," Raehel's mother Mary said. "There were 45 people here the first night to help with barn work, and they had a hard time finding jobs for all of them. I know if she was home, Rachel would have helped all she could. She would have come right away if we had asked her, but we just felt that God was saying that she was where she was supposed to be."

Rachel noted that she didn't actually comprehend the severity of the accident until she got back home almost a year later.

"I don't think I realized until I got back here that people had said goodbye," she said. "I missed that part completely. I knew that things were really bad, but when I finally talked to my sister in person, she told me that she said goodbye to them before they got into the helicopter."

The Stantons have recovered from their injuries well, although things are not exactly the same as they used to be.

"That's okay," Mary said. "It's a new normal. You just get used to it and you're thankful for what you have. I'm thankful that I'm alive."

At 24, Rachel has chosen a very different path than many of her peers, but she continues because she feels that she is filling a need.

"At that very first Wycliffe banquet, I remember thinking that they need people to help, and why couldn't I do that?," she said. "And once you get there, the way you look at the world is different. The way that we live here in this house and this family, I would never have considered myself rich.

"But (that changes) when you go and your best friends live in a one-room hut made of out of grass with a dirt floor, and it's a good day if they have enough to eat for everyone to feel full. It changes your perspective of what life should be and what life is. I really enjoy it, and I feel called to help out in a way that I can."

Garrett College Awards Presidential, Academic Achievement Scholarships

Garrett College began a new merit-based scholarship program for academically successful students this year. The Presidential and Academic Achievement scholarships are competitive scholarships designed to recognize a select group of students who have achieved exceptional high school grade point averages and SAT/ACT scores.

The Presidential Scholarship is the most highly regarded merit-based scholarship offered at Garrett. Maryland students can apply for this scholarship if they have earned an overall academic grade point average of 3.5 or higher and have a minimum ACT score of 22 or SAT score of 1010. Presidential Scholarship recipients must maintain a 3.0 grade point average while attending Garrett.

The Academic Achievement Scholarship is Garrett's second merit-based scholarship. This scholarship is for Maryland students who have earned an overall grade point average of 3.0 or higher and a minimum ACT score of 20 or SAT score of 930. Academic Achievement Scholarship recipients must maintain a 2.5 grade point average while attending Garrett.

Correction Noted

An article in last week's GC News Beat about career and transfer services misquoted Ms. Judy Carbone. The quote misstated that a student receiving the Bucknell Community College Scholarship could attain an education at Bucknell University at no cost to him/her. The Bucknell Community College Scholarship guarantees only the cost of tuition; the remainder of educational costs, including room, board, books, supplies, medical insurance, and other educational expenses, are not guaranteed.

Bucknell Rep To Visit GC, Explain Scholars Program

Students who are interested in earning a bachelor's degree from Bucknell University, rated one of the top liberal arts colleges in the country, may want to consider the Bucknell Community College Scholars Program through Garrett College.

The program is a way for high-achieving, low-to-moderate income, community college students to experience academic and residential life at a four-year liberal arts college. Qualifying students attend a summer program. Then, after earning their associate's degree, scholars can enroll, receive need-based financial aid, and earn a bachelor's degree at Bucknell University, which is located in Lewisburg, Pa.

Mark Davies, vice president for enrollment management at Bucknell, will be on the Garrett College campus for an informational meeting next Wednesday, Nov. 18, from noon to 1 p.m. Interested students, including high school seniors, who think they may qualify and would like more information are invited to attend the meeting, which will be held in Room 511 of the Garrett College Learning Resource Center.

Parents of interested students are also invited to attend. Students who are unable to make the meeting, but would like to discuss the program with a representative at Garrett College may contact Phil Rivera at 301-387-3077 or Dana Shimrock at 301-387-3003.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

It was lovely to have my extended family come to my house for once for a family celebration instead of my struggling in and out of Rodney or Carol's house. It included my local brother and sister and their families, my nephews Robby Glotfelty and Matthew Bass, and my niece Emma Bass. We celebrated double birthdays, mine is Nov. 6, and Carol's husband Kevin Bass' is Nov. 7. Bee Buckel, widow of Max Buckel, and a couple of sisters of Bee will have their birthdays next week.

The late Ferne Beachy's was Nov. 11, Veterans Day, or the day that World War I ended. Her younger sister Beulah Moon will also celebrate her birthday in November. My Aunt Dorothy Quaintance's is exactly one week after mine, Nov. 13.

I am having some phone trouble. My house phones will not hold a decent charge. And I'm not sure what the problem is with my new cell phone. Even though I am sure it is fully charged, it won't call out. I need maybe a dozen phones, so at least one will work. I can't call anyone to get some help with the phones, plus I need to get some details and more local news.

My cousin Nadine was very eager to get high-speed Internet here so she can have a part-time business as a web site designer. I am very behind just about everyone as far as computer skills. I used a decent word processor while I was a full-time reporter for The Republican and when I was working at the college. But it wouldn't be as simple for me now, because I can't type with two hands. It's hard to tell how much typing with one finger would drive me crazy.

I never did e-mail or search for information. I want to try to track down some long-lost friends, but it will be a major challenge for me to get fully computer literate.

Even televisions are not very cooperative for me. This sad technology challenge happens to also plague my second cousin, Cindy Stanton. Early this week, I tried to get the World Series game on my bedroom TV. No luck. Who can I call for help after dark? Of course, these days, that is 6 p.m. I decided on Cindy Stanton, my oldest friend (not oldest in age, but we spent our girlhood together mounted on horses – her on Tony and me on Misty).

Somehow, we were able to get the game on the TV! She said, "We did it!" She sometimes has to call Sam to turn her television on or off. Her solution is to just push various buttons until something positive happens.

I enjoyed the day after my birthday watching some of the best horse racing I ever saw. It is Breeder's Cup week, an event in California that attracts all the best racers from many nations. The biggest race is the Classic.

This year was unusually heavy with talented runners. Everyone was projecting that Zenya, a 5-year-old mare, was entering this long, hard race against the best male horses, including this year's Kentucky Derby winner. And the betting public made her the favorite, since her rec-ord seemed to suggest that she is a likely winner. She was undefeated in 14 races. She is at least as big as her male competitors; in fact, bigger than many of them.

She is very similar to another big beautiful filly, Rachel Alexandra, winner of the Preakness, the second race in the Triple Crown series. That would be a great matched race. If she belonged to me, I would retire her and breed her to a stallion, probably the race horse version of "The Great One."

I had a pretty good birthday, except that it was one day after the mass shooting at Fort Hood. It was not quite as horrid as Sept. 11, the wrecked birthday of Cyndi Kolbe. But as I watched it play out on live television, it was an event that provoked deep thought about some very serious issues. A lot about it didn't make any sense, and the way the story changed over a few hours struck me as a little fishy.

The first report of the massacre said that multiple shooters were on the loose in Fort Hood. They said a large SWAT team was surrounding the P.C., the place where military families shop. They reported some gunshot sounds from the P.C. Then they reported two civilian casualties, a woman and a child. But that was the last I heard of them.

Suddenly, the scene of interest was not the P.C., but a staging building where soldiers are processed prior to shipping out to Afghanistan.

Suddenly, it was one shooter in the staging building, and he was dead, but quite a bit after that, I heard more gun shots on television. There was no more mention of a second shooter. I heard one news commentator say that he heard those two extra shots also. Another item that disappeared after the first mention was an early report that said that the shooter was armed with handguns and an automatic rifle.

Then they started to roll out a picture of the shooter. Some parts were exactly what you expected. The first identified him as a 40-year-old major in the Army's medical branch with an "Arab-type" name. Not exactly what everyone was expecting. A more likely suspect would be a young combat veteran of several deployments with classic post-traumatic stress disorder who couldn't face another couple years in the hell that Afghanistan now is.

I feel like either there is some false information, or something is missing. Why did those many early "facts" prove to have nothing to do with the true situation? I got an impression of a staged drama. But what end is that drama serving? Perhaps the answers to my questions will be revealed as the investigation goes further. Maybe it is just an entire act before the real big story plays out. I hope I am mistaken.

I am not surprised to hear that the shooter was a Virginia Tech alumna. The same kinds of guns were used at both Virginia Tech and Fort Hood. I was a bit surprised that the shooter did not buy his arms in Virginia. But that might have involved some airport screening if he flew to Texas. It would be much safer to buy it close to the scene of the crime. The shooter at Virginia Tech also bought his gun locally, and no one raised an eyebrow at either purchase.

But either way. Virginia and Texas are among the easiest places to buy deadly weapons.

If you are among the many Americans who cherish the Second Amendment above everything else in the Constitution, I am afraid you are part of the problem. Why is your right to bear arms more important than the lives of fellow Americans? What is the major number of the victims of mass murders? We are not that far away from 100.

I spent too much time on my birthday trying to make sense of it.

Thank goodness Meredith arrived at my house that afternoon. And Claire always runs in and out between work shifts. That was the most important thing I wanted for my birthday – to have all my girls under my roof together. That did not come true until Saturday when she showed up unexpectedly. The first thing I did was show her my favorite birthday present, a hardback copy of The Great One. It is the biography of number 21, Roberto Clemente. I could have used it when I

Lessons from a Bear Market

If you invest for many years, you'll eventually encounter both bull and bear markets. Although most of us prefer seeing the bull - - and when it's "hibernating," you can put these lessons to good use in making investment moves for the future.

Here are some of the key "bear market lessons" to consider.

• Purchase quality investments. A bear market tends to drag everything down with it. But quality investments — those with strong fundamentals and good prospects — have the potential to bounce back quickly once the bear market ends. That's why you'll want to consider owning these quality vehicles in all investments today that you wouldn't want to own in a bear market tomorrow.

• Maintain realistic expectations. Many investors look back fondly at the mid-to late 1990s, when we frequently experienced double-digit stock market returns. Unfortunately, these results "raised the bar" in terms of what investors expect — and these elevated expectations led to problems for people whose long-term financial goals were based on overly optimistic projections. By anticipating more modest returns, you'll be able to set more realistic, achievable goals. At the same time, don't be surprised at the recurrence of bear markets, which are a normal part of the investing process.

• Know your risk tolerance. If you find yourself losing sleep over the fate of your investments in the middle of a bear market, you may need to review your risk tolerance and adjust your portfolio accordingly. But keep things in perspective. Instead of fretting over daily or monthly downturns, ask yourself this:
How much can I afford to lose and Still meet my financial goals, such as achieving a comfortable retirement?" You'll come up with different answers at different stages of your life.

• Base investment decisions on principles - not predictions. Everybody can make investment predictions - - and they usually do. But many of these prognosticators have poor track records. In stead of acting on predictions, base your investment decisions on principles, such as buying quality investments, maintaining a long-term perspective and diversifying your portfolio. While diversification can't guarantee a profit or protect against loss, it can help to reduce risk when the market is volatile.

• Maintain adequate liquidity. If you are planning to sell a long-term investment to pay for a major expense, such as a down payment on a home or college tuition for a child, you could run into difficulty if a bear market is raging and the value of your investments has dropped. To avoid this problem, consider maintaining a portion of your portfolio in liquid investments. Although these vehicles won't provide you with high returns, they offer greater preservation of principal—which is just what you need when you need the money now.

• Look for good investment opportunities. During a bear market, you can almost always find quality investments. While their prices may be down, these investments can still offer good growth potential — and typically, the best time to buy them is when their value is down.

• By following these lessons, you can prepare yourself for a bear market — and help avoid getting "clawed" by it.

wrote "Notes from Bittinger" two weeks ago.

The statistics give him the right to be called the Great One. It's possible that he was the finest all-around athlete who ever played major league baseball. But the numbers do not tell the true story of Clemente. That is found in the content of his character.

He put everything he had into his goal to play major league baseball. When he was a young boy in the ghetto in Puerto Rico, he madc balls by smashing and crumpling tin cans, and he endlessly threw them up into the air or against a wall. He started in Puerto Rico in a slow-pitch softball league, then worked up the ladders of the league until he was able to use his awesome skill as an outfielder in the Winter League. There he got attention from someone in the Major Leagues in America who was very eager to recruit talented players after Jackie Robinson broke the color barrier.

They arranged a tryout in the states to allow many team scouts to check him out. The first offer was from the Yankees, offering more money than he ever dreamed about. But thank goodness he waited until the right offer came along, and it happened to be from Pittsburgh. That decision changed sports history, now lauding him as the biggest sports hero ever in Pittsburgh.

The tradition of the Pittsburgh City of Champions began with the 1960 World Series victory over the Yankees. Within a decade, the role of champions spread to the football field and the ice rink of the Penguins. Baseball, football, and hockey in Pittsburgh had quite a few major-star athletes.

Another critical question is, what do we do about Afghanistan? Make an example to all Islam extremists? Is the human cost of continuing our engagement there worth it? How long should we stay there? But the tough question is this: Is the government there fit to be propped up by American armed forces?

The brother of the president of Afghanistan is a major player in the high stakes, dangerous world of producing heroin.

There is almost no one left in Afghanistan. We don't need more troops, we need a global network of anti-terror squads.

I believe even more dangerous than bombs or bullets is the danger of heroin. I hear the natives are making a major effort to get our service personnel addicted to heroin, which is what happened in Vietnam.

Rodney introduced me to a strange new world, that of Poker. But it turned out a leading guy in the nation is from Garrett County, Darvin Moon of Bethlehem Road, just an ordinary Garrett County logger. Apparently, he already won more than a million dollars! And the total will be much more.

Most competitors are fulltime professional poker players, a career I never encountered before. But I hope he will not join the tour. He is much better off to stick with our beautiful woods. And he probably already has more money than he needs for the rest of his life. He started among 6,400 players at the beginning, then he emerged as the holder of the most chips.

He happened to wear a New Orleans Saints cap just because he liked the symbol on it. But believe it or not, top players sometimes get paid a good bit of money to wear such attire. If he continues to wear the Saints hat, maybe they will pay him a nice chunk of change and give him more Saints tickets than he could ever use. I know absolutely nothing about the Saints, but I do think they probably are a morale booster for that troubled city.

Now it is no doubt that we had a killing frost just last week, if not before.

I think perhaps this lovely Saturday qualifies as Indian Summer. But once the sun set at about 6:30, the warmth disappeared. Maybe today, Sunday, it will reappear. It is sunny this morning.

It is kind of stressful to be in this change period between seasons. It is hard enough to adjust to the shorter day. But when we add the confusion of turning our clocks back to Standard Time, it just makes it even harder.

I am pretty much a person who goes with the sun. When the sun sets, I'm pretty much ready for bed. And most times, I awake when the sun rises. Now that means that I'm ready to go to bed at about 7 p.m. and get up around 5 a.m. But when you take into consideration my bladder clock, I wake up before I get 8 hours of sleep. But maybe I will get used to it.

One thing about winter is that it is a little brighter because of the sun reflecting off the snow. Of course, a blizzard is not very bright. But right now, the weather is pretty much the kind I associate with my birthday.

I lost track of time, but luckily I remembered just in time that this is Monday, and this week that means that Monday Night Football is featuring the Steelers and the Denver Broncos. I would hate to miss a single game on their march to another Super Bowl.

I am pleased to hear that the Steelers have a passing game more than ever before. A little part is that Hines Ward is healthy even at 33.

Nadine had to stay late in Cumberland because of a special meeting at the church she is working at. I am supposed to let Daisy out in the early afternoon, but I can't make her come downstairs when she prefers to stay upstairs when Nadine is not here. When someone drops by my house, Daisy barks like crazy, but she generally is very friendly, except she is somewhat suspicious of Rodney. Today when he dropped over it was late afternoon, and still no Daisy, so he went up and tried to coax her down with no luck. In fact, she growled at him when he approached her. She was happy to see her mistress this evening.

It's a good thing that I did not forget this game, because it's among the best games I have seen for a long time. In the first half, both teams' defenses scored a touchdown. But finally, the Steelers were able to put together an effective offensive sequence. Roethlisberger was able to pass to all his receivers, both oldtimers and two at the beginning of their careers. One, Santonio Holmes, was last year's Super Bowl MVP.

Then there is our major error-prone quarterback, Big Ben. But you can't deny his two Super Bowl rings. This evening, he was intercepted twice, both leading to touchdowns for the Broncos. However, so far he did not get sacked. Earlier in this season his major flaw was getting sacked. But now it looks like he regained his cool composure.

One thing that you can depend on in every game is that Troy Polamalu will have an impossible, important play. Tonight he had a couple of great tackles and he snagged a Denver pass that led to a Steeler touchdown. There is little doubt what the final result in this game will be, and it is already 11:30 p.m.

Even though it is only halfway through the season, games already have playoff impact, including this one. And next Sunday, the Steelers will play Cincinnati for the American League Division lead. I'm pretty confident that the Steelers will be a power to be reckoned with. There were 21,000 Steeler fans at Denver tonight.

DONATES LOTS OF LOCKS – Dallas Hetrick recently donated more than 20 inches of her hair to Locks of Love. The nonprofit organization provides hairpieces to financially disadvantaged children in the United States and Canada under age 18 experiencing long-term medical hair loss from any diagnosis. A FIRE PREVENTION LESSON was recently presented to students at Route 40 Elementary School. Members of the Eastern Garrett Volunteer Fire Department visited the school and presented information focusing on EDITH (Exit Drills In The Home). In Loving Memory of

Josephine Hinebaugh

May 5, 1916 - Nov. 19, 2008

Our dear sweet Mother, Grandmother, & Great Grandmother has been gone one year.

When we think of her, we still shed a few tears. She was beautiful both inside and out, and we all loved her a lot. It was hard to watch her suffer so. We knew that she just had to go. We all said our final goodbye as she quietly went to be with her Heavenly Father in the sky. We know she is not alone in her Heavenly home and someday we will meet again. Fond memories will be close to our hearts until then.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the 12th year, The Republican newspaper and the Civic Club of Oakland are asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is the WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM?

The Civic Club and The Republican's WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM is basically neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds are being used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administers the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special corps of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Members of the Civic Club of Oakland are taking the families shopping at Wal-Mart. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, long johns, jeans, boots, pajamas, or other needed winter items, spending up to $125 per child.

The Civic Club of Oakland is again heading up the volunteer/shopping coordination. Many volunteers are working together to make sure the children of Garrett County stay warm this winter.

GFWC Civic Club of Oakland

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax-deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children.

Donations should be postmarked by December 5, 2009. Those collected after December 5 will be saved for next year's campaign.

Medical Coding Classes Offered By Garrett Coll.

Garrett College's Northern Outreach Center, Grantsville, will host eight sequential courses in the field of medical coding beginning Jan. 25, 2010. The classes to be held are "Medical Terminology," "Introduction to Anatomy and Physiology," "Medical Coding Specialist I and II," "Medical Insurance Billing," "Introduction to Pharmacology," "Study of Disease Process-Pathophysiology" and "Medical Coding Advanced."

The series will prepare participants for the medical coding national certification exam and an entry-level position as a medical coding specialist.

"There's never been a better time to get into the health care field," said Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center director. "With an aging population and an emphasis on preventive care, skilled health professionals are topping the list of fast-growing careers."

According to the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics, the demand for medical coders is projected to grow faster than the average for all occupations through 2010, and a shortage of coders is putting upward pressure on salaries of medical coders.

"Correct coding is an indispensable element in the financial security of all medical practices," said Beachy. "Medical coders are vital members of the health care team. They are responsible for accurately coding diagnoses, procedures, and supplies for each patient seen in the health care system. These codes are then forwarded to the insurance companies or third-party payers and are the basis for reimbursement."

Coding professionals work in a multitude of settings throughout the health care industry, including hospitals, physicians' offices and clinics, long-term care facilities, insurance companies, government agencies, home-care providers, or anywhere medical procedures are performed.

People who are new to the field or are re-entering it should first take "Medical Terminology." The course includes an analysis of medical terminology designed to give a clear understanding of medical terms on the basis of roots, prefixes, suffixes, and derivatives.

The class will be held Jan. 25–March 1 on Mondays and Wednesdays from 6 to 9:15 p.m. There will also be a class held on Saturday, Feb. 20, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The next course in the series is "Introduction to Anatomy and Physiology." This course gives an introduction to structure and function of the human body by systems and on the cellular level. The class will be held March 8 through April 7, Mondays and Wednesdays from 6 to 9:15 p.m.

The third course is "Medical Coding Specialist I." This course provides a basic introduction to ICD (international classification of diseases) and CPT-4 (current procedural terminology) coding. Topics will include a CPT overview, review of conventions used in ICD and fundamental coding guidelines.

The class will be held April 10 through May 15, Saturdays, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The fourth course, "Medical Coding Specialist II," addresses additional diagnostic and procedural coding and is designed to broaden coding knowledge and enhance coding skills by covering a variety of medical specialties and coding issues encountered in the health care office.

The class meets May 18 through July 8, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6 to 9:15 p.m.

After completion of these four courses, the student can choose to broaden his or her knowledge and expertise by taking the subsequent four courses the following semester. Dates and times for these courses will be released in the near future.

For additional information about these courses, persons may contact Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center director, at 301-895-4700 or terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

To register for these courses, one may call 301-387-3069.

KNOW YOUR OPTIONS

If any of your friends or family have recently applied for a home loan, you've probably heard that lenders are nervous, with tough new rules and demands for stacks of paperwork. Good mortgages are still out there, but you should be prepared before applying.

First, understand how your credit score impacts the interest rate charged on your loan. If your score is 720 or higher on the scale of 850, you will qualify for the best rates. If it's between 700 and 719, you could expect 0.375% added to that rate, while a score between 680 and 699 might add 0.5%.

Next, determine how much you have available for down payment, and how that will affect your loan's terms. A "conforming loan" (that would be purchased by Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac) will require a minimum 10% down payment.

However, if you don't have that much to put down, you can investigate a Federal Housing Administration (FHA) or Veterans Administration (VA) loan. These government-backed loans are targeted towards those with lower credit scores and only require a 3.5% down payment.

You can even use this year's First Time Homebuyer Tax Credit to help pay closing costs, buy down the interest rate, or add to your minimum down payment. Just have employment, banking and tax records organized, and be patient while overworked lenders review your application.

GC Commissioners' Monthly Summary

Garrett County Board of County Commissioners' (board) report for October 2009

Department of Economic Development

a) Final FY 2009 budget amendment designations to be included in the fiscal year audit and carried over to fiscal year 2010. The board approved all amendments.

b) Hoyes Run Watershed Stream Restoration Project. The board had previously approved support for the project and staff presented conditions of grant funding and grant administration oversight.

c) The board met with the Department of Financial Services to review budgetary and financial matters. A financial forecast of reductions in funding, available sources of revenue, other potential budget amendments, and net funding surplus was reviewed. The board also decided to amend approved funding for FY 2010 that would have directed a 3% one-time cost of living adjustment to all eligible non-union employees. It was decided to approve a comprehensive $750 cost-of-living adjustment and consider distributing the remainder of the originally approved 3% later in the fiscal year.

Legislative issues to be presented to Senator Edwards and Delegate Beitzel on November 17.

a) A request by the board to amend Title III, Section 32 and Section 35 of the GC Code of Ordinances. Pursuant to the request of the fire and emergency medical services (EMS) companies who participated in the 2006 SWOT Report, the county has established an Emergency Services Board (ESB) to serve in an advisory capacity to the board and to provide oversight of fire and EMS services.

b) A request by the board that the General Assembly provide the board with the authority to increase the hotel rental tax to a rate not to exceed 8%. The current rate is 5%. Plans are to set the rate at 6% for FY 2011. Chairman Glotfelty amended his prior approval and will now oppose any rate increase at this time.

c) A request by the board that the General Assembly provide the board with authority under Article 25 of the Annotated Code of Md. to adopt a local ordinance to establish minimum set-back requirements for commercial-grade wind turbines.

d) A request by the board enabling authority under Title 9, Subtitle 658 of the Environment Article of the Annotated Code of Md. that will allow the governing body of GC to request the county to conduct a sale of real property to enforce a lien representing any unpaid benefit assessment or other charges at a county tax sale in accordance with the same procedures governing the sale of property for delinquent property taxes.

Department of Public Safety & Emergency Management

a) Update on ongoing and planned training activities in cooperation with Md. Institute of Emergency Medical Services Systems.

b) Update on county high school emergency service clubs.

c) Update on countywide and statewide communication improvements.

d) Notification that additional grant funding has been secured for fire departments and rescue companies.

e) Update on training for department personnel on natural gas pipelines in the county.

f) Review of Garrett County Hazardous Material Commodity Flow Study.

Purchasing Department

a) Contractual Snow Removal Services (bid #09-0917SR). The board approved an award to seven contractors for a multiple number of county sites. Specific sites and contractors are on file with the Purchasing Department.

b) Standing Timber for Sale (bid #09-1001T). The board approved an award to Joe Colmer Logging for $7,200.

c) Evaluation and Repair of HVAC Control Systems. The board approved an award to Simpson Technical Services, LLC, for $17,780; hourly rate of $90.

Risk Management Division

The board received a check from the Local Government Insurance Trust that will provide funding to the Animal Control Office for the purpose of enrolling an employee in the 90-hour certification program at the Md. Animal Control Officer Academy.

Roads Department

a) Update on year-to-date paving operations and roads completed (16 miles).

b) Status of Crellin Underwood bridge completion, estimated to be December 1.

c) Status of Swallow Falls bridge which has been assigned as one-way traffic lane.

d) The board executed a road transfer agreement with the State Highway Administration that would transfer certain sections of roads between the county and the state.

Sheriff's Office

a) The board reviewed a request from Sheriff Berkebile for additional funding ($4,100) to be directed to general maintenance of the detention center.

b) The board met with Sheriff Berkebile and staff; Wendy Yoder, director, Department of Financial Services; and Gary Mullich, director, Department of General Services in furtherance of the decision by the board to withdraw construction funding for a new detention center. Numerous maintenance improvement requirements were postponed due to (at that time) pending construction of a new facility. Sheriff Berkebile presented a background on security, sanitation/health and welfare, and inmate health care concerns, and recommended solutions to each area of concern.

Miscellaneous

a) The board attended the annual State of Maryland Department of Transportation meeting.

b) The board proclaimed October 2009 as Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

c) Friends of Deep Creek Lake presented the board with a watershed environmental and water quality review of Deep Creek Lake.

d) The board reviewed a letter from the Md. Department of Agriculture that requested an estimated cost of up to $16,625, which represents a 50% cost share to perform cooperative gypsy moth surveys. The board approved funding up to the estimated cost estimated by the Department of Agriculture.

e) The board appointed Suzanne Nicolas (fulfilling the term of Patricia Bobo) and Krista McKenzie to the Garrett County Commission for Women.

f) The board met with the University of Maryland Extension Office to discuss planned reorganization of programming and leadership matters. Dr. Cheng-i Wei, dean of the College of Agriculture, formally thanked the board for funding support to the county as a stakeholder for many years.

g) The board met with Md. Department of Natural Resources secretary John Griffin and deputy secretary Eric Schwaab to discuss a number of matters of interest, including the purchase of real property by the state in Garrett County, a request by the board to allow drilling of wells on state land (Puzzley Run), law enforcement issues related to DNR police, drilling and extraction of natural gas, and other issues of mutual interest.

TUNDRA SWANS MAKE PIT-STOP – A tundra swan "gathering" took place at Broadford Recreation Area this week, and was observed, photographed, and reported by local bird expert Fran Pope. She said the flock is migrating, and opted to take a rest on the local lake Tuesday morning. What started as a group of about 13 birds in the morning grew steadily, Pope said, until more than 200 birds had landed on the lake, with migrating flocks of 30 to 40 birds joining at intervals. "Immediately after landing, most of the new birds tucked their heads under a wing and rested," Pope said. Of the more than 200 birds on the lake Tuesday evening, she counted 15 juveniles, such as the darker one pictured above with probably a parent. "These swans migrate in family groups," Pope said. "It's amazing to consider that the young hatched just this year, probably in late June to early July, and could fly in 60 to 70 days. Now they're making their first fall migration from the breeding grounds on arctic wetlands to estuaries along the East and West coasts. The young will remain with their parents until arrival back on the breeding grounds next year," she said. On another morning this week, Pope counted about 240 of the birds on Broadford, "many vocalizing, while others preened and, perhaps, readied to continue their journey."

Accidental Fire Claims Storage Shed Sunday

A fire caused by an extension of a woods fire damaged a storage shed in Friendsville Sunday evening.

Volunteers from the Friendsville, Deep Creek, Accident, and Addison, Pa., fire departments were summoned to 438 Malachi Way at 5:07 p.m. after a passerby saw the 10x20 foot storage shed in flames.

According to a notice of investigation by the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office, the shed was owned by Toney Artice, Friendsville. Damages to the shed and contents were estimated to total $5,000.

Some 32 firefighters brought the blaze under control in about 15 minutes. There were no injuries reported.

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources is investigating the woods fire that was blamed for destroying the shed.

UMBEL ELECTED MFRW PRESIDENT – Ruth Umbel, an active member of both the Republican Women's Club of southern and northern Garrett County, was recently elected as the next president of the Maryland Federation of Republican Women (MFRW). Umbel will lead Maryland's 40 clubs in a campaign to elect qualified women and men to leadership positions throughout the state and country. Current president Patt Parker passed the gavel to Umbel during the elections for the 2010-2011 term, held at the 2009 Fall Convention in Cambridge. This is the first time in the history of MFRW that a member of the Western Region has held this position. Umbel began her work with the organization in the late 1960s, serving as various club committee chairs, club president, and in executive board positions, and then moved through the ranks to achieve the presidency. Umbel is a native of Garrett County. Catie Ravenscroft James, also a native and part-time resident of Garrett County, was elected 3rd vice president.

New Shipment Of H1N1 Vaccine Received By Health Department

The Garrett County Health Department has administered about 2,000 H1N1 vaccinations since the H1N1 flu vaccine was first received in early October.

"The number of vaccinations is far below what we were hoping to have done by this time," said Jennifer Lee-Steckman, director of personal health, "but we are getting the vaccine out just as fast as the shipments get to us. Although we have had to cancel several clinics because of low vaccine supplies, additional clinics are now being added."

A public clinic for all the priority areas is under way today at the main offices of the health department in Oakland until 6 p.m., and another will be held at the health department's Grantsville office this Saturday, Nov. 21, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Priority groups for Saturday's clinic include:

•Pregnant women,

•Persons who live with or care for infants less than 6 months of age,

•Health care workers and emergency medical services workers,

•Persons 6 months of age to 24 years of age,

•Persons 25 to 64 years of age who have medical conditions that put them at higher risk for complication from flu, such as asthma, diabetes, or a weakened immune system.

The Health Department will complete the first round of vaccinations at the schools this week, and will be scheduling additional public clinics to finish up the priority groups.

"As soon as the priority groups have been completed, we will open clinics up to the general population," Lee-Steckman said.

Data across the state and country continue to indicate that most people who are infected with H1N1 will have a minor disease that

Postponement In Stewart Sentence Hearing Ordered

State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch has announced that Bradley Allen Stewart's sentencing hearing has been postponed, by order of Garrett County District Court. Stewart's lawyer entered a continuance motion on Tuesday.

The hearing had been scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 18, at 9 a.m. No new date has yet been set.

Stewart, 60, pleaded guilty in District Court in September to 23 counts of embezzlement. A presentence investigation was ordered at that time, and Stewart was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await sentencing.

The former Stewart Funeral Home owner is charged with embezzling more than $160,000 from customers who entered into pre-need contracts for goods and services.

Each of the 23 charges to which Stewart pleaded guilty carries a sentence of one to five years of incarceration.

Charged With Second-Degree Assault By GCSO

Garrett County sheriff's deputies arrested a local woman after responding to Decatur Street, Mtn. Lake Park, for a reported domestic dispute on Sunday.

Amber Elaine Bittinger is charged with second-degree assault. She was taken into custody by GCSO deputies.

Commissioners Present Legislative Request List To Local Lawmakers

The Garrett County commissioners held their annual prelegislative meeting with Sen. George Edwards and Del. Wendell Beitzel on Tuesday at the county courthouse. A short list of issues was presented to the local lawmakers for possible introduction in the next Maryland General Assembly session.

County administrator Monty Pagenhardt reviewed four items the commissioners would like drafted into bills. One proposed piece of legislation would give the commissioners the authority to increase the local hotel rental tax to a rate "not to exceed 8 percent."

The current rate is 5 percent. It was last increased in fiscal year 2006, Pagenhardt said.

The county garnered $1.5 million from the hotel rental tax in FY 2008, according to Financial Services director Wendy Yoder. Based on figures from that year, Yoder estimates the county would receive an additional $300,000 a year per each 1 percent increase in the tax.

For example, if the tax were increased to 6 percent, the county would garner an estimated $1.8 million, according to Yoder.

The commissioners stressed that the bill would simply provide "enabling legislation" and does not mean an automatic tax increase.

Several business owners attending the meeting asked the commissioners not to increase the tax or even introduce the bill.

"I think this should be taken off the table," said Nancy Railey of Railey Mtn. Lake Vacations.

She presented the commissioners with local and national tourism statistics. Because of the economic conditions, she noted, occupancy levels are down across the country. As a result, establishment owners are decreasing room rates in an attempt to attract more business. Railey indicated that if the hotel tax is increased, local owners will most likely have to decrease their rates even further.

"While the worst of the recessionary effects is now known to us, our ability to increase prices back to 2008 levels will most likely not begin until 2011," Railey said.

She and others noted the many negative effects of decreased tourism dollars, especially in the Deep Creek Lake area, on the county's economy.

Karen Myers, Wisp Resort/DC Developers, cautioned the commissioners not to "kill the goose that laid the golden egg."

"We know how heavily dependent this county really is on the second homes, the vacation homes – whether it's the vacation rentals, or property taxes, or amusement taxes," she said. "Because we depend on all of that, we are struggling."

Joyce Bishoff, interim president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, said Deep Creek Lake is being perceived by some people as a "high-price" market. She indicated introducing the proposed bill could further increase that misperception and its negative effects.

"I realize that enabling the commissioners to raise taxes does not raise them, but the publicity is there that suggests we are raising them," Bishoff said. "I think we need to be cautious about this whole thing."

She stressed that the chamber board has not taken any stance on the issue and that her comments were from her own view- point.

The commissioners also requested legislation that would enable a local Emergency Services Board (ESB) to serve in an advisory capacity to the county and to provide oversight of fire and emergency medical services.

The ESB would be composed of representatives from volunteer fire/rescue units, and would develop and recommend policies and standard operating procedures for those units. Prior to adoption of any proposed policies and procedures, however, the ESB would be required to consult with the Garrett County Volunteer Fire and Rescue Association Inc. and/or the

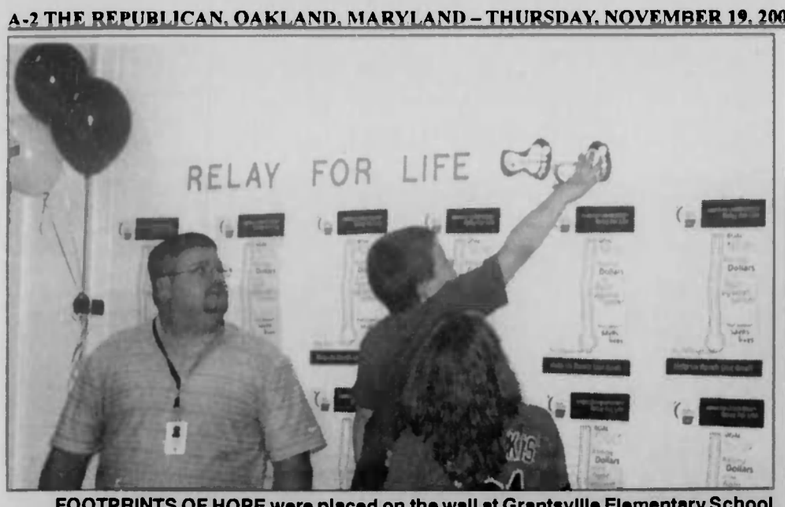
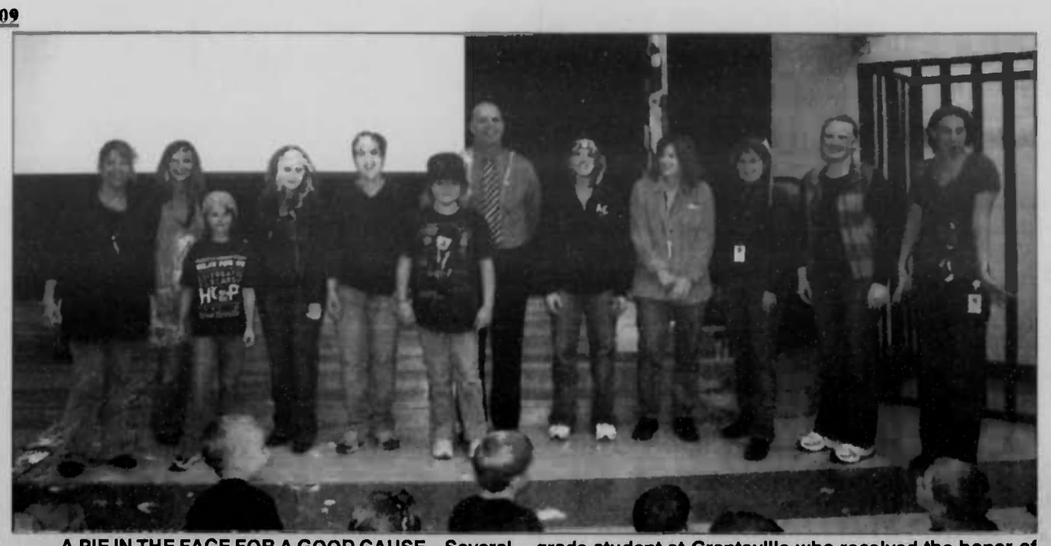
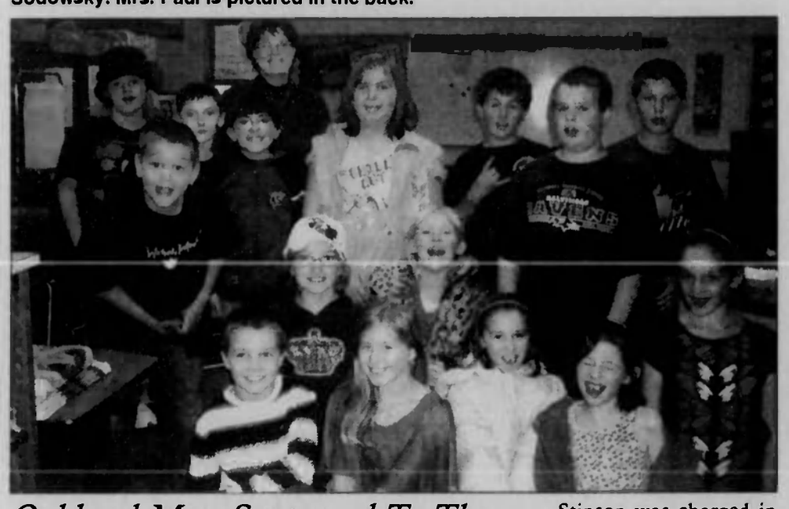
A MINI RELAY FOR LIFE was held last week at Grantsville Elementary School. Students and staff members participated in activities throughout the week to support the Relay for Life organization and raise money for the American Cancer Society. Each student received a pledge sheet for sponsors, and also "paid" donations in order to participate in activities such as Pajama Day and Mix/Match Day. Organizers set a goal of $1,000 to be raised throughout the entire week. On the very first day, donations reached $1,222.05. By the end of the week, the school had raised a total of $3,262.05. Following the kick-off assembly, students and staff walked a lap around the school halls with cancer survivor Lauren Weller (above left) and Beth Garbolino (right), area executive director of the American Cancer Society. Later in the week, each class walked laps for a designated amount of time. See additional photos in this section of today's issue.



FOOTPRINTS OF HOPE were placed on the wall at Grantsville Elementary School during their Mini Relay for Life last week. Each footprint contained the name of a cancer survivor. Above, Tyler Hare is pictured standing on a chair to place a footprint on the wall for his older sister Kaley, who is a cancer survivor. Pictured with him are staff member Marcus Rugg and Ashley Kahl, student intern. Another section of the wall honored people who died from cancer. Pictured below are students from Kim Paul's fourth grade class, who raised the highest amount of money during the week. Their total was $630.25, and they will receive an ice cream party. In the front row, from left, are Austin Buckel, Ali Bragg, Christina Sheckels, Kyrstin Hobell, and Desirea Smith. In the second row are Ty Kinzey, Heather Durst, Kayla Guthrie, and Brody Collins. In the third row are Hallie Hockman, the student who brought in the most donations ($500); Eric Swauger, Angelo Rugglero, Rebecca Hoyman, Dawson Beltzel, and Joseph Sodowsky. Mrs. Paul is pictured in the back.



A PIE IN THE FACE FOR A GOOD CAUSE – Several teachers at Grantsville Elementary School received a pie in the face during the Mini Relay for Life last week. The original goal for the week was set at $1,000, and that goal was exceeded on the first day. A total of $3,262.05 was raised by the end of the week. Pictured above, from left, are Katy Fresh; Vanessa Kelly; Kaley Hare, a fifth grade student at Grantsville who received the honor of delivering the pies in the face because she is a cancer survivor; Ashley Kahl; Ruth Georg; Hallie Hockman, who was allowed to spray the principal with silly string for raising $500; principal Matt Eggleston; Kathy Bittinger, Winona Thomas, Kim Paul, Megan Knepp, and Jackie Daniels.



Oakland Man Sentenced To Three Years For Second-Degree Assault

In recent Garrett County District Court proceedings, Charles French Stinson, 54, Oakland, was found guilty by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert after pleading not guilty to a second-degree assault charge, and was sentenced to three years with two years suspended, three years of supervised probation, and fines were suspended.

Stinson was charged in August when Garrett County sheriff's officers responded to East Liberty Street for a reported assault in progress. Upon arrival, officers could hear a voice screaming for help, and found Stinson being physically abusive to another adult. Investigation revealed that he had gotten angry at the adult which led to the assault. He was found not guilty for a disorderly conduct charge.

In an unrelated hearing, Thomas Frederick Holliday, 62, Grantsville, was found guilty for second-degree assault, and was sentenced to 64 days with 64 days credit for time served, and $57.50 in fines.

Maryland State Police responded to a Grantsville residence in August for a report of a subject holding the homeowner against their will. Upon arrival, officers made contact with the victim of the assault and investigation revealed that Holliday had slapped the victim in the face earlier in the day. He was subsequently placed under arrest.

No other charges were given.

In another district court proceeding, Cody Eugene Lucas, 25, Loch Lynn, was found guilty for a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) possession of marijuana charge, and was sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, 18 months of unsupervised probation, and $257.50 in fines.

Lucas was charged in June after GCSO and members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force executed a search and seizure warrant at his place of residence. Lucas was located in the basement of the residence, and a search revealed marijuana seeds and stems, marijuana grinders, a glass pipe with marijuana residue, and other CDS paraphernalia. He was not prosecuted on two charges of CDS possession of paraphernalia.

Sean Avery Pavlichko, 23, Morgantown, W.Va., pleaded guilty to a CDS possession of paraphernalia charge, received a probation before judgment (PBJ) verdict, and was sentenced to one day of unsupervised probation and $157.50 in fines. He was charged in March stemming from a traffic stop by MSP. He was not prosecuted on a CDS possession of marijuana charge.

Dean Allen Yoder, 37, Meyersdale, Pa., was charged with CDS possession of marijuana and CDS possession of paraphernalia in June 2007 stemming from a traffic stop by GCSO and GCNTF. His charges were placed on stet with conditions being to obey all laws. He was not prosecuted on charges of driving while impaired (DWI) and driving while impaired by drugs and/or alcohol.

Allen Eugene Soth, 55, Swanton, was charged in August for second-degree assault after GCSO responded to a residence for two 911 hang ups, and investigation later revealed a domestic dispute between him and another adult. His charge was placed on stet with conditions being to have no contact with the victim of assault and to complete 40 hours of community service.

Jonathan David Jones, 31, Oakland, was not prosecuted for a theft valued at less than $100 charge, stemming from a theft from the Family Dollar store in April.

Eric Christopher Garlitz, 23, Missoula, Mont., was not prosecuted on charges of CDS possession of marijuana and CDS possession of paraphernalia, stemming from December 2008.

DUI/DWI HEARINGS

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in Garrett County District Court, with Judge Eiswert presiding.

Shelby Ovilene Fultz, 45, was found guilty for a DWI charge from September, and was sentenced to 60 days with all being suspended, 18 months of supervised probation, and $257.50 in fines. She was not prosecuted on a DUI charge.

Joshua Robert Brown, 23, Md., was not prosecuted on July charges of DWI and DUI.

Local Rotary To Collect Gifts For County Families

The Grantsville Rotary Club recently announced the kick-off of its annual effort to collect items to be distributed to the needy for Christmas.

Deliveries of food certificates as well as gifts and toys were made to 57 families in the Grantsville and Friendsville areas in 2008. Gifts and toys are provided for children age 16 and below.

The club's Joe Bender noted that the primary method of obtaining gifts and food for these families is through donations.

A series of displays and trees have been placed in businesses and other places throughout the community with tags indicating what is needed. Individuals wishing to help may simply remove a tag, purchase the item, attach the tag to the gift, and then place it under the tree from which the tag was removed.

Tags are also provided on all trees in Grantsville to remind people that dollars are also needed to purchase food certificates. The Rotary will pick up the item and arrange delivery.

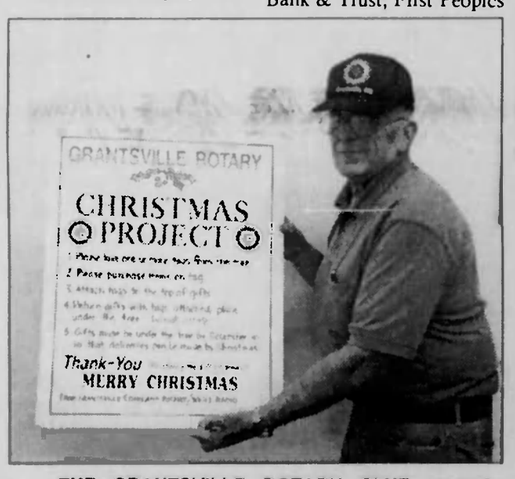
Bender noted that the gift tag trees are located in the Grantsville area at Beachy's Pharmacy, the Grantsville branch of the Ruth Enlow Library, Penn Alps Restaurant, First United National Bank & Trust, First Peoples Federal Credit Union, and M & T Bank.

Persons who cannot obtain tags themselves are asked to contact Bender at 814-662-4366.

He noted that monetary donations are also needed and appreciated. Checks should be made payable to the Grantsville Rotary Christmas Project and mailed to Grantsville Rotary, P.O. Box 358, Grantsville, 21536, or dropped off at any tree location.

"The collection period runs only through Dec. 8 (approximately three weeks)," Bender said.

Collections will then be assembled and sorted into family units, with delivery made to the homes on Saturday, Dec. 12.



THE GRANTSVILLE ROTARY CLUB recently kicked off its annual effort to collect items to distribute to the needy for Christmas. Displays are placed in businesses and other establishments throughout the community with tags indicating what is needed. Individuals may remove a tag, purchase the item, attach the tag to the gift, and place it under the tree. Pictured above is Joe Bender of the Grantsville Rotary. See story for details.

Recycling Pick-Up Program Continues In Town Of Oakland

Residents within the corporate limits of the town of Oakland may continue to put out recyclables each Friday for pick-up, according to Peggy Jamison, interim mayor of the town.

The program was nearly lost because of the severe cut-back in state money to the municipality, but a deal has been struck with Sunrise Sanitation Services, who picks up the items, and the service will now continue at least until next spring.

Residents are urged to participate in the program by putting out cans, newspapers, and cardboard for pick-up early each Friday morning.

Cans can be of mixed variety, both steel and aluminum. They should be placed in blue recycling bags, which are available at the town hall in Oakland, as well as at local grocery stores.

The cardboard should be the corrugated variety only, not waxed, and boxes should be flattened. Newspapers should be cleared of any slick inserts as well.

"The more people recycle, the more likely we will be able to continue with this important program," Jamison said.

$1,000.00 REWARD

On or about November 13, 2009, someone entered property located two and one-half miles west of Oakland on Route 39 and removed an 8 x 12 sign connected to a billboard. Cost of replacement will be approximately $1,000.00.

Time required to enter the property by 4-wheel drive, remove 40 or more stainless steel screws and three sections of the sign would require a considerable amount of time. If you were a witness to this theft, please contact Tom Doyle at 301-334-4808 or the Garrett County Sheriff's Office at 301-334-1911.

Wording of the sign was "HEAVEN OR HELL? IT'S YOUR CHOICE." Each section of the sign was standard 4 x 8 alumalite, which can be repainted. The first section contained an "H" at the top, "OR" in the middle and "IT'S" at the top. The second section contained "AVE" at the top "HEL" in the middle and "OUR" at the bottom. The third section contained "N?" at the top, "L" in the middle and "OICE" at the bottom. If you see these items anywhere, please call either of the above numbers.

A reward of $1,000.00 will be paid for information received which leads to an arrest and conviction of the responsible persons.

Not Rocket Science...

If ever there were a no-brainer decision to be made in the Garrett County commissioners' office concerning potential pieces of legislation for the 2010 Maryland General Assembly, it may well have been this week in their discussions with Senator George Edwards and Delegate Wendell Beitzel concerning wind turbines. Yet, Sen. Edwards still had to spoon-feed the commissioners before they could come up with the right answer.

The commissioners are once again requesting legislation that would mandate certain setbacks for wind turbines, something that a year ago was labeled in this column as an unbelievably lame attempt to placate those of us who do not want wind turbines in Garrett County at all. It has so far been the extent to which the commissioners will go in trying to adopt some kind of local control over wind farms in Garrett County.

Well, in that same discussion this week, Sen. Edwards said something to the effect of, "Don't you think it would be a good idea to have the authority to require wind industry developers to post a bond that would cover the cost of removal of wind turbines that, for whatever reason, are abandoned?"

Commissioners Glotfelty and Holliday then admitted that, yeah, that would probably be a good idea.

Is it just this writer, or does the now proverbial word "Duh!!" come to mind immediately?

Many decades ago when the mining industry had little to no regulations, Garrett County and many other areas in the country were left with dangerous, toxic, ugly, abandoned mine sites all over the place. There was nothing in the law to force the operators of those mines to clean up their mess when they were finished. Billions of tax dollars had to be spent to reclaim these sites. Today, fortunately, reclamation laws are extensive, requiring operators to leave the landscape in good shape – often better shape – all at their expense, upon their departure. This example was pointed out by Sen. Edwards.

History can be a great teacher, as it helps us avoid making the same mistakes all over again. Why is this not vividly clear in the minds of our commissioners when it comes to the wind industry? No mining company can obtain a permit to operate without being bonded and without the absolute guarantee that it will comply with and pay for all reclamation operations. Why in the world would we not hold wind turbine developers to the same standards? This is not rocket science.

Wind turbines are failing all over the United States and Europe, and in many cases the non-working towers are just standing idle, and may well be there for hundreds of years because developers are not required to pay for their removal. This next legislative session just might be our last opportunity to obtain this vital protection.

To the Editor:

I am writing in hopes that someone will come forward. On October 30, I was involved in an incident that took place at the intersection of CVS on 219 and Memorial Drive in Oakland. If anyone has information on the blue car that struck me repeatedly, I am begging you to give your statement to Sgt. Alexander and/or Wright of the Oakland Town Police.

I know there was a gentleman who had the blue vehicle blocked. Please come forward, as your statement is significant in this case. The same request is made of anyone else who witnessed what occurred.

To the Editor:

I'm writing because there is some confusion about the toy drive my son is having called Jack's Sacks. There was a letter in this column last week that said that the new toys collected are going to be taken to the WVU hospital children's ward. The confusion is that a lot of people thought that meant we would be taking all of the toys there, which is not the case.

We are hoping to be able to take some toys there, but not all of them. Travis is hoping to collect enough toys to provide families in our area with toys for Christmas, take some to the hospital, and also send a package of them to children in the Philippines.

I'm hoping that everyone reading this will open their hearts to a 5-year-old little boy who has a wonderful idea, and make it a joyous Christmas for some children who may not have much this year.

There will be a toy drive on the night of December 4 during a spaghetti dinner at the Southern Rescue Squad building in Mtn. Lake Park. There are also drop-off locations: WEPCO, Team One, and the Southern Rescue Squad. Persons may also call me at 301-334-5755 or 301-616-8755. Monetary donations in the form of checks should be made out to SGCRS – Jack's Sacks.

Thanks in advance to all who give to these children in need.

To the Editor:

Dear Garrett County voters – Who, ultimately, is responsible for irresponsible spending by our commissioners? You, the voter!

You keep electing liberal commissioners who do not understand the economy.

In times like these, we need conservative commissioners who understand that we are in hard economic times. Instead of continuing to build million-dollar buildings, we need to slow our spending and, coupled with that, reduce taxes, instead of planning on how more money can be raised. Increasing taxes on rental rooms is totally irresponsible.

We need to teach serious economics in high school, so that when a young voter gets to the decision making when it comes to voting, he/she will consider someone who is for the people of Garrett County; someone who understands that raising taxes is a negative, and that continuing to build million-dollar buildings is a negative.

Thomas E. Doyle

To the Editor:

In response to an editorial by Don Quixote/aka Jon Boone.

In his letter, Jon insists on peer-reviewed studies of wind energy, and he also wants an accounting of Frostburg State University's energy program. He states in his blog his love of the environment and what a concerned conservationist he is.

I will agree with Jon on this – the one thing he does conserve is his typing fingers. He just copies his blog comments and recycles them in this column. I guess he doesn't have enough respect for the readers of The Republican to give them new material, just the recycled stuff.

If you're still reading, take a look at this (un-peer-reviewed) study:

"Numerous studies over the years have linked fine particles to a variety of health damages, from increased asthma attacks to hospital visits to death. Researchers estimate that as many as 60,000 people die prematurely each year because of exposure to fine particles."

Now for the peer-reviewed version:

"Using peer-reviewed, state-of-the-art research methodology, Abt Associates finds over 30,000 deaths each year are attributable to fine-particle pollution from U.S. power plants. The underlying research shows that these people are dying months or years earlier because of power-plant air pollution.

"The deaths from power-plant pollution exceed the death toll from other causes commonly understood to be major public policy priorities. For instance, drunk driving causes nearly 16,000 deaths per year. There are over 17,000 homicides in the U.S. each year."

Note: Google death and coal to get the above comments, as well as thousands of other comments on this.

In my experience, anyone I ever met who claimed to be a conservationist actually works toward a better world by their deeds and words. My definition of a conservationist is: an individual who leaves a legacy his descendants can be proud of and lead a better life because of his accomplishments.

Remember, Don, you are either part of the problem or part of the solution.

To the Editor:

November is Alzheimer's Disease Awareness Month. I know because my mother was one of the 4 million Americans who have this devastating disease. With the aging baby boomers, this number is expected to grow to 14 million by 2010.

Alzheimer's disease affects more than 800 people in Garrett County, and this number will reach 1,105 by the year 2020. Besides affecting the person with the disease, Alzheimer's has a devastating emotional, physical, and economic impact on caregivers and family members. If you know someone who has a family member with the disease, there are many simple things you can do to help in this very difficult and stressful time.

First, encourage that person to call the Alzheimer's Association, Greater Maryland Chapter. The corporate office in Frederick has many valuable resources, such as the Helpline, support groups, Safe Return/Medic Alert Identification Program, lending library, training programs for nursing home staff, advocacy, and other services.

Because of personal experience and interest, I facilitate the Garrett County support group. Participating in a support group can help by giving family members and caregivers a chance to share and learn from others who understand, as they too have a family member with a memory disorder.

The Garrett County support group meets the last Monday of each month from 6 to 8 p.m. except in the months of December, July, and August. For more information, call me, Donna Fost, at 301-334-7740 or 301-895-3112.

Second, be a friend. Providing care for a loved one is one of the most difficult, stressful, and lonely jobs in the world. Caregivers are often reluctant to ask for help, thinking that they can do everything by themselves. They are wrong. Any small thing you can do, whether it is making dinner, visiting, or offering to do grocery shopping, can make a world of difference.

To learn more about how you can help, call the Alzheimer's Association, Greater Maryland Chapter, at 1-800-696-6830. Be sure to ask for a free copy of the brochure, "You Can Make a Difference: 10 Ways to Help an Alzheimer Family."

Emergency Medical Services Council.

A similar bill was introduced during last year's General Assembly session, but was retracted because the association did not approve of the wording.

"The writer of the bill changed a few things, and that's where we ran into problems," Commissioner Denny Glotfelty said. "And that's why we withdrew it."

A revised bill was drafted, reviewed by the volunteers, and the association approved it in September, Pagenhardt noted.

The commissioners would also like legislation that would enable them to adopt a local ordinance to establish minimum setback requirements for commercial grade wind turbines.

Edwards suggested the bill include a section that would give the county authority to decommission a turbine. Companies would also be required to secure bonds to cover the cost of dismantling turbines that become defunct.

The commissioners appeared agreeable to the senator's suggestion.

Edwards said he may also introduce a bill that would apply to the turbine decommission issue statewide.

The commissioners also asked Edwards and Beitzel for legislation that would give the county tax collector authority to sell properties with outstanding water and/or sewer charges, including inactive sewer tap fees, that are more than 60 days past due.

The county would sell the properties in the same manner it currently does for places that have delinquent real property taxes.

As of this week, there are $282,000 worth of outstanding sewer/water charges and fees, according to Public Utilities director Linda Lindsey. She noted the county has the authority to place a lien on properties with outstanding bills, but those cases must go through the court system.

The county also has the authority to terminate water and sewer services on unpaid accounts. But since some property owners have ERUs (equivalent residential units or virtual taps) that are not hooked up to systems yet, there is no incentive for them to pay their inactivity fees.

Lindsey noted that Allegany and Kent counties already have the authority to sell properties with delinquent public utility payments.

Beitzel and Edwards will hold a prelegislative meeting for the general public sometime before the General Assembly session begins in January. The meeting will be held at Garrett College and may take place on a weekday evening or a Saturday morning, Edwards noted.

O'Malley is the only governor in the nation to have frozen tuition – at the University System of Maryland's 11 universities and Morgan State University four straight years – and has provided record funding (nearly 49 percent) for community colleges.

All of the state's 16 community colleges, with the exception of Allegany College of Maryland, experienced overall enrollment gains. The Community College of Baltimore County (with campuses in Catonsville, Dundalk, and Essex) grew by the largest number of students (2,911), and also increased by the highest percentage of students (14.1 percent).

Total enrollment in the University System of Maryland increased by 3 percent (4,338 students) to 147,795 overall, and enrollment at Morgan State University increased by 3.2 percent (221 students). Only St. Mary's College of Maryland showed a very slight loss of student enrollment, that being just five students, or 0.2 percent.

The Maryland Higher Education Commission is a 12-member coordinating board responsible for establishing statewide policies for Maryland public and independent colleges and universities and private career schools. Local Citizen Review Panel To Hold Open Mtg.

The Garrett County Local Citizen Review Panel (LCRP) will hold an open meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 2, from 11 a.m. to noon at the Garrett County Health Department, 1025 Memorial Drive, Oakland.

The LCRPs in Maryland provide some community-based oversight for the local child protection system through individual cases to identify areas for system improvement.

"LCRPs offer a real opportunity for communities to strengthen the care of children and youth," a spokesperson said.

Members include individuals with interest and expertise in the prevention and treatment of child abuse and neglect.

Persons who are interested in attending a meeting or serving on the LCRP should contact Michele Baker at the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families at 301-334-1189.

"ANGELS AMONGST US" TREE AUCTIONED – The Garrett County Commission for Women's Christmas tree committee recently met to handcraft pinecone angels for the commission's entry in the Festival of Trees. The theme of the Commission's tree is "Angels Amongst Us." The tree was to be auctioned last night, along with other entries, with proceeds to benefit the Dove Center. From left are Beverly Beard, Ellen Fritz, Betty Ellington (volunteer), Barbara Hornyak, Ann Forrester, and Ruth Beltzel.

Several Arrests Stem From District Court Warrants

Garrett County sheriff's deputies arrested three individuals on the strengths of District Court warrants. The following cases are unrelated.

Charles Raymond Housley Jr. is charged with forgery, obtain drug by fraud, and controlled dangerous substance (CDS) prescription obtain by fraud. The warrant was obtained by the state. He was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

Heather Ann Kelly is charged with first-degree burglary, theft less $1,000, trespassing on private property, and malicious destruction of property less $500. The warrant was obtained by the victim. She was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

David Wayne Dewitt is charged with 31 counts of violation of a peace order, telephone misuse, and harassment. The warrant was obtained by state's attorney Lisa Welch. Dewitt was released on personal recognizance.

Correction Noted

In a photo cutline that appeared in last week's issue concerning a recent awards ceremony of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, it was incorrectly reported that the Robert Humberson Driver Award was presented to Edgar Yoder. That award, in fact, was presented to Sam Friend.

OBITUARIES

GORDON WILLIAMS SR.

Gordon Williams Sr., originally of Riverdale, passed away on Saturday, Nov. 14, 2009.

He was the husband of Vida Mae Williams for 62 years, a devoted father of a daughter and two sons, Linda, Gordon Jr., and C. Douglas, and a proud grandfather of seven, as well as great-grandfather of six.

Born in Hyattsville, in 1925, he served honorably in the United States Navy in the Pacific Theater during World War II, including duty onboard the submarines USS Skate and USS Puffer. After the war, he returned to the Washington, D.C., area, where he met and married his wife, Vida Mae Westcoat. They first lived in Salem, Va., and began to rear a family before returning to Maryland in 1950, establishing households initially in Silver Spring, and finally in Adelphi in 1957.

He was a charter member of the Prince George's County Lions Club and became well known in the area as an owner of the Brass Lantern in College Park, and subsequently as an owner of Lee's Restaurant in Hyattsville. Elected as the president of the Maryland Hotel and Restaurant Owners Association he was instrumental in promoting the interests of business owners and employees alike at the state and county levels in the 1970s.

A lifelong boating enthusiast and wood worker, he retired in 1988 and established residence at Deep Creek Lake near Oakland. In addition to actively lobbying local government officials to extend a number of basic community services to his neighborhood, he could be found every morning for over five years working at a country store near the lake, Curt's Corner, where he gained the respect of and made lasting friendships with many local residents.

Friends will be received at on Saturday, Nov. 21, Brown Funeral Home's South Berkeley Chapel, Inwood, W.Va., from 3 to 4 p.m., at which time a memorial service will be held, with Pastor Mickey Joe Elliott officiating.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to Hospice of the Panhandle, 122 Waverly Court, Martinsburg, WV 25403; or Panhandle Home Health, 1516 Winchester Avenue, Martinsburg, WV 25401.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Emmanuel Lutheran Church celebrated Beulah Moon's 90th birthday with a luncheon on Saturday, but I wasn't there because I was as sick as a dog. If it weren't a flu, I would be surprised.

But I can always depend on Mary Ann Herpel to drop by with something to eat. A few months ago it was a milkshake, but of course that ended the last day of October. It was warm enough for an ice cream treat, but that was too bad because Brenneman's is closed for the winter, as is Lakeside Creamery.

Beulah clearly looks young for her age. Her church celebration was attended by 100 guests, and a family dinner at Penn Alps was attended by 18. All her children, including John from South Korea and another son from Rochester, N.Y., were there, and her many grandchildren came from all over the place.

It certainly looks like a real Indian summer. It is sunny and unusually warm for mid-November. I heard that in Pittsburgh it is short-sleeve weather for a very big Steelers game against the Cincinnati Bengals, who are tied with the Steelers for first place in the division.

I invited a few friends to watch the important game. It is not quite a playoff, but almost, since it will probably determine the north division winner. But no one is really a Steelers fan, and the day is so beautiful that I can't blame anyone for choosing an outdoor activity instead of a football game on television.

But these two teams, the Bengals and the Steelers, are the closest matched pair I've ever seen. In this game, there were many lead changes and several times there were ties.

I am stunned. I saw quite a few close, important games played by the Steelers, but this is perhaps the first time they did not pull off a miracle. Of course, their miracle-playmaker, Troy Polamalu, is out because of a knee injury.

Also, the two Redskins fans living here did not watch them pull a victory over Denver.

I hope this does not mean that the Steelers season is over. Almost all of the scores were field goals. The Steelers do have a very dependable kicker, Jeff Reed.

This game broke a five-win streak. The last game before today that they lost was also against Cincinnati, way back in September. Now, we could get another good winning streak. But it will certainly brighten up the mid-winter if they are in the playoffs, and hopefully in the Super Bowl.

This Sunday has the most beautiful moon that I've seen for a long time. It is mostly a dark, brilliant fuchsia. It is very bright in the 6:30 darkness.

I guess Caitlin and Mere will be home for a week for Thanksgiving starting this Friday. That is one day after Caitlin's 21st birthday, so that means I already have two adult daughters and just one minor child. Mere is still only 18.

Emmanuel Lutheran Church welcomed nine new members Sunday and celebrated the baptism of one of those new members. Welcome!

I'm glad that bear season is over, since we reached our quota of dead bears. The only Bittinger hunter to score a bear was Andrew Maust, son of Wayne Maust.

I am not terribly crazy about any of the possible Republican candidates for president in 2012. But I was truly horror-struck this morning that former vice president Dick Cheney is throwing his hat in the ring. With our nation in his hands, we could allow our position of being the most admired nation in the world slip away, and that would be a big shame. I pray that every decent Republican will just say no to Cheney!

I saw a spokesman for natural gas who said, "It is not always breezy." He clearly never visited Bittinger. It is breezy here today, that's for sure. And in mid-winter, the wind here rivals the wind in Antarctica. And we do need to go toward some greener, better energy source than oil. Even "clean coal" is better for America than depending on the most troublesome place, the Middle East, for our energy needs.

If they can't defeat America with terror, then they will destroy it as a result of our insatiable appetite for oil. And Al Gore says that time has almost run out to address climatic change. He backed it with science outlined in his book. Of course, the people who really need his information won't touch it with a 10-foot pole. It is too long, too serious, and maybe even too scary.

But some on the Right just pretend that every problem will disappear if we do nothing. They do not have enough courage to try the many terrorists. I believe our president and attorney general made the right decision to try the 9/11 suspects in New York City civil court. Federal courts were remarkably successful in trying to convict terror suspects. But the military only convicted three, compared to the federal justice, which convicted 99.

Obama's critics are saying that the president is "waffling" or showing indecisiveness about the policy in Afghanistan. But national and world well-being depends largely on his decisions.

It is way too late to bring back the resources we wasted in Iraq, thousands of young people and billions of dollars. Iraq is still a mess, which brings us to the present. There is no money for a long-term commitment to Afghanistan. The only thing we are doing in Afghanistan is propping up one worthless government so corrupt funds are the main source of the most dangerous drug – heroin. And the people of Afghanistan are intent on getting as many of the military addicted to it as they can – the same thing as in Vietnam. It contributed to some broken lives coming home from that war. That's why it is so stupid to just say there is "a drug problem." There are a wide variety of controlled dangerous substances, including truly dangerous ones like heroin, crystal meth, and cocaine, and some that are almost completely benign, like marijuana.

The well-known writer Al Ginsberg wrote a poem about heroin called "Howl." I will only quote a few lines of it here, because it is long and difficult. But it begins with a few unfavorable lines: "I saw the best minds of my generation destroyed by madness; starving, hysterical, naked; dragging themselves through the negro streets at dawn looking for an angry fix..."

I couldn't believe it when heroin had arrived in Garrett County, but I heard about several people who overdosed on it and died in Garrett County Memorial Hospital. I felt it was my responsibility to expose my students to its horror by assigning "Howl." I hope it made a deep impact on them.

It doesn't make any sense that our county's drug squad focuses on an all-out battle against pot. I guess they believe it would be the easiest and least dangerous, since there are very few pot-smokers armed with automatic weapons. But they probably missed a major crystal meth lab below Negro Mountain with lots of automatic weapons when the feds busted it a few years ago. My students told me that it is much easier to find cocaine than pot around here. That is crazy.

Do you wonder why it takes so long to get health care reform? Insurance companies say they will raise the rates if it is passed, but they will raise the rates if it does not pass. The same applies to the big firms that are trying to scare the American people.

We are the land of the brave, and we should not allow these Fat Cats to make us afraid. Wake up and support this important reform. Thank you.

Adorable Adoptables

"MONKEY" NEEDS A HOME – Monkey, left, is a medium sized "Heinz 57" who is currently house at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. "She is somewhat cautious, so perhaps a home without small children where she would get one-on-one attention would be best," said a Humane Society spokesperson. Pictured next is a hound mix named Happy. "He may not look happy, but he would be if you adopted him and got him from behind bars," said the spokesperson. Also looking for homes are a Siamese mix and a vocal female feline named Snowball. "These and many other animals are available," said the spokesperson. "Last week's Max and Lacey were adopted, and several kittens went to rescue, which alleviated the crowded conditions in the cat room. But there are still the gray/white tuxedo brothers, a dark gray male, the two tabby siblings, two furry black cats, a new young medium-haired orange tabby, and many more to chose from. The Humane Society – a volunteer organization not affiliated with the county shelter – received and responded to nine neglect calls this week. Please be sure to provide food, water, adequate shelter, and necessary veterinary care for all your animals, large and small; it is a state law to do so." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday.

Smith, Davis Lead SHS Cross Country Teams To Fourth Place State Finish

Despite the muddy course at Hereford High School, the Southern High School boys' and girls' cross country teams managed it well and both brought home a fourth place finish, guided by Lindsey Smith and Shane Davis, at the Maryland Class 1A State High School cross country championship last Saturday.

The Rams were one of two teams, Bohemia Manor being the second, where both the boys' and girls' teams placed among the top five teams in the state. For as young a team as Southern is, this was quite a feat. According to the girls' head coach Steve Cosner, this accomplishment was better than he hoped.

"They may be a bit disappointed in the final results at the state meet, but they far outdistanced my thoughts on how they would do when our season started," said Coach Cosner. "Fourth in the state is pretty awesome with as young a team as we had."

Bohemia Manor took both the girls' and boys' team state titles, recording 22 points in the girls' race and 61 in the boys. Smithsburg was second with 102 in the girls' race, and was followed by Patterson Mill, third, 121; Southern, fourth, 128; Loch Raven, fifth, 143; Cambridge/S. Dorchester, sixth, 159; Perryville, seventh, 178; Manchester Valley, eighth, 186; Mtn. Ridge, ninth, 189; Fort Hill, tenth, 193; and Dunbar, eleventh, 301.

Allegany was second in the boys' race with 88 points, and was followed by Williamsport, third, 95; Southern, fourth, 153; Catoctin, fifth, 168; Patterson Mill, sixth, 179; Mtn. Ridge, seventh, 179; Cambridge/S. Dorchester, eighth, 183; Pikesville, ninth, 185; Loch Raven, tenth, 187; Boonsboro, eleventh, 209; Harford Technical, twelfth, 273; Fairmont Heights, thirteenth, 405; Forest Park, fourteenth, 428; Mardela, fifteenth, 433; Surrattsville, sixteenth, 456; and Snow Hill, seventeenth, 467.

Taking first in the state was Jennifer Cleary of Bohemia Manor in a time of 20:46. She was followed by teammates Emily Jeandell in second, and Jessica Peters in third, with times of 21:37 and 21:55, respectively. E. Mattson of Patterson Mill was fourth in 22:01; Savannah Fox of Perryville was fifth in 22:08; A. Schwientech of Patterson Mill was sixth in 22:12; Emily Krakowski of Bohemia Manor was seventh in 22:20; Emily Ruppel of Loch Raven was eighth in 22:21; Bailey Brooks of Bohemia Manor was ninth in 22:33; and A. Simmons of Cambridge/S. Dorchester was tenth in 22:36.

Leading the Southern girls' team was Smith, recording a time of 23:15 to place 17th in the state among 84 runners. She was followed by teammates Karis Weissgerber, 27th, 23:45; Ashley Upole, 34th, 24:33; Ashley Gordon, 37th, 25:15; Felicia Beeman, 38th, 25:18; and Summer Mossman, 43rd, 25:31. Katie Gindlesberger suffered an injury during the race and was unable to finish.

"I am really proud of the girls – they put their hearts into this race and this season," said Coach Cosner. "The course itself was an issue. It was very muddy after the rain they had that week, but the girls handled that extremely well – they are ready for next year!"

David Wilson of Smithsburg dominated the boys' field as he crossed the line in 16:38 for first place, more than a minute over Allegany's Ian MacFawn, who came in at 17:45 for second. The two had battled it out this past season and both were favored to win.

Following MacFawn in third place was Evan Hardy of Williamsport in 17:52; Evan Moser, Boonsboro, fourth in 17:56; George Hansrote, Mtn. Ridge, fifth in 18:00; Robbie Taylor, Allegany, sixth in 18:19; Ryan Pfarr, Bohemia Manor, seventh in 18:19; Cole Clifton, Bohemia Manor, eighth in 18:19; Nick Hanifee, Bohemia Manor, ninth in 18:24; and James Glassman, Loch Raven, tenth in 18:26.

As he has done most of the season, Davis led the Southern boys' team with his 21st finish in 19:25. This was Davis's first year on the cross country team as a senior. He was followed closely by sophomore Wyatt McBee who crossed two seconds later in 23rd place in 19:27. Jasper Tasker followed in 28th place in 19:46; Aaron Shotwell, 48th, 20:25; Andrew Clark, 56th, 20:41; Seth Lewis, 76th, 21:31; and Evan Rodcheaver, 78th, 21:39.

The Rams will be losing four seniors from both the girls' and boys' teams to graduation, but will not be without strong runners to carry them further next season.

"GARRETT STORM" BRINGS HOME THE BRONZE – Garrett Storm, Garrett County Special Olympics' new soccer team, recently brought home a bronze medal. The team trained for 10 weeks at the Oakland Community Center before competing at the state competition. The event was held at the Crown Sports Center in Salisbury on Nov. 1. The team played a total of three games to win the bronze. Pictured in front from left are Stacy Geroski and Matia Vanderbilt, area director. In the middle row, same order, are Virginia Simon, Zachary Harpole, and Jeff Michaels. Back row: Robert Broadwater, Wendy Seymour, and Roger Uber. Not available for the photograph were players Linda Murphy and Robert Osborne.

Brock Glotfelty Undefeated On McDaniel Mats

Former Northern High School wrestling standout Brock Glotfelty, Grantsville, is once again leading the McDaniel College wrestling team, as he is currently sporting a perfect personal record of 9-0.

Glotfelty, who competes in the heavyweight class, went 5-0 on Saturday in the Ursina Fall Brawl at Collegeville, Pa. He opened with a 5-0 decision over Owen Duffy of Maryland, then pinned both Jeremy Diley of Apprentice and Ryan Kreppel of Ursinus. He then recorded a 5-1 decision over Bobby Christopher of Gettysburg College in a semifinal round, and cruised to a 9-1 major decision of Ed Broderick of the College of New Jersey in the heavyweight championship bout.

Last Wednesday, with the Green Terror trailing York College, 19-16, a first-period pin by Glotfelty lifted McDaniel to a 22-19 team victory.

McDaniel will return to action at the Oneonta Red Dragon Invitational this Saturday.

Lakers Go 1-1 In Hoopfest, Then Nip Howard In Thriller

It was a 1-1 finish in the annual Railey Realty Hoopfest for the host Garrett College men's basketball team this past weekend, as the Lakers won their first game on Saturday over Mercyhurst, 75-63, but then let their second game slip away to Potomac State College on Sunday, 79-75.

The Lakers hosted Howard Community College last night and eked out a 79-78 victory.

Despite committing 20 turnovers in Saturday's contest against Mercyhurst, the Lakers jumped out in front of their opponents and held about a 10-point lead throughout most of the game. They were on top by a 35-22 margin at intermission.

Shawn Greenfield and Chris Hilliard were the top scorers for the Lakers, with 17 and 16 points, respectively, and Hilliard just missed a double-double, having grabbed nine rebounds.

Doma Ibrahim led Garrett on the boards with 10 of the Lakers' total of 25 rebounds, and former Southern High standout Jeff Stem just missed double figures in scoring, finishing with nine points.

B. Thomas and T. Kirkwood were the scoring leaders for Mercyhurst, recording 12 and 10 points, respectively.

"We were bigger than they were, so we were able to take advantage of them on the inside," said GC head coach Dennis Gibson.

In Sunday's match-up with Potomac State, the Lakers finished with a commanding 26-18 lead in goals, but the Catamounts netted 40 of 49 opportunities at the foul line and were able to rally from a six-point deficit in the final four minutes to record the win.

The Lakers, who trailed by a bucket, 37-35, at halftime, made good on 19 of 29 attempts at the charity stripe.

clock," Coach Gibson said. "We did not, and Potomac State did. They used their zone to limit our rebounding and we fouled them foolishly late in the game."

The Catamounts, who evened their record at 3-3, were led offensively by Darrell Patterson with a game-high 21 points, followed by Jordan Brooks with 16, Harley Brooks with 11, and Dalec Cromwell with 10.

"I give Shawn White [PSC coach] and his team all the credit," Gibson said. "They did not give up."

Named to the all-tournament team were Greenfield of Garrett, Patterson and brooks of Potomac State, and Germantown's Jonathan Taylor and Stephen Griffm.

In last night's thriller against Howard CC, Greenfield hit four three-pointers, six two-pointers, and went 5-for-7 at the foul line to record a career-high 29 points. His final free throw miss was intentional, negating an inbounds play by Howard CC in the final second of the game.

Freshman forward Hilliard finished with 16 points, including two clutch free throws to give the Lakers a tie with just 21 seconds remaining in the game. He added 10 rebounds for his second double-double of the season.

Dominique Goodwin just missed double figures, scoring nine points.

"I was extremely disappointed in our effort in our last game, maybe not just our effort, but our basketball IQ," Coach Gibson said. "We did not understand how to protect our lead late in the game. This time, we had to come back after being down five points with three minutes remaining. Greenfield was the deciding factor in that. But some other guys stepped up as well. Dominique Goodwin, a freshman guard, and Jeff Stem had their best games last night."

Howard was led offensively by Kyle Servance, who netted 27 points and, like Greenfield, drained four long-range buckets. Benny Iko finished with 16, and Torey Fassett chipped in with 11.

"We are the typical young team," Gibson added, "trying to figure out what works best for us. Howard may be the best team we have played so far, so it was great to see how we responded after our loss to Potomac State."

The Lakers will travel to Butler County CC (Pa.) this Saturday, and play at Allegany College of Maryland in Cumberland next Tuesday before taking a Thanksgiving break.

Lady Lakers Ready For "All Out, All The Time" Kind Of Season

The 2009 Garrett College Lady Lakers women's basketball team is set to open its season this Saturday with an away game at Columbus State Community College, and according to head coach Thea Garland, the women are ready for the season to begin.

"We are committed to our slogan 'all out all the time'," said Coach Garland. "Our goals are to become great student athletes, and to proudly represent Garrett College and the Garrett County community."

An athletic, and young, group make up this year's team, nine freshman on the lineup as well as seven sophomores.

The Lakers lost thier top athlete, Brittany Pendleton, an outstanding player, according to Garland. She will be replaced by incoming transfer sophomore Raven Brooks of Washington, D.C., and freshman Alice Abiya of Maryland, both who will try to fill the forward guard position.

Tyeshia Briscoe, Christina Spencer, Janay Collins, and Brionna Carter, all sophomores, will be returning as starters. Briscoe is a 5'7 forward guard from Maryland, and Spencer is a 5'4 guard from Washington, D.C.

As a freshman, Collins, a 6'0 forward from New York, was named to the All-Tournament and to the 2008-09 Maryland JUCO All Conference First Team. She led the Lakers with a 13.9 average in scoring, a 9.7 average in rebounds, and a 66 in field goal percentage.

Carter, a 5'8 forward guard from Maryland, was named to the Maryland JUCO All Conference Honorable Mention Team, also as a freshman.

Candace Phrance of Maryland and Kyara Rogers of New York both return as sophomore forwards for the 2009 season.

Incoming freshmen include Tashara Van Alstyne, a 5'5 guard from Virginia; Tanisha Williams, a 5'7 forward guard from Virginia; Raizel Benn, a 5'11 forward guard from Maryland; Marcia Bogan, a 5'5 guard from Virginia; Kwaiyera Davis, a 5'6 guard from New Jersey; Tiara Allen-Washington, a 5'3 guard from Maryland; Brittany Reeder, a 5'6 guard from Maryland; and Shauntae Miller, a 5'6 guard from Washington, D.C. Reeder and Miller will be red shirting for the season.

"The team is very dedicated and intense, which I believe will be our strengths this season," said Garland. "This is an athletic group of women who love to play basketball."

The Lady Lakers travel to Columbus State on Saturday and then to Allegany College of Maryland on Tuesday.

Early-Season Deer, Turkey Numbers Noted

Maryland deer hunters took advantage of mostly cool temperatures and a healthy deer population by harvesting an estimated 24,384 deer during September and October. This is a slight decline from last year's harvest of 25,655 deer for the same period.

During September and October, preliminary data indicate that bowhunters harvested 11,379 white-tailed and 269 sika deer, a 2% increase from last year. Crossbow hunters harvested 1,051 white-tailed and 30 sika deer, an 18% increase from last year.

Muzzleloader hunters struggled with difficult weather conditions in the early season and reported 11,245 white-tailed and 410 sika deer, 13% fewer deer than last year's early season harvest.

Overall, hunters reported taking 8,232 antlered and 16,152 antlerless deer so far this year.

"We are very satisfied to see hunters taking nearly twice as many antlerless as antlered deer," said DNR associated director for game management Pete Jayne. "Harvesting antlerless deer is a critical part of our deer management plan."

Fall turkey hunters reported harvesting 150 turkeys during the one week fall season that ended November 7, a decrease of 30% from 2008. As in the past, Allegany County reported the highest harvest with 67 turkeys, followed by Garrett (53), and Washington (30).

The decline in harvest is attributed to a below-average nesting season and a long-term decline in hunter participation this season.

Deer Firearm Season Opens November 28

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has announced that the two-week deer firearm season will open statewide on Saturday, Nov. 28. This popular season is a Maryland tradition for deer hunters, with nearly half of the annual deer harvest taken during this period.

"The two-week deer firearm season is the main event for many Maryland hunters," said DNR deer project leader Brian Eyler. "Deer hunters look forward to sharing time with family and friends in the woods and having venison on the table. The sizable harvest we expect during the hunt is also a critical part of DNR's deer management program and will help reduce deer-related conflicts and habitat damage."

Deer hunting regulations vary between the two deer management regions in Maryland. Region A consists of Garrett and Allegany counties, and Region B includes the remainder of the state.

Complete bag limits, season dates, and other deer hunting information can be found online by visiting www.dnr.maryland.gov/huntersguide. The 2009-2010 "Maryland Guide to Hunting & Trapping" is issued with each hunting license and contains detailed information about all of Maryland's hunting seasons and regulations.

Hunters are urged by DNR officials to inspect any permanent and portable tree stands before using them. Harness style safety belts should be used while climbing into or out of a tree stand, as well as while in the stand. Hunters are also reminded to always exercise the fundamental commandments of firearms safety.

Deer hunting provides outdoor recreation for over 68,000 Marylanders and contributes more than $150 million to the state's economy each year, according to the DNR.

A BUSY PLACE Is Garrett College's new Learning Resource Center, where students are pictured above utilizing the center's various types of state-or-the-art research technology.

New GC Learning Resource Center: Combining The Old With The New

Thanks to a modern learning resource center, Garrett College has successfully combined its traditional library with the latest in today's technology. The Learning Resource Center (LRC) offers its students and the community extensive resources for research, learning, and pleasure.

In an age when individuals want information at the drop of a hat, the college has learned that cutting-edge technology must be made available. While the LRC still offers thousands of printed publications for more traditional library users, it has been equipped with many technological must-haves, including wireless technology, SMART technology, and multimedia capabilities.

Opened in January of 2008 in a newly constructed building at the college, the LRC is designed as a tool for Garrett College students, as well as the Garrett community members.

"The Garrett College library is open to all Garrett County residents," said Dana Shimrock, director of the LRC. "Those in the community may check out books, DVDs, and audio books, and use the computers for personal research."

Shimrock added that the LRC is also an invaluable resource to the students of Garrett College. In fact, according to one student, it is one of the most popular places on campus. Students use the LRC for class work, research, personal use, tutoring, and studying, to name a few.

The LRC combines a traditional-style library with multiple technological resources to offer students a complete learning environment. Over 30 computer workstations and 20 laptops are on hand for LRC users. Wireless access is available throughout the LRC.

For an optimal learning experience, Shimrock said that many students attend class in state-of-the-art classrooms equipped with SMART technology. The LRC also boasts five group-study rooms fully equipped with multimedia capability for viewing, listening, or creating projects.

All of this technology is offered in an attempt to keep with the times, Shimrock said. Students do not use libraries like they once did. Since today, "students want the world at their fingertips." As Shimrock noted, new forms of communication and resources have to be adapted, and this has been done in the form of technology at the LRC.

"A lot of resources have been spent in an effort to keep up with technology," said Shimrock.

"The library has implemented programs designed to provide students with ease of access to information."

One of the ways the LRC has combined the traditional library with modern technology is through the E-brary.

"The E-brary contains over 18,000 electronic books that are available through the database," said Shimrock. "Students can log into the database from the comfort of their own homes and they can enjoy what the E-brary has to offer, especially in the area of reference books."

Technology can at times have its downside, and the wealth of oftentimes inaccurate information on the Internet could be viewed as one of those. In that regard, the LRC emphasizes information literacy, or learning how to find relevant information from sources and using the information effectively.

In addition to housing library services, the LRC also provides learning support services for GC students, including the language arts and math labs for students needing assistance in reading, writing, and math. The labs, as well as private testing and tutoring rooms, are part of the LRC's Academic Success Center.

All of the LRC's technology and resources are offered at the college in an environment that is conducive to comfort, relaxation, and learning. While sitting at one of the many custom-made tables or arm chairs, students are greeted with panoramic views of the mountains and open skies.

"If they still need more coziness, students can lounge around the LRC's brick fireplace," Shimrock said.

For additional information about the LRC, persons may telephone 301-387-3009 or go online and visit www.garrettcollege.edu/lrc.

AAUW: Helping Local Women Attain Their Educational Dreams

by Melissa Parker

Kayla McCrobie is well on her way to making her dreams come true. In September, she became a first-time college student at Garrett College. She has faced many obstacles along the way, but finally getting there is no surprise to McCrobie, who always knew she would make something of herself

Still, the road has been challenging. A few years ago, McCrobie was married, an expectant mother, and a senior in high school. Although this was the life McCrobie had chosen and desired, she found it difficult to be a high school student in her situation. As a result, she decided to leave high school.

Always a driven young woman, McCrobie didn't let those barriers stand in her way for long. She soon earned her GED and set her sights on a bigger goal: college.

McCrobie decided to investigate Garrett College, since it was close to home and, she said, seemed to be student-focused. During her research, she learned about an organization that would soon have a huge impact on her life. She discovered that the AAUW (American Association of University Women), an organization which promotes education and equity for women and girls, could help her in her efforts to go to college.

McCrobie applied for and was awarded the fittingly named Second Chances Scholarship, which is sponsored by Garrett County's chapter of AAUW. Although she admits the scholarship money certainly helped, she claims there was a greater benefit to being introduced to the AAUW.

"The support and encouragement I have received from the women of the AAUW is incredible," said McCrobie. "They are such an inspiration to me. They've helped give me the strength and motivation to move forward."

Another thing that has helped motivate McCrobie is her two daughters, who she says are the main reasons she's going to college.

"I want to show them that they can do anything they set out to do, regardless of the circumstances," McCrobie said.

KAYLA McCROBIE

The AAUW was founded in 1881 after a group of 17 college-educated women came together in hopes of establishing an organization that would open the doors of higher education to other women. Today, AAUW has more than 100,000 members, 1,000 branches, and 500 college and university partners.

The Garrett County chapter of the AAUW began 50 years ago with similar goals in mind. Today, the organization helps women and girls like McCrobie fulfill their educational dreams.

As part of this effort, the AAUW sponsors a program called Second Chances. The program, which is for women who have dropped out of college or have never attended college, gives participants an opportunity to learn about what resources are available to them. As part of the program, the AAUW awards a $500 scholarship, which this year went to McCrobie.

"I hope everything works out for Kayla," said Marilyn Moors, president of the Garrett County AAUW.

The Arts

ART STUDENTS CONTRIBUTE TO FESTIVAL OF TREES – Under the direction of teacher Cindy Ringler, Southern High School art classes have been involved with a student service learning project to assist with the Festival of Trees, an upcoming fundraising event for the Dove Center. Students used acrylic paint to decorate fabric squares that were then sewn together to serve as a decorative backdrop for the festival. From left are sophomores Brittany Judy and Jena Hardesty.

LOCAL ARTIST TO PROVIDE WORK FOR MUSIC FESTIVAL – Local artist Robert Yonke has been commissioned to provide artwork for the 2010 Delfest, the Del McCoury Music Festival, scheduled for May 27–30 at the Allegany County Fairgrounds, Cumberland. Yonke has a history of providing artwork for the music industry, with past projects including providing art for the International Bluegrass Music Association, the Red White and Bluegrass Festival, and several private collections. "We are excited to be working with a local artist this year," noted Rebecca Sparks of High Sierra Music. "Robert Yonke's work reflects a true appreciation for bluegrass and nature...a perfect combination for representing Delfest." Yonke is a member of the Garrett County Arts Council, Participating Artists of the Turkeyfoot Highlands (PATH), the Pittsburgh Watercolor Society, and the International Bluegrass Music Association. Delfest is presented by Maryland Mountainside in association with McCoury Music and High Sierra Music. The event includes four days of live music, workshops, arts and craft vendors, and a kids' area. The intial line-up for the 2010 events is the Del McCoury Band, David Grisman Bluegrass Experience, Dailey & Vincent, the Avett Brothers, and more. Additional information can be found at www.delfest.com. More of Yonke's work can be viewed at www.appalachianstudio.com.

Garrett County Artist's Work On Display At Cumberland Hospital

Garrett County artist Fred Peacock has recently sold a collection of four area landscapes and 68 small still -life paintings to the new Western Maryland Health System Hospital in Cumberland. Much of his inspiration comes from his home close to the wild and scenic Youghiogheny River.

The largely self-taught artist volunteers his time as a board member of the Garrett County Arts Council. He has had solo shows in Columbia, at the Garrett Council's Gallery Shop in Oakland, at Adventure Sports Center International, and at the Garrett College Art Gallery.

The work of local artists was a key design element of the new medical facility which had closely reviewed artists and their work before making purchases for interior spaces.

"I am honored to be among the artists selected to furnish original works," said Peacock.

The four large paintings Peacock sold to the hospital depict panoramic views of the Youghiogheny River near his home and represent the artist's unique method of layering oils to bring out the rich interactions of colors.

"Most of my paintings are composed with ten or more layers of paint," said Peacock. "After applying the first few layers to establish the picture's basic structure, I am engaged in a conversation with the painting. I step back several feet, ask the painting what it needs next and then, when I see the answer, I step up and respond in paint."

Peacock strives to create good representative paintings that are rewarding to look at for years – from across a room or from a few inches away.

Although he has taken a few art courses and workshops, Peacock has excelled as a painter from intense practice and exercises in oil painting. After a lifetime of dabbling in art and experiencing the light during time spent in Provence, France, during 2000, he has pursued his art seriously.

"The secret of learning to paint is thousands of hours of practice," said Peacock.

He grew up in Bethesda, Maryland, worked for thirty years as an economist, and retired to Garrett County with his wife Erin in 2003. Much of his work portrays his feeling for the majestic beauty of the river and the woods, and he has recently pursued small but meticulous paintings of pears and peaches, to improve what he calls his rendering "of the edge between light and shadow." Sixty-eight of these 6"x8" still-life paintings will be displayed in two large groupings in the dining area of the hospital.

SHUTTER ISLAND

by Dennis Lehane, read by Tom Stechschulte

C. 2009, HarperAudio, $19.99; 8 CDs, 9½ hours

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Sometimes you think you're losing your mind. You put something down and five minutes later, you can't remember where you set it. Half your time is spent losing things; the other half, looking for them. Your memory is – pffft – gone.

When U.S. Marshall Teddy Daniels is assigned to find a killer, he knows she couldn't have gone far. But in the rereleased novel Shutter Island by Dennis Lehane, Teddy has to fight off his memories before he can start looking.

Marshall Teddy Daniels hated water. He hated it when his father took him out on a boat, and he hated it while traveling to his new assignment. Hunched over a toilet, retching, he thought about why he agreed to take this case.

Shutter Island was remote and surrounded by water. A ferry came in once every few days, and was the only way off the island. And that was good, because most of the people who lived there were orderlies, guards, or inmates.

Shutter Island was the home of Ashcliffe Hospital for the Criminally Insane. Only the worst, most delusional killers were sent there. And one of them had escaped.

Rachel Solando was, judging by her photo, once a beautiful woman. But when her husband went away to war, something snapped and she drowned her three children in a nearby lake. Now Rachel Solando was missing somewhere on Shutter Island. She couldn't have gone far. Yet, nobody could find her.

But Rachel Solando wasn't the only reason Teddy Daniels took the assignment. Years ago, Teddy was happy and in love. His Delores was a beauty, and the honeymoon never ended. On the day she died, Delores begged Teddy to stay home, but he had to go to work. They fought, and angry words were the last he'd hear her say.

He thought often about the fire that killed her, and about Andrew Laeddis, the firebug who set the inferno and who resided at Shutter Island. If Teddy could find Rachel, Laeddis would be easy to locate. Then Teddy would get the revenge he desperately needed.

As he searched for both Rachel and Laeddis, Teddy began to believe that something was wrong; a little...off. Shutter Island wasn't what it seemed. But then, neither was he.

Like many people, I listen to audiobooks in my car while I'm driving. In this case, I made up excuses to go places, just so I could listen to Shutter Island.

Author Dennis Lehane grabs you from the outset of this story and never lets you go, through twists and turns and gasps of plot. Teddy Daniels is a complex man with ghosts in his soul, and Lehane does a stellar job of writing emotion, from loss to love, confusion to fear. Add the incredible acting of reader Tom Stechschulte, and you have an audiobook you won't want to stop listening to.

Originally published in 2003 and recently released as a movie, listen to this novel before heading to the theatre. Without a doubt, Shutter Island is an audiobook to search for.

Enrollments Set New Record In State's Colleges

A highly positive report released yesterday by the Maryland Higher Education Commission announced that fall enrollment of undergraduates and graduate students at Maryland's colleges and universities soared by 5.2 percent, shattering a new record.

MHEC's 2008 fall total enrollment also set a record of 3.5 percent, making this year's record 1.7 percent higher than last year's.

Total headcount at Maryland's two- and four-year public and independent colleges and universities increased by 5.2 percent since 2008. This is a gain of 17,641 students. Overall total headcount is 354,858.

Growth at Maryland's community colleges was the highest, increasing by 9.3 percent (11,938 students) and accounting for more than two-thirds (67.7 percent) of the growth in post-secondary enrollments. This is a major difference in last year's community college fall enrollment figure, which was 46.2 percent.

Growth at Maryland's public four-year campuses grew by 3.0 percent (4,554 students). Enrollment at the state's independent colleges and universities increased by 2 percent (1,149 students), an uptick of just 0.2 percent last year.

"Clearly, students in every segment of our post-secondary institutions are seeing that Maryland offers outstanding colleges and universities, and are eager to attend them," Governor Martin O'Malley said. "Students and their parents are seeing that what we have to offer our college

"She has two little girls, and she would like to be a technician at the hospital. These are her dreams, and we want to help make realizing her dreams possible."

McCrobie says she is certainly thankful to the organization for its part in her ability to realize her dreams, but going to college has been a goal of hers from the very beginning.

"When I was a little girl, I used to play school and doctor," McCrobie said. "I dreamed of growing up and becoming a teacher or a doctor. Even today, my ultimate dream is to be an obstetrician."

Although McCrobie says she would love to become a physician, she doesn't believe she can do it and also have the big family she desires. She knows she has the ability to do it, but her family comes first, she said. Her "Plan B" is to become an ultrasound technician, which will keep her in the medical field and around expectant mothers.

To prepare for this career, McCrobie is majoring in pre-radiology technology at Garrett. She hopes to transfer to Allegany College of Maryland in Cumberland. If for some reason she doesn't get into the competitive program at Allegany, she plans to stay at Garrett to complete a business degree and help her husband fulfill his dream of opening his own business.

Helping others fulfill their dreams is something else that McCrobie has gained partially from the AAUW.

"The AAUW women have inspired me to help other people I know who need it, like my mom and sister," she said. "I've been able to tell them that you can't rely on dead-end jobs. You have to go to college, get a degree, and make something of yourself. The AAUW has helped me realize that. I'm the first in my family to go to college, and they've helped me believe that I can do it."

In addition to the Second Chances scholarship, the AAUW also sponsors a Garrett College Foundation scholarship, as well as a scholarship for women who have finished at Garrett and wish to pursue a four-year degree. AAUW scholarships are made possible through fundraisers, such as the organization's annual summer yard sale and via proceeds from the annual Tall Tales Festival, which is held in conjunction with the Autumn Glory Festival.

For additional information on the AAUW or AAUW scholarships, persons may telephone Marilyn Moors at 301-746-4057.

In Loving Memory of
Jeff Roszell
4-20-67 - 11-13-97

Rejoice, for beyond this life there is another
One that is more desirable but yet easily obtainable.
No more pain, sorrow or tears.
The days are long and bright.
There are smiles and laughter and more smiles. ☺
The loss of one so loved causes pain
Sometimes we feel is unbearable —
Our strength comes from believing and having faith in our Lord. Another year has passed. The pain is still there, but yet knowing what is beyond makes it more bearable.
Rejoice, we who are sad hearted. We mourn our joys who are departed. A better place this day they will be.
Despair not for Jeff is near. Look, standing by the door. Who best can help cheer you and He bids you weep no more.

Love you more now than ever,
Mom, Dad, Bill, Susanne, Ed, Brenda & Ryan

Thank You!
At this season of giving thanks, the staff of Dennett Road Manor wishes to thank Carole Cuppett for being one of Garrett County's most outstanding employers. Thanks to her dedication and care, Dennett Road Manor is a wonderful place to live and work.
We are proud to be her employees.
Happy Thanksgiving, Carole!

Bethany Ann Savage And Michael R. Hammer Are Married In June Ceremony

Bethany Ann Savage and Michael Richard Hammer exchanged wedding vows on June 27 at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland. The Reverend Dr. C. Scott Robinson performed the 5:30 p.m. ceremony. Muriel Franc served as the organist, and Susan Peterson accompanied on the piano and flute and performed a duet with Rev. Robinson, who played guitar.

The bride is the daughter of Terry and Carol Savage, Oakland. She is the granddaughter of Floretta Savage, also of Oakland. Bethany graduated from Southern High School in 2000 and from West Virginia University in 2004 with a degree in business administration and marketing. She is employed as a pharmaceutical representative with Publicis for Pfizer, and is a cheerleader for the Washington Redskins.

The groom is the son of Charles and Valerie Hammer, Fairfax, Va. He is a 1999 graduate of Robinson High School, Fairfax, and a 2003 graduate of Georgetown University with a bachelor's degree in political science. He is employed by Clark Construction of Bethesda as a project superintendent.

Serving as matron of honor was Brianne (Meyers) Rowh, Columbia. The bridesmaids were Megan (Mahaffey) Hamerski, Frederick, friend of the bride; Holly Hammer, Santa Monica, Calif., sister of the groom; Julie Hammer, Chapel Hill, N.C., sister-in-law of the groom; Heather Hanline, Charlotte, N.C., friend of the bride; Leigh Huckabee, Pittsburgh, Pa., friend of the bride; Elizabeth Losi, Reston, Va., friend of the bride and groom; Leslie Menich, Myrtle Beach, S.C., friend of the bride; and Emily (Nemith) Saunders, Winston-Salem, N.C., friend of the bride.

Serving as best man was Mac Hammer, Chapel Hill, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Michael Chiara, Pat Collins, Kyle Sweeney, and Trevor Walker, all of New York City and friends of the groom; Matthew Fassnacht, friend of the groom, Burke, Va.; John MacDonnell, Washington, D.C., friend of the groom; and Matthew Manning, Burke, Va., friend of the groom. Ryan Hammer, nephew of the groom, was the ring bearer.

Following the ceremony, the wedding party was transported from the church on the Oakland Fire Department's old "Number 1" antique fire truck, driven by John Feather. This was to honor the memory of Stanley Savage, grandfather of the bride, who had served as a fire chief of the department.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. Entertainment was provided by Gonzo's Nose, a popular band from Washington, D.C.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents on June 26 at their rental home on Deep Creek Lake.

The couple traveled to St. John's, U.S. Virgin Islands, for their honeymoon. They now reside in Alexandria, Va.

Marriage Permits Recently Issued

Two couples recently applied for their marriage licenses, according to Sondra R. Buckel, clerk of the Garrett County Circuit Court.

Julian Sergeevich Ostrogorsky, 20, and Pattyann Gallagher, 22, both of Oakland.

can be treated like seasonal flu, with plenty of fluids, rest, and over-the-counter fever reducers. Symptoms of flu include fever, cough, and sore throat, and in some cases, chills, headache, fatigue, vomiting, diarrhea, and/or shortness of breath.

As with seasonal flu, a small percentage of people who are infected with H1N1 may have more serious symptoms. Serious underlying health conditions such as diabetes or a weakened immune system increase the chance of complications and death from flu-related illnesses. Persons who have a flu-like illness as well as these underlying conditions and/or begin to experience emergency warning signs are strongly urged to contact their health care providers as soon as possible.

In most cases, physicians' offices can offer needed assistance with these complaints. Services of the emergency room should not routinely be used for milder flu-like symptoms, Lee-Steckman said.

She added that good personal hygiene can reduce the risk of illness, including washing hands often, covering one's mouth with a sleeve when coughing or sneezing, and staying home when flu symptoms are present.

Once sufficient vaccine has been made available to address priority populations, the health department and local providers will begin offering vaccinations to the general public.

For more information, persons may telephone the health department's 24-hour Flu Information Line at 301-334-7697 or 301-895-3113. Information for flu prevention and tentative vaccination schedules is also available online at www.garretthealth.org.

"2112 ARMATURE" BY IAN JOBE received a second-place award during the recent "Rethink Recycling" Sculpture Contest. Ian is an 11th grade student at Southern High School. See story for a complete list of other winners.

2009 Regional "Rethink Recycling" Sculpture Contest Winners Named

Twenty-two students from Southern and Northern Garrett County high schools recently competed in the 5th annual regional "Rethink Recycling" Sculpture Contest. Prizes were awarded for first and second place for each grade entered (10th–12th). The event is sponsored each year by the county's Solid Waste and Recycling Division.

First-place prizes were awarded to Sarah Glotfelty, a 10th grade student from Northern High; Keesha Fazenbaker, 11th grade, Northern; and Heath Naylor, 12th grade, Southern.

Second-place prizes were awarded to Josh Tichinel, 10th grade, Northern; Ian Jobe, 11th grade, Southern; and Laura Schroyer, Northern, and Megan Matthews, Southern, who tied for second place in the 12th grade level.

Dr. William Yant made a "generous" donation, which enabled both Laura and Megan to receive second-place prizes, explained county recycling coordinator Kimberly Madigan.

"Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling is very proud of all the students who participated in the contest," Madigan said. "The sculptures were outstanding. This year's judges – Dr. Yant, Debra McCombs, and Tom Shimrock – commented on the creativity used in the sculptures and what a tough job it was to select winners from all of the exciting entries."

In addition to Yant, the regional contest was made possible by donations from the following businesses and individuals: Coca-Cola Enterprises, Madigan's Auto Sales, Smiley's Pizzeria and Pine Lodge Steakhouse, Wal-Mart, Garrett 8 Cinemas, Lakeside Creamery, Dr. Ihor Zakaluzny, Junior Woman's Civic Club, Mtn. Laurel Garden Club, Sunrise Sanitation Services Inc., and Ours Auto Salvage.

The Garrett County Arts Council also awarded an Opportunity Grant in support of this event.

Selected sculptures will be displayed at the council's Gallery Shop in Oakland until Saturday, Dec. 5. An art reception is scheduled for this Saturday, Nov. 21, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Gallery.

For more information, persons may contact Madigan at 301-387-0322 or kmadigan@garrettcounty.org.

ART STUDENTS "RETHINK" RECYCLING – Northern and Southern high school students recently participated in the "Rethink Recycling" Sculpture Contest, creating works of art from "trash." Several of the sculptures are currently on display at the Gallery Shop in Oakland. A reception will be held for the students this Saturday, Nov. 21, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. See story for details. Recycled Art On Display At Oakland Gallery

The Garrett County Arts Council, in cooperation with Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling Division, is currently hosting an exhibit of recycled art created by local high school students. A reception for the young artists will be held Saturday, Nov. 21, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Gallery Shop in downtown Oakland.

The fifth annual "Rethink Recycling" sculpture contest was held for Garrett County students, grades 9-12. The contest encouraged area youth to create sculptures made of materials repurposed and incorporated into a work of art. The work was judged on creativity, workmanship and use of materials, and the variety of recycled materials was considered in the judging.

"The sculpture contest challenges students to innovatively and artistically use recycled materials as a solution to waste reduction," said Kim Madigan, recycling coordinator for Garrett County.

Working with their school art teachers, students use problem-solving skills to create a sculpture made of recycled materials and explore an environmental issue through art. The project allows students to understand there are many opportunities to reduce waste in everyday activities while allowing them to express their creativity.

"The contest enables us to educate and empower students and the general public to reuse and recycle materials that would have otherwise gone to disposal," said Madigan. "The sculpture contest and judging ceremony is a great opportunity to celebrate the efforts of local student artists and for promoting waste prevention to the general public."

Four winners from the local contest then traveled to Baltimore to the Maryland Department of the Environment Headquarters to participate in the statewide contest. After competing in the state contest, the students were given the opportunity to visit the American Visionary Art Museum located at Baltimore's Inner Harbor.

The "Rethink Recycling" exhibit is on display now through December 5 at the Gallery Shop, 206 East Alder Street, Oakland. Funding for the project is made possible through various corporate and civic sponsors. The primary sponsor is the Garrett County Arts Council.

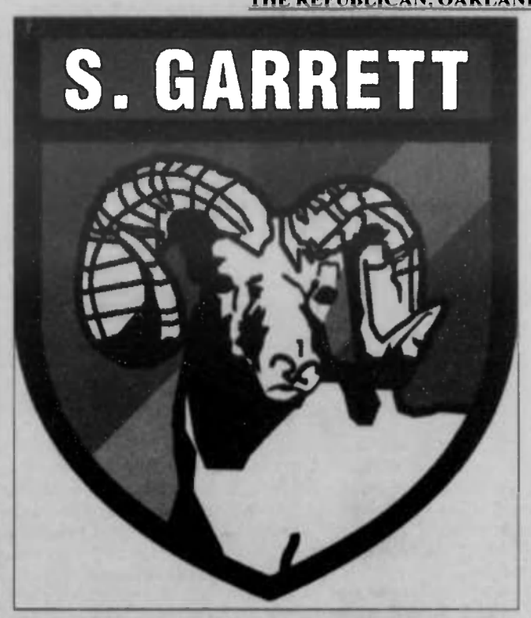
PEER COUNSELORS RAFFLING WAL-MART GIFT CARD

The drawing will be held Monday, Dec. 7, and tickets are one for $1 or six for $5. Those interested should contact Kelley Davis or a peer counselor to purchase tickets. The Secret Santa program gives unexpected gifts to students in need at the school. Donations from the community to support the Secret Santa program are also welcomed.



SHS AWARDED JROTC CREST AND PATCH – Southern High School's JROTC members were recently awarded a shoulder insignia and unit crest, approved by the U.S. Army's Institute of Heraldry. According to the Institute, both uniform accoutrements were approved this past March. The actual patch and crest were not received until this fall. "The process for gaining the Institute's permission began in December 2008," noted Lt. Col. (ret.) Ralph Sheaffer. "It was then that we submitted a proposed drawing by one of our cadets, Blain Stemple." Sheaffer also noted that it was a critical first step to ensure the school's JROTC battalion was authorized to wear the patch and crest. "By receiving authorization, our cadets are in a unique status," stated Sgt. 1st Class (ret.) Mike Kulcsar. "The authorization also ensured that the purchases of these items would be possible through U.S. government funding." Above left is the shoulder loop insignia or crest, and above right is the shoulder sleeve insignia patch. Both are red and white, which are SHS school colors, and both are centered around the school's mascot, a ram, which represents strength, endurance, and intelligence. The chevron on the crest and the water within it symbolize the Appalachian Mountains and the Potomac and Youghlogheny rivers. The coats of arms is taken from the Maryland state flag.

THE RAMPAGE SEEKING STUDENT WORK

The Rampage, SHS's online literary magazine, is seeking student submissions to showcase. Any students who writes poetry, short stories, or any other type of creative writing or enjoy creating artwork are invited to submit their work. Any artwork or writing submitted will be published in the online magazine. This can be work students have done in class or on their own time. Those interested should stop by Susie Henline's office, Room 1227, to submit any work. Students are asked to submit a copy of their work, as it will not be returned.

Baker is charged with DUI, driving while impaired by alcohol, driving a vehicle with a court-ordered alcohol restriction, failure to drive right of center, speeding, and failure to display driver's license on demand. He was later released.

ZONE HEATING

by Dr. Thomas Sheahen

Q. Advertisements say I can slash my heating bill in half with a special infrared heater. How is that possible?

A. Infrared space heaters have been around for a long time; many decades ago, in the winter an auto mechanic in a large garage would set one right next to a car he was working on. The rest of the garage would get pretty cold, but it didn't matter. The entire advantage came from not heating space that wasn't being used. To this day, that is still the rationale for infrared space heaters.

These devices draw electricity out of the wall and run it through a filament, resistor, or copper bar that dissipates the energy and heats up. A baseboard heater does that too. The important question is whether or not the heat can be delivered to a nearby person. That's where various types of heat transfer methods make a difference.

The old infrared heaters got a filament hot enough to glow orange, which showed it was giving off a lot of infrared radiation. A metal reflecting surface was put behind that filament so as to send most of the heat forward – where the mechanic was working. The device didn't look very good, but the mechanic didn't care about that. The main trouble with those things was safety – you wouldn't want one inside a house or around children, because if it got knocked over, it might set fire to carpet or clothing. To find one of these anymore, go to estate sales at old homes.

The modern type of infrared heaters for indoor use are packaged safely and attractively, and can be moved around easily, even by children. Typically, room air is drawn in and blown over the hot element, entering the room. Details of size and airflow rate vary, but the underlying physics principle remains the same: Electricity from the wall gets converted into heat, which makes the air warm.

A baseboard heater likewise achieves the goal of warming the air. But for most homes, baseboard heating is considered inferior to heating with natural gas or propane. To generate the same amount of heat, the price of electricity is nearly always higher than propane or gas. For a while up through 2006, electricity prices in Maryland were held artificially low (about $0.067 per kWh), but now it costs around $0.10 per kWh, close to the national average. You won't hear much about anyone tearing out a gas system to put in baseboard heaters.

From a central gas-fired furnace in the basement, heated air is forced through ducts all over the house. Generally, a forced-air system heats the entire house, although it's possible to shut selected vents in some rooms. That way, an empty bedroom with the door closed can be allowed to get considerably cooler than the main household. When a homeowner constructs an addition or encloses a porch, baseboard heating might be added there to save the cost of running extra ductwork.

In a typical home, the thermostat is set to one position (perhaps 70° F) and left there, and the natural gas, propane or electric heating comes on frequently enough to keep the entire house warm.

However, now suppose that you don't really use much of your house all the time, because everyone is at school or work most of the daytime hours. If your evening consists of a meal in the dinette followed by a few hours in the family room, you could save heating costs by lowering the thermostat (to maybe 60° F) and only heating those few rooms that will be occupied during the time that someone is there.

That's where a portable infrared heating device can help. If you're heating only one small zone instead of the entire house, you might save some money. How much you'll save depends on several factors, the foremost of which is "How far down are you willing to turn your main thermostat?"

Later at night, when people go off to their bedrooms, an electric blanket can be used to keep a person warm while the rest of the bedroom stays very chilly. In fact, an electric blanket is probably the very best illustration of "zone heating."

Can you actually save half of your total heating cost (that is, gas plus extra electricity)? I don't know anybody who can. You'd need to be a real Spartan and have plenty of extra clothing to live that way.

Using energy efficiently includes many common sense actions, such as shutting off the lights when a room is empty. Not heating a space when nobody's there falls in the same category. But the time comes when you realize you might want to go into that space, and then your comfort and convenience trade off against a lower heating bill.

In the final analysis, the money saved comes not from substituting electricity for other fuels, but from behavioral changes.

Springs Mennonite Church Schedules Christmas Caravan

Springs (Pa.) Mennonite Church will host its 7th annual Christmas Caravan on Saturday, Dec. 5, from 1 to 7 p.m. Registration is required to participate and is limited to adults. Sign-up will be held in the church basement from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

"Set aside Dec. 5 for an afternoon and evening with friends to share this holiday joy by learning the holiday traditions of others in our community," said a spokesperson.

The church is located along Rt. 669 at 1685 Springs Road. It is approximately three miles from Rt. 40 in Grantsville and six miles from Salisbury, Pa.

Homes in the Springs, Salisbury, Grantsville, and Accident areas will be toured. A booklet listing the driving directions to the homes and a personal explanation of each family's traditions is given at registration. Information regarding various supporting businesses is also included in the booklet.

Names of host families are not released in advance for privacy reasons, and each family has the option to decide how much of their home they want to be viewed.

There is no set fee for the caravan. Instead, participants are requested to make a freewill donation that will be used to help offset the costs of future missions travel.

"Missions are an important part of our ministry at Springs Mennonite Church," the spokesperson said. "We hope to be able to encourage more individuals to serve by being able to provide financial support. Generous donations the day of the caravan will help ensure this will happen."

The congregation presently has a team of volunteers serving as part of a weeklong Mennonite Disaster Service project in Louisiana.

Caravan Committee members are Debbie Brenneman (chair), April Hershberger, Kim Miller, and Carolyn Tice (booklet editor/publisher).

Approximately 150 persons participate in the caravan each year. Anyone interested in being a host next year is invited to call Brenneman at 814-662-2946.

A BIG LEAP IN HEARING TECHNOLOGY

The best of today's hearing instruments mimic the natural hearing ability of the Chinese Torrent frog. Recent research has shown that this amphibian is one of the only animals (including bats and dolphins) that can make long-distance ultrasonic calls to its mating partners. Moreover, it is able to block out environmental background noise so that it can localize the ultrasonic love calls from female Chinese Torrent frogs extremely accurately. Thus, these frogs have something very much in common with many of today's digital hearing instruments that employ technology that separates sounds and boosts volume levels of the ones that listeners want to hear. As a result, hearing instrument users are able to hear conversation above the background noise.

If you or someone close to you are considering wearing a hearing aid, your timing couldn't be better. Today's combination of technology and cosmetic appeal opens up a whole new world of hearing possibilities. You can always rely on AUDIBEL to address your needs on a one-to-one basis. Our goal is to find the most appropriate solution to each individual's particular hearing concerns.

P.S. Advanced digital hearing instruments can be programmed for different environments with varying levels of background noise, as well as automatically adapt to different settings based on the level of ambient noise.

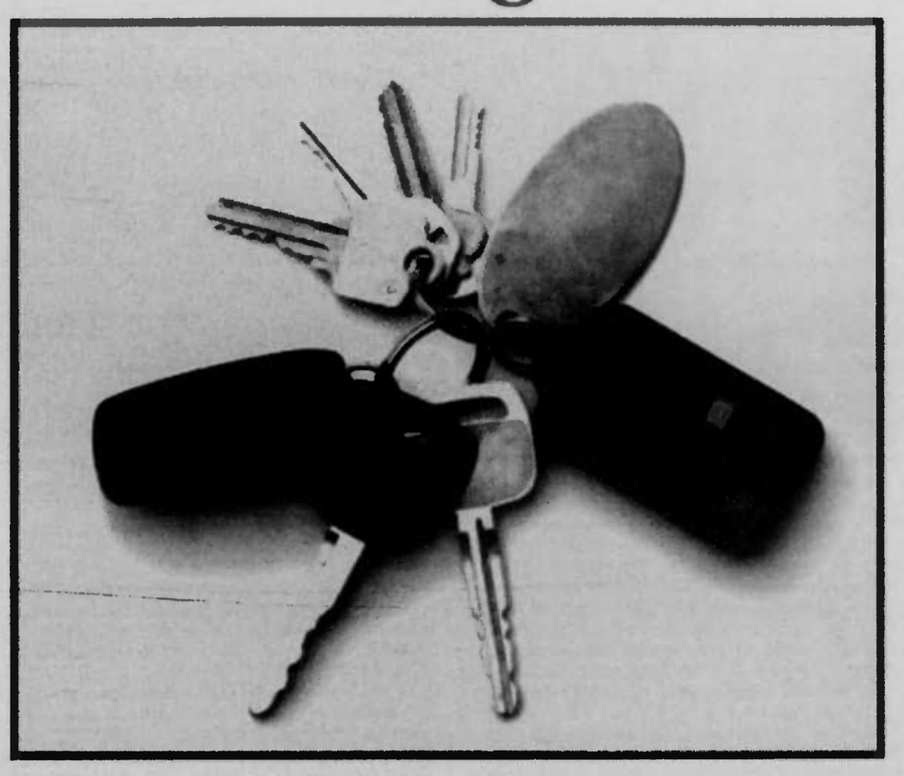
First Things First



"Lost the keys again...they'll never turn up in this mess...we need some organization around here...no time right now, maybe later!" Most of us can recognize ourselves in this scenario. What can we do about it? Perhaps we can reassess our priorities and put first things first.

In Matthew 6:33, God makes this promise..."But seek first His kingdom and His righteousness, and all these things will be given to you as well." Maybe we acknowledge our need for weekly worship, but we feel weary or just "too busy". This week, put God first! Spend time with Him and He will take care of the rest.

Instruct the Ignorant

The second of the spiritual works of mercy is to instruct the ignorant. Like the first (to warn the sinner), this must be entered into with a spirit of mercy and humility. No one thinks of himself as ignorant, so our teaching may come across as pedantic and pharisaic. There is often also the further difficulty presented by one's social status or station in life. Parents and elders seldom take kindly to being instructed by children. A student may feel that she should correct her teacher, though this may be very difficult to do with tact and discretion. And one should remember, that we are not called upon to remedy the world's ignorance on all matters great and small. It is better to teach people about things that directly and positively impact their lives, than on more arcane matters. Teaching a person how to drive may help them with their transportation needs; teaching them how to drive safely and the importance of wearing safety belts may save their life. We all have something to teach others. We should reflect on how we can share our knowledge with others and thus make the world a better place.

Let the world of Christ dwell in you richly, as you teach and admonish one another in all wisdom...

R.S.V. Colossians 3:16

Management of Parkinson's Symptoms

Parkinson's disease is a condition characterized by progressive neurologic deterioration. A neurotransmitter chemical known as dopamine plays a large role in the development of Parkinson's. Other neurotransmitter substances that may be involved include acetylcholine, glutamate, serotonin, and norepinephrine. Symptoms include tremor, rigidity, and changes in posture.

While there is currently no cure for Parkinson's, medications are available to manage the condition and to improve the quality of life of those affected. Levodopa is prescribed for Parkinson's because it is converted to dopamine in the body. Carbidopa is given along with levodopa because this additional medication prevents nausea and vomiting that could occur when levodopa is taken alone. Sinemet is made up of levodopa and carbidopa. Medications that directly stimulate dopamine receptors include bromocriptine and ropinirole. Selegiline inhibits monoamine oxidase B (MAOB), an enzyme involved in Parkinson's, thereby increasing both dopamine and serotonin. Entacapone and tolcapone increase dopamine by inhibiting an enzyme involved in the condition. Stalevo contains carbidopa, levodopa, and entacapone.

USA takes 'Pains' to continue a hit series

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: What happened to the series "Royal Pains," which was shown on USA Network? Will we be seeing it again? –Loretta Rogers, Scranton, Ark.

A: We will, but likely not until summer. It's no surprise the Mark Feuerstein-starring show was renewed, since during its initial run, it earned some of the highest ratings of any original cable series to date. In fact, four more episodes have been ordered for the upcoming second round than for its freshman season, so you can look forward to 16 new stories.

Q: My husband and I have been enjoying reruns of "Bones" and "The Closer" since discovering them on TNT, but we can't find current episodes. Are the shows still in production? –Avonne McLaughlin, Seattle

A: You may not be aware that the "Bones" episodes being shown by TNT are repeats of shows that originally aired on Fox, where the Emily Deschanel-David Boreanaz series currently is in its fifth season on Thursdays.

As for "The Closer," its fifth season actually isn't over yet. TNT has split that, as it tends to do with some of its original series, and three new episodes of the Kyra Sedgwick police drama are coming on Mondays in December (with the first scheduled for Dec. 7).

Q: Are there plans to release seasons 14 and 15 of "ER" on DVD? –Mickey McCallister, Plano, Texas

Mark Feuerstein

A: Well, seasons 12 and 13 have to be released first. The 12th year of the former NBC medical drama is set to be issued by Warner Home Video on Jan. 12. You can bet the others will follow, since the releases never would have gotten this far if the series hadn't been selling well. They've been averaging two seasons each year, so we'd expect the 13th round also to hit shelves in 2010, with the final two seasons likely to be available on DVD in 2011.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was Harry S. Truman, the 33rd president of the United States, who made the following sage observation: "It's a recession when your neighbor loses his job; it's a depression when you lose yours."

• In all likelihood, you've never heard of an ailment known as aquagenic urticaria. It's extremely rare, affecting only 1 out of every 23 million people on the planet. Those who suffer from this disease are hypersensitive to the ions found in non-distilled water. They can drink distilled water, but if they come into contact with any other kind of water, they break out in a painful allergic rash.

• The country of Finland has more islands than any other nation on Earth.

• Next time you're heading to sunny Florida for a vacation, try to make it to Key Largo to stay at the Jules Undersea Lodge. True to its name, the hotel is located 21 feet under water, and guests have to scuba dive to the entrance. And if you don't already know how to scuba dive, don't worry — the management offers a two-hour introduction so you can make it to your room.

• Someone with way too much time on his hands discovered that a quarter has 119 grooves along its edge.

• From the Yes, There Is a Word for It files comes today's entry: acnestis. This word denotes that part of the body that you cannot reach to scratch (and it's an excellent reason to get married). This handy noun comes from the word "aknestis," which, perhaps unsurprisingly, means "spine" in Greek.

Thought for the Day: "Women speak because they wish to speak, whereas a man speaks only when driven to speech by something outside himself — like, for instance, he can't find any clean socks." — Jean Kerr

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Nov. 27, 1095, Pope Urban II makes perhaps the most influential speech of the Middle Ages, giving rise to the Crusades by calling all Christians in Europe to war against Muslims in order to reclaim the Holy Land. Between 60,000 and 100,000 people responded to Urban's call to march on Jerusalem.

• On Nov. 28, 1914, the New York Stock Exchange reopens for bond trading after nearly four months, the longest stoppage in the exchange's history. The outbreak of World War I in Europe forced the NYSE to shut its doors on July 31, 1914, after large numbers of foreign investors began selling their holdings.

• On Nov. 26, 1922, cartoonist Charles M. Schulz is born. In 1947, Schulz began drawing a comic strip for the St. Paul Pioneer Press called "L'il Folks," featuring Charlie Brown and his gang of friends. Chamber Has Orientation Mtg. For Membership

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce held a membership orientation on Monday. Member benefits were reviewed in detail, including web site presence, member representation, marketing opportunities, group benefits, and networking event details.

Members also received contact information for chamber staff, along with details on volunteer opportunities for various chamber committees.

"In addition to learning how the chamber serves your business and how you can become active, perhaps the biggest benefit of the monthly chamber membership orientation sessions is making the connection to other members of the business community," said Joyce Bishoff, interim president of the chamber. "The chamber becomes stronger as our members get to know each other and work together toward our common interest."

For more information about the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, persons may telephone 301-387-4386 or go online to www.garrettchamber.com.

Contestants For Pageants Being Sought

The board of directors of the Miss Washington County/Miss Western Maryland Scholarship Foundation is extending an invitation to area young women between the ages of 13 and 24 to compete in the annual production and competition for 2010. Last year over $7,000 in scholarships were awarded, with every contestant receiving a scholarship.

The event will be held Saturday, Feb. 20, at 7 p.m. at the Kepler Theater on the campus of Hagerstown Community College. Four winners will be selected: Miss Washington County 2010 and Miss Western Maryland 2010, and their teen counterparts, Miss Washington County Outstanding Teen 2010 and Miss Western Maryland Outstanding Teen 2010.

The winners will represent the four-county area in the annual Miss Maryland Scholarship competition and the Miss Maryland Outstanding Teen competition at the Maryland Theatre in Hagerstown next June.

In order to be eligible to participate in the Wester Maryland competition, a contestant must live, work, or attend school in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, or Frederick County. In order to compete for the Washington County titles, a contestant must have been a Washington County resident for at least the past six months.

The five areas of competition are interview, evening wear, physical fitness in swimsuit for Miss, physical fitness in sportswear for Teens, on-stage question, and talent. There is no entrance fee for Miss contestants, and a nominal fee for Teen contestants. The Miss competition is for young women ages 17-24 and at least a high school senior status. The teen competition is for girls ages 13-17, but not yet a high school senior.

All contestants will be required to attend an orientation on Saturday, Jan. 9, from 8:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. at the Plaza Hotel, Hagerstown. Parents are welcome to attend. Professional photos will be taken at 8:30 a.m.

This competition is part of the Miss America Scholarship Program and Miss America Outstanding Teen Program, which is the largest source of scholarships for young women in the world, last year awarding over $45 million on the local, state, and national levels.

Those interested in either the Miss or Teen competitions are urged to contact Barbara Carson at 301-733-6340 or Denise Apple at 304-274-2346 as soon as possible for more information and to register for the orientation.

Seems like yesterday, the love they would show
Seems like yesterday, their faces that would glow

Seems like yesterday, they were sitting in their chair
Seems like yesterday, the smell of their cooking in the air

Yesterday has gone and passed us by, but wipe your tears and look up to the sky. They are waiting for us in heaven above...beside the Lord with His eternal love
So let's remember yesterday and look forward to tomorrow...in heaven together with our mother, grandma, sisters and Aunt Hazel, where there is no sorrow.

THE POWER OF POSITIVE CHOICES DISPLAYED – The G-Force Strength Team visited Aurora Elementary School recently to talk to students about the importance of making positive life choices and avoiding such negative influences as drugs and alcohol. The team also displayed feats of strength, including tearing phonebooks in half, bending steel bars, and lifting students high into the air with ease. Pictured is G-Force member Mammoth lifting Savannah Arnett and Arianna Villar. Following the program, the school conducted its All-Star Bears assembly and positive behavior prize drawing. "Aurora School would like to thank all students, parents, and staff for their participation in the program," said Principal Brad Martin.

BEYOND THE LOUSY LOANS

Yes, it's true, many lenders in recent years have written subprime mortgages that could only be expected to default. However, foreclosure is nothing new, and there are myriad reasons that a homeowner might be facing dire straits.

Challenges might include economic hardship due to job loss, bad health or divorce, or payments that jumped too high after a rate adjustment, or simply increased cost of living outpacing income.

Whatever the reasons, the best way to avoid foreclosure is to be well educated and prepared before making a home purchase, and anticipating worst-case scenarios before choosing the loan that is right for you.

If default appears inevitable, know that there is help available, with a "short sale" being the last resort for resolution. Such a transaction is called "short," because the home is sold for less than the amount remaining on the mortgage, and the lender willingly accepts some of the loss.

If you're facing foreclosure, contact your lender's loss mitigation department immediately. While you are in the midst of negotiations, keep a log of all phone calls - the date, time, contact person and discussion. Lenders are overwhelmed right now, so be patient and don't expect an immediate answer.

Whether it's a loan adjustment or short sale, there is a solution to the problem. Your lender and your real estate agent are here to help.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call at the office or on my cell at 301-501-DALE

IT'S TIME!

With the economic situation this year, we expect great need...

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the 12th year, The Republican newspaper and the Civic Club of Oakland are asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is the WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM?

The Republican
GFWC Civic Club of Oakland

The Civic Club and The Republican's WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM is basically neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds are being used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administers the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special corps of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Members of the Civic Club of Oakland are taking the families shopping at Wal-Mart. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, long johns, jeans, boots, pajamas, or other needed winter items, spending up to $125 per child.

The Civic Club of Oakland is again heading up the volunteer/shopping coordination. Many volunteers are working together to make sure the children of Garrett County stay warm this winter.

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax-deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children.

Donations should be postmarked by December 5, 2009. Those collected after December 5 will be saved for next year's campaign.

AAA Projects That Thanksgiving Travel Will Increase 1.4 Percent

The Automobile Association of America (AAA) is forecasting 38.4 million Americans will be traveling 50 miles round trip or more away from home over the Thanksgiving holiday weekend, a 1.4 percent increase compared to that of last year's holiday.

The number of travelers by automobile is estimated to increase by 2.1 percent compared to that for 2009, with 33.2 million driving to their holiday destination. However, the number of air travelers is projected to decline by 6.7 percent, as 2.3 million take to the skies to reach their holiday destination.

Americans traveling by "other" means, including trains, watercraft, buses, and multiple-modes of transportation, is estimated at 2.9 million, an increase of 1.2 percent compared to last year's holiday figure, says AAA.

"This year's increase in Thanksgiving travel is another hopeful sign that economic conditions are stabilizing and improving in some areas across the country, as the U.S. sees improved consumer confidence, better financial market performance, and a growing sense among many consumers that the worst of the global economic crisis is behind us compared to a year ago," said Ragina C. Averella, manager of AAA's public and government affairs. "However, far too many Americans still remain unemployed or under other financial stress, which is why the increase in overall Thanksgiving travel this year is nominal."

The Thanksgiving holiday is traditionally a driving holiday, so Averella says it is not surprising that 86 percent of Thanksgiving vacationers are projected to travel by automobile, while only six percent say they will fly to their holiday destination

In October, the time when most people make decisions regarding to Thanksgiving travel, average gasoline prices were approximately 54 cents cheaper than they were in October 2008. Despite increases in gasoline prices since October this year, most people will not change their decision to fly versus drive since seat availability becomes more limited and airline ticket prices increase as the holiday approaches.

This year's decrease in the number of air travelers continues a decade-long trend in which air travel as a percentage of total Thanksgiving travel has declined substantially. Since 2000, the number of Americans traveling by air during the Thanksgiving holiday weekend has dropped an astounding 62 percent. While much of this decrease can be attributed to ongoing economic difficulties, the air travel experience itself has undergone a substantial change since the 1990s with stricter airport security, more frequent flight delays, reduced capacity, and added surcharges and fees, all contributing to the decline.

Those traveling by "other" means – trains, watercraft, buses, RVs, and multiple modes of travel – are projected to comprise eight percent of holiday travelers.

Thanksgiving travelers surveyed are planning to spend approximately $718 per household over the holiday weekend. With the main purpose of Thanksgiving holiday being a special meal with family and friends, AAA says it is not surprising that only 15.7 percent of spending will be for accommodations, while 32 percent will be for transportation.

Food and beverage will absorb 21 percent of spending and shopping will account for 16 percent. Entertainment and recreation will account for 10 percent of spending on average. "Other" or miscellaneous spending is five percent.

The number of miles travelers plan to journey is split on both ends of the spectrum – more than one-third (37 percent) of travelers will travel 250 miles or less round-trip, while 38 percent plan to travel more than 700 miles. Slightly less than one-quarter (24 percent) of weekend travelers will log between 251 and 700 miles. The average distance traveled for the upcoming holiday is estimated at 815 miles round-trip.

According to AAA's Leisure Travel Index – a monitor of pricing in 20 popular cities across the U.S for hotel and car rentals, as well as 40 pairs of cities for air travel pricing – the lowest average published airfares over the Thanksgiving holiday weekend are expected to decrease four percent from last year to an average of $170 per round-trip ticket. Car rental rates are down three percent to an average of $44 per day for a mid-size car versus a rate of $45 per day last year.

Rates for AAA Three Diamond lodgings are expected to be 11 percent less than last year's, with travelers spending an average of $128 per night. Travelers planning to stay at AAA Two Diamond lodgings will pay 13 percent less than they did last year; an average of $92 per night.

AAA's projections are based on research conducted by IHS Global Insight. AAA has been reporting on holiday travel trends for more than two decades. For purposes of this forecast, the Thanksgiving holiday travel period is defined as trips that include round-trip travel of 50 miles or more away from home during the period from Wednesday, Nov. 25, to Sunday, Nov. 29. The complete AAA/IHS Global Insight 2009 Thanksgiving holiday forecast can be found online at AAA.com/news.

YOUNG GENEALOGISTS IN THE MAKING – HomeSchoolers at the Accident library recently participated in a genealogy program with Addie Glofelty, Ruth Enlow Library genealogist specialist. The students played a game in which they matched items of special significance collected by Glotfelty to clip art on a felt board. The clip art was associated with a photo of the person for whom the item had special meaning, and Glotfelty then described something of interest about the person. One item was an afghan that her paternal grandmother had crocheted when Glotfelty was a young girl and had put aside for her. On her 40th birthday, Glotfelty's brother gave her the afghan. Her grandmother had died when Glotfelty was 12. "Be observant," Glotfelty told the children. "You never know if what you are looking at might have a story behind it." She demonstrated how to cover a box with copies of photos for use as a genealogy container, and she gave each child a banker's box for this purpose. The children also took home a felt genealogy tree, which they had created during the program. The next HomeSchooler event at the Accident library will be held on Thursday, Nov. 19, with Jim Joslin presenting a hands-on woodworking program. For questions, persons may contact Krista McKenzie at 301-746-8792 or Krista@reilb.net. Information about the Ruth Enlow Library's services and programs is available online at reilb.net.

Oakland Council Members Obtain Excellence Award

COUNCIL MEMBERS EARN EXCELLENCE CERTIFICATION – Three councilpersons for the town of Oakland were invited to take part in the 2009 graduation of Fellows from the Academy for Excellence in Local Governance, having logged numerous hours of core and elective classes in governance. The men attended the graduation exercises, held at the University of Maryland in September, and the embossed certificates were then presented to the three men at a recent Oakland council meeting by interim mayor, Peggy Jamison. See story. Pictured from left are Jay Moyer, Mayor Jamison, Sherwin Teagarden, and Jack Riley.

Jay Moyer, Sherwin Teagarden, and Jack Riley, all councilpersons for the town of Oakland, were invited to participate in the 2009 graduation of Fellows from the Academy for Excellence in Local Governance, held in September at the University of Maryland.

Memorial Chapel was the setting for the ceremony, during which 92 public officials from across the state were eligible to receive academy certificates. All graduating Fellows completed a substantial number of program hours in a set of core and elective classes designed to meet their professional needs as municipal or county officials in local government.

The Academy is a collaborative effort of the University of Maryland's Institute for Governmental Service and Research (IGSR), the Maryland Municipal League, the Maryland Association of Counties, and the Local Government Insurance Trust.

Through the program, Academy Fellows enhance their understanding of local government issues and ethical standards for public service, and also develop a foundation for informed policymaking and effective governance, a spokesperson said.

"The IGSR is dedicated to improving the well-being of individuals and communities through applied research, education, training, and technology innovations in partnership with public agencies," the spokesperson said.

DCL United Methodist Ministries To Host Thanksgiving Service

Deep Creek United Methodist Ministries will hold an annual Thanksgiving service on Tuesday, Nov. 24, at 7 p.m. at Hoyes Chapel.

Retired Methodist pastor Bill Kope will be speaking at the event, which is sponsored by the Deep Creek United Methodist Women. Kope will share his experiences, as well as show pictures of his nearly completed hike of the Appalachian Trail.

The public is invited to share in fellowship and refreshments. The church is located just off Rt. 42 and Hoyes Road.

Savage River Lodge Collecting Coats, Blankets

The Savage River Lodge will be collecting winter coats and blankets during the months of November through February, and will be distributing them to families in need of warmth. The lodge has partnered with St. Peter and St. Paul Church in Cumberland to help those less fortunate.

While the lodge is collecting winter coats of all sizes, children's sizes are emphasized this season. Items must be clean and in good repair, and coats must be made of thicker material to provide warmth. Blankets are a necessity this year.

"We know of children sleeping on floors," said a church representative. "Blankets are really important this year."

Coats and blankets can be dropped off at Savage River Lodge in Frostburg seven days a week. For more information, persons may contact the Savage River Lodge at 301-689-3200 or by visiting the web site at www.savageriverlodge.com.

Thanksgiving Eve Ecumenical Serv. Slated in Oakland

St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, and the Episcopal Church in Garrett County (St. John's and St. Matthew's) will jointly host their fifth annual ecumenical community Thanksgiving Eve worship service on Wednesday, Nov. 25, beginning at 7 p.m.

Retailers Ramping Up Online May Mean Bigger, Longer Black Friday

by Bobby McMahon
Capital News Service

Prices have dropped across the land. Bargain-hungry shoppers have checked items off their Christmas lists. And teenage boys have snooped in closets looking for video game-shaped presents.

The explosion of deals known as Black Friday has begun. And it's not even Friday yet.

Big-box stores like Best Buy and Wal-Mart have bolstered their Web presence and begun offering online deals days ahead of Black Friday, allowing consumers to start the holiday shopping early.

But experts predict that these efforts will not keep people away from the stores come Friday. In fact, this online growth, when combined with the already furious onslaught of shopping mania surrounding the day, will only make Black Friday, which has already ceased being a one-day event, even bigger.

That's right. Bigger. Like "Black Three and a Half Weeks" bigger.

Experts have found more retailers using their online presence to complement their in-store efforts, including offering Web-only deals in the days around Black Friday and releasing sale fliers before the big day as a way to generate excitement and help customers plan their shopping adventures.

These tactics allow retailers to be more flexible and compete more effectively with other stores and Web sites like Amazon.com, said Dan Ackerman, a senior editor at CNET.com, a technology news and reviews Web site. As more retailers hold sales before and after Black Friday, Ackerman sees the holiday of shopping growing from its current form.

"You may still call it Black Friday, but it may refer to a longer period of time," Ackerman said.

Even with the growth online, Ackerman and other experts say that online shoppers and those who would venture into the dark and cold on Friday morning are quite different, noting that the "digital divide" is in full effect.

"I think the people who show up at 5 o'clock in the morning are not in the same demographic as your typical online shopper," Ackerman said.

Laurie Meamber, a marketing professor at the George Mason University School of Management, agrees that online and Black Friday shoppers are not the same, but also does not think Web retailers have a significant effect on the Super Bowl of shopping. She has found that a main draw of the day is the tradition of trudging out with family and friends in the wee hours of the morning searching for deals.

"It's a social experience," Meamber said. "It's part of getting into the holiday spirit."

Black Friday has long been a part of the holiday season for Wendy Ellis, who now works as the director of marketing for Arundel Mills mall in Hanover. As a child, she remembers that the day marked the arrival of Santa Claus, and that her mother and grandmother would take her to see him.

"It's always been an event," Ellis said. "Shopping has always been the main component, but it's always been something more."

Tradition and time with family are not the only draws. An important motivator for some, Meamber said, is the hunt, the thrill that comes with finding an amazing deal on a Blu-Ray player or a flat-screen television. She even had a specific name for that shopper: The Predator.

"That thrill of the chase is really motivating them," Meamber said. She added that the "doorbuster" sales are the kind of incentives that "really draw in that predator shopping orientation."

Overall, predictions are split on how retailers, online or otherwise, will fare this holiday season. Looking toward the future, Ellis is confident the tradition of this carnival of consumer activity is going to be here for quite some time.

"Black Friday always has been and always will be the official start of the holiday shopping season," Ellis said.

GCSO Seeking Information On Landfill Burglary

Garrett County sheriff's deputies are seeking leads on a reported burglary of the Garrett County Landfill, located off Sang Run Road.

Investigation has revealed that unknown per-son(s) forced entry into the scale house sometime between Thursday night and early Friday morning. Suspect(s) removed several hundred dollars in cash, as well as other items.

Anyone with information regarding this incident is asked to contact the Garrett County Sheriff's Office at 301-334-1911.

Police Looking For Suspect Involved In Armed Robbery

Garrett County sheriff's deputies are seeking information concerning the suspect responsible for the complete evacuation of a reported armed burglary of Shoe Show at the Wal-Mart Plaza Friday evening. GSCO and Oakland Police responded to the 5:30 p.m. scene and evacuated all of the nearby stores in the plaza.

According to the store clerk, a man had entered the store and stated that he had an explosive device that would be detonated if the clerk did not meet his demands. The suspect took an undisclosed amount of U.S. currency and fled the store, leaving the device inside the store. No persons were injured during the robbery. Detectives with the Garrett Bureau of Investigation did a search of the area, and the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Bomb Squad rendered the device safe. It was later determined to not be an explosive.

The suspect is described as a white male in his 40s or 50s approximately 6 ft. tall, and of average weight. He is said to have been wearing a black toboggan with a white design on the back, a black leather jacket, and blue jeans. He left the parking lot in a mid-size silver vehicle traveling in an unknown direction.

Anyone who may have information concerning this incident is urged to contact the GCSO at 301-334-1911.

Health Dept. Receives $80K Research Grant

The Garrett County Health Department's Home Health Agency has received $80,000 in grant funding from the National Institutes of Health's National Center on Minority Health and Health Disparities to study the effectiveness of the "telehealth" program in Garrett County.

The health department's telehealth program will participate in research done by the University of Maryland School of Medicine. The college received $2.5 million in federal stimulus funds to set up a program to help improve the quality of care in remote communities. The study will evaluate chronically ill patients using telehealth technologies in Garrett County and southern Maryland.

"We have had a telehealth program in Garrett County for five years," said Garrett County health officer Rodney Glotfelty. "This grant will help us evaluate how well the program is working and allow us to improve services to patients using the telehealth program."

The telehealth program helps patients in rural areas who receive care far from their homes to receive equipment that allows doctors and nurses to monitor their condition using remote equipment and teleconferencing, Glotfelty explained.

The program focuses on patients with diabetes, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, hypertension, and heart failure, and will help determine if home telehealth care can improve outcomes.

Medical school researchers will work with service providers in Garrett County and southern Maryland to identify 250 patients who will participate in the telehealth initiative.

"Our staff will provide oversight to implementing the project in Garrett County, including identifying patients who will participate in the study," Glotfelty said. "Ultimately it is our goal to offer telehealth services as a complimentary component of home health care to all enrolled patients when deemed appropriate. We are always looking for ways to better serve the residents of Garrett County, and this grant is a good opportunity to access stimulus funds while potentially improving healthcare at the same time."

For more information about the telehealth program at the health department, persons may call 301-334-7750 or 301-895-3111.

Graham Named Associate Dean Of FSU Students

Frostburg State University's Division of Student and Educational Services has named Grantsville resident Jeffrey Graham as associate dean of students.

Graham, who assumed his responsibilities in October, previously worked as a student development specialist in the FSU Student Support Services office, offering guidance and support for first generation and low-income students. In his new role, he will address a variety of student behavior issues, work with summer orientation, and address a number of initiatives involving student safety.

According to an FSU spokesperson, Graham will also provide leadership and direction to the FSU's student conduct system. Dr. Jesse Ketterman, recently named assistant vice president for student services, said that Graham will also oversee off-campus student behavior issues and provide leadership to the University's broad-based Alcohol Task Force.

"Prior to his university experience, Jeff worked extensively in the field of alcohol and student behavior. This combination of experience makes him an ideal candidate to fulfill the role of associate dean," said Ketterman.

Prior to his employment at FSU, Graham was the coordinator of student services at Waynesburg (Pa.) University. He was responsible for providing academic advising to first-year students and students on academic probation, plus he coordinated Waynesburg's alcohol and other drugs program.

Graham, a graduate of Northern High School, holds a bachelor's degree in social work and a master's degree in social work and public administration from West Virginia University. He and his wife Patty, also on staff at FSU, are the parents of two daughters. Ashton is a sophomore at FSU, and Adria is a senior at Northern High School.

THANKSGIVING IS A TIME FOR SHARING – Realtor Terry Boggs, Railey Realty, recently donated a complete Thanksgiving dinner for seven area households for a total of 52 individuals. He also donated 12 turkeys to the Area Agency on Aging, which will be used over the holiday for Meals on Wheels and meals offered at the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland. Pictured, left to right, are Linda Green, Community Action's director of community and emergency services; Boggs; and Sheila Ford, Mary Browning Senior Center kitchen manager. Under the auspices of Community Action, the Area Agency on Aging nutrition programs provide meals to adults age 60 and older in both congregate settings and to the homes of frail elderly. Countywide, approximately 350 older adults access congregate nutrition sites during the course of a year, while an additional 225 receive meals in their homes through the agency's Meals on Wheels. Annually, well over 13,000 congregate meals are prepared and served to older adults at five locations: Mary Browning Senior Center, Grantsville Senior Center, Friendsville Community Center, and the Swanton and Kitzmiller nutrition sites. Another 30,500 meals are delivered to homebound elderly residents. The meals are funded through federal, state, and local dollars, as well as contributions from recipients, foundation grants, and fundraising efforts of the agency.

Civic Club Names Florence Royer Its 2009 Woman Of The Year

The GFWC (General Federation of Women's Clubs) Civic Club of Oakland has named Florence "Flo" Royer as its 2009 Woman of the Year.

Royer has been an active member of Civic Club activities since 2000. She served as the corresponding secretary from 2002 to 2006, and is a member of the craft group. She has served on numerous committees, and for the last three years has been the co-chairperson overseeing the kitchen for the club's annual Autumn Glory Antique Show and Sale.

Outside her club duties, Royer serves as a VIVA volunteer at Garrett Memorial Hospital. She and her husband Paul volunteer at the Deep Creek Discovery Center, and they work at their church's dinners.

"Flo was chosen Woman of the Year because of her nine years of dedicated service to the community," a club spokesperson said.

Born in Fairfield, Pa., Royer was the youngest child of a large family. She graduated from Waynesboro, Pa., High School, where she met her husband. They celebrated their 52nd anniversary on Oct. 27 this year. They have a son, Jeffrey, and a daughter, Paula, and four grandchildren.

The honoree worked in the main office of State Farm Insurance in Frederick for 30 years and retired in 2000. She and her husband moved to Garrett County in July 2000.

Several Treated For Minor Injuries Following Accidents

Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to two unrelated motor vehicle accidents that both resulted in non-life threatening injuries.

Deputies responded to Dilly Road on Thursday for a two-vehicle accident. Investigation revealed that Loye Ira Burns had been traveling westbound on Dilly Road, when the 1984 GMC truck he was operating slid across the center of the roadway and struck an oncoming bus. Glenn Millard Crehan was identified as the driver of the 2006 Ford bus, which was hauling passengers Jerry Eugene Sweitzer, Henry Yoder, Melanie Dawn Smith, Susan Alice Matthews, and Deborah Lynn Petersheim.

Southern Garrett Rescue Squad and Terra Alta Rescue Squad transported Burns, Crehan, and Crehan's passengers to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Burns was cited for failing to drive right of center.

Deputies responded to Maryland Highway early Saturday morning after a call was made by a citizen who had witnessed an accident. Investigation revealed that a juvenile driver had been traveling west, when he lost control of the 1990 Chevrolet he was operating. His vehicle traveled across the roadway and collided with a parked log truck.

The juvenile and his passenger were transported by Southern Rescue Squad to GCMH, where they treated and released to their parents. Charges are pending the completion of the investigation.

One Driver Cited In Three-Vehicle Fender Bender

A three vehicle fender bender was investigated by Garrett County sheriff's deputies Sunday afternoon.

It was revealed that William Hamilton, Keyser, W.Va., was traveling east on Hutton Road, when he failed to notice two vehicles stopped in the roadway. Debbie Holler, Oakland, was stopped attempting to make a left turn onto Otterbein Street. Richard Tres, Hopewell, Va., was stopped behind her vehicle.

Hamilton failed to slow his vehicle in time and collided with the Tres vehicle, which in turn collided with the Holler vehicle. No injuries were reported, and Hamilton was cited for failure to control speed to avoid a collision and driving on an expired license.

Arrested On Four Court Warrants For Failure To Appear

Garrett County sheriff's deputies arrested William Philip Hebb, 27, on the strength of four Circuit Court bench warrants. All four warrants were for failure to appear in Circuit Court.

Hebb was take to the Garrett County Detention Center to await a bond hearing.

GCHD AWARDED FUNDING FOR TELEHEALTH PROGRAM – The Garrett County Health Department's Telehealth Program, which assists local patients who receive care far from their homes to receive equipment that allows doctors and nurses to monitor their condition using remote equipment and teleconferencing, has been awarded funding to participate in a research project with the University of Maryland's School of Medicine. Volunteer Of The Month Announced By Loar Auxiliary

Helen Earles has been named the Loar Auxiliary Volunteer of the Month for November.

Earles joined the Garrett County Memorial Hospital auxiliary in April 1991 and has been active in many aspects of its operations, including serving as treasurer for several years.

"Helen's tenure as treasurer began when all records were kept manually and checks were written by hand," explained the auxiliary's Denise Shay, manager of the hospital gift shop. "She transitioned the records keeping from manual to computer."

As the gift shop grew, so did the duties of the treasurer – from business licenses and sales tax to inventory reports and monthly financial reports.

"Helen met the challenges that faced a growing business and always looked to the future to see how we could keep growing and how to do it better," Shay said. "She saw the gift shop through two shop renovations and many procedural upgrades."

Earles also serves on the Loar Auxiliary Arts Committee that is working to provide works of art throughout the hospital from local and regional artists.

Anyone interested in volunteering for the Loar Auxiliary is asked to call the hospital's Volunteer Services Department at 301-533-4041.

Their Victory, Our Loss...

Following last week's editorial that was critical of the county commissioners for their apparent lack of concern about the possibility of ending up with abandoned wind turbines in Garrett County, the county administrator supplied us with a letter from Wayne Rogers, chairman of Synergics Wind Energy LLC. The letter essentially states that this particular company will take responsibility for the turbine removal "in the highly unlikely event" that it would be necessary.

While such a letter should provide an absolute guarantee that this would be the case, it is nonetheless considerably more comforting to have such a guarantee as state law, and not just a promise from Mr. Rogers, an attorney who is in a position of tremendous political influence at the state level. The former chairman of the Maryland Democratic Party and longtime crony to Governor O'Malley and Senate president Mike Miller served on O'Malley's transition team as an energy expert. (Could this conceivably be a conflict of interest??!) However, it is admitted that the letter makes the commissioners' apparent lack of concern more plausible.

Regardless, no doubt Mr. Rogers and his gang are still celebrating today, as the Maryland Public Service Commission just last Wednesday approved Synergics' project that will put 20 monster turbines atop Backbone Mountain at Roth Rock. They have apparently won, and their victory is our loss. Garrett County's door is now wide open to not only Synergics, but also to Clipper Wind and who knows how many other wind farm developers who will also want to put their turbines on our mountains. So for that reason as well it will be important to have the decommissioning requirement etched in legal stone, as other companies may not want to provide any guarantees.

It's Thanksgiving, and there is no question that most of us Garrett Countians have much for which to be thankful. One thing, however, for which there should be no thanks and which we predict will result in great regret is the development of wind farms on the scenic ridges of our beautiful county.

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

In the issue of November 19, a writer referred to a frequent writer to The Republican as "Don Quixote/aka Jon Boone."

My agreement or disagreement with either gentleman is irrelevant. Of concern to me is the disparaging manner in which the writer of the letter chose to describe Mr. Boone.

Mr. Boone, along with a number of other individuals who write to The Republican, is doing exactly what a citizen of any presumably free society should be doing. He and his fellow writers are asking questions, exposing errors, challenging assumptions and actions, generating discussion, and proposing alternatives; indeed, doing what too many of us (myself included) are too lazy or too complacent to do. It is their right to do so, and they are doing us all a service when they exercise that right.

We had better worry if for any reason their voices are stilled. We need them more than they need us.

Sincerely,
Jan Finkel
McHenry

To the Editor:

I couldn't agree more with your recent editorial about Darvin Moon. His rise to celebrity poker status over the past weeks is indeed a Cinderella story. His performance demonstrates that our local "mountain boy" could defeat some of the world's best poker players with pure skill, determination, and a bit of luck.

I believe that the reason he has been so successful is that it wasn't so much about winning, but just having fun. How ironic that nearly four decades ago Darvin taught me how to play five card draw during school recess at Loch Lynn Elementary School. I remember him as a skinny, red-haired, freckled-face boy whom I shared a class room with in 5th and 6th grade. Although we drifted apart during high school years, I will always remember that game in which "one-eyed jacks" were wild, and we had only to worry about how much time remained until Mr. Hudson reclaimed his orderly classroom.

Although I moved from Garrett County many years ago, I do enjoy reading The Republican every week and was thrilled to learn of Darvin's recent success and new-found fame. I wish him all the best, and if he is at all like he was many years ago when I knew him, I'm sure that the money and fame won't change his humble attitude.

Congratulations, Darvin! You make us proud!

To the Editor:

Many of us will be sitting around our homes this Thanksgiving – a time to be grateful, thankful, and safe.

On Monday, Nov. 9, two of our finest lost their home, their family keepsakes, and their "safe haven."

Ray and Kathy Myers of 2924 Sang Run Road, McHenry, lost everything they owned, and it is by the grace of God that they were not at home at the time. But they no longer have a home to come home to.

On this Thanksgiving, please sit among your family members and friends and be thankful for your "safe haven." Then please reach into your pockets a make a donation to the Ray and Kathy Myers Fire Fund, c/o Susquehanna Bank, 24541 Garrett Highway, Mc Henry, MD 21541.

You see, Ray and Kathy Myers are mail carriers, who have and will continue to deliver smiles with cards from friends and loved ones and gifts during the holidays, and always a hug when you need one. So this holiday season, please give a hug back to them.

Thank you, and may God bless.

To the Editor:

It is time for the Garrett County general public to be aware of facts concerning the treatment received by fellow citizens attending county or town meetings.

At a recent Garrett County commissioners' meeting with Maryland Department of Transportation officials, a senior citizen asked the chairperson to read a column from a newspaper concerning a bypass. Not only was the request refused by the elected chairperson, but his verbal treatment of the concerned citizen was very rude, insensitive, and insulting. As an elected public official, the commissioner owes that citizen a public apology.

Approximately two weeks later at Oakland's town council meeting, another taxpayer asked a few questions regarding future comprehensive planning as to infrastructure and budget. An elected council person held up a diagram and responded to the man that he (the questioner) would not know how to read the diagram even if it were explained to him!

Even if the individual asking the questions were not retired from the maintenance division of the Dutch Embassy in Washington, D.C., and knowledgeable in reading diagrams, he was owed a courteous explanation of the diagram. I sat there appalled at the insensitive, insulting rudeness that this taxpayer endured.

Another citizen and taxpayer who had addressed some concerns in a letter to The Republican received the same treatment when he asked to have some of his questions answered.

The people who attend these meetings have the right to be heard, and to have their questions answered politely without being given a run-around. If the taxpaying citizens of Garrett County and Oakland are concerned about how our tax dollars are being spent, I implore you to attend these meetings.

Get involved!

Respectfully,
Mary Leighton
Senior citizen/voter/taxpayer

To the Editor:

Over three weeks have passed since the horrific massacre at Fort Hood, Texas, and most slow-motion national media outlets continue to question whether or not U.S. Army Major Nidal Malik Hasan, a field grade officer, is a terrorist. Most suggest that Major Hasan is a deranged man who simply snapped.

It would seem to me that anyone who, on several occasions, is in contact with Anwar al-Awlaki, an imam at a Falls Church, Va., mosque and known al-Qaeda terrorist now in Yemen, is himself a terrorist. Most reasonable folks would concur that a person who annihilates 12 innocent soldiers and one civilian, and wounds 30 more, is probably an extremely deranged man who is mentally ill. Would a sane individual commit such an awful act?

What many fail to mention explicitly is that Major Hasan wears the uniform of the United States of America, and is sworn to protect our country – not wantonly slaughter his comrades. What is indisputable to me is that Major Hasan is a traitor, and our government and the media continues their never-ending penchant for actually holding anyone accountable for their actions. It is clear that political correctness prevented concerns by his peers and superiors from being acted upon by military officials.

Moreover, it is inconceivable to me that most of the nation's politically correct national media, as well as our president and commander-in-chief, refuse to acknowledge Major Hasan's deadly and craven rampage as traitorous, let alone the act of a terrorist.

To the Editor:

I've been incarcerated for 37 years, during which I've graduated from eight different college curriculums, and devoted over a quarter of a century to various tutor, teacher's aide, and clerical positions in correctional education in prisons throughout Maryland. Never have I seen more bizarre education policies than these that resulted from good intentions gone awry.

Governor O'Malley proposed, during the 2009 General Assembly, that all correctional education programs be moved from the Department of Education (DOE) to the Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation (DLLR). The stated purpose was to change the focus of prisoner education from academic learning to vocational training; the goal was to generate better coordination between prisoner education programs and prisoner employability upon release. The General Assembly agreed to make the statutory change.

Apparently, neither the DOE nor the DLLR believed the bill would pass, and the change has been nothing but a disaster for prisoner education programs, as DLLR has neither funding nor budget appropriations for maintenance of even the minimal programs previously offered by DOE!

Adding insult to injury, DLLR just announced that all prisoner graduates of the Adult Literacy and Life Skills program (the equivalent of the old eighth grade certificate) will not receive certificates for their accomplishment! The reason cited was the "expense" (pennies) necessary to put a seal on these certificates!

Instead, DLLR will notify prisoners that they graduated to high school level, but prisoners will not be given proof they passed the eighth grade level! And how is this supposed to help prisoners obtain jobs, the very purpose for which the correctional education programs were transferred to DLLR? Recently released felons can't go to an employer and expect employers to accept their word that they earned an Adult Literacy and Life Skills (eighth grade) certificate they can't produce!

And what kind of support for correctional education that allegedly focuses on job skills training does this message send to prisoners? Next we'll hear that the piece of paper that certifies a high school diploma is too expensive to award graduates! As for employers, they'll quickly perceive the mockery that DLLR policies are making of prisoner education!

Sincerely yours,
Douglas Scott Arey

MARY M. OPEL

Mary Martha (Yoder) Opel, 66, Grantsville, died on Tuesday, Nov. 24, 2009, in her home after a valiant 12½-year-long fight with cancer. At the moment of her earthly death, Mary entered into the presence of God and lives eternally in Heaven, where cancer and sickness have been defeated. Mary's destination was made certain, when as a young girl, she placed her faith in the saving grace of Jesus Christ.

Born May 22, 1943, in Grantsville, she was a daughter of Alvin H. and Martha (Maust) Yoder, Grantsville.

She married Donald E. Opel on Sept. 25, 1964, at Maple Glen Mennonite Church, Grantsville. They have one son, Brian Eugene Opel, who is married to Tammy (Rounds) Opel, Bittinger; and two daughters, Dawn Marie Beitzel, who is married to Marlin Beitzel, Winchester, Va., and Rhonda Joy Maust, who is married to Glenn (Ben) Maust, Springs, Pa. Mary will be missed by many friends and acquaintances.

God used Mary Opel in many ways within her church and community over the years. She was a member of Cherry Glade Mennonite Church. For many years, she served along with her husband as a youth leader at both Maple Glen and Cherry Glade Mennonite churches, where she touched the lives of many young people, impacting them eternally for the glory of God. She also volunteered with a prison correspondence ministry, ladies sewing circle, and food committee, and because of her love for singing, she often sang in various church choruses.

Mary worked for many years as a loving homemaker, and for 20 years, she performed sales and bookkeeping for Butler's Carpet.

Mary Opel will be remembered by her family and friends for her earnest laugh, her steady soprano voice, and above all else, for her faith in a loving God and the promise of eternity with Him. As we mourn the loss of this loved one, we know that it was Mary's intent to live every day to the glory of her Heavenly Father, and we know that by God's grace, she now stands healthy and whole in the presence of her Lord Jesus in Heaven.

Friends will be received at Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, today, Wednesday, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. and at Cherry Glade Mennonite Church, Accident, on Friday, Nov. 27, from 9 to 10:30 a.m., at which time services will be conducted at the church.

ASCI TO SUPPORT THE ART WORLD – Although it's known for whitewater rafting and other outdoor activities, the Adventure Sports Center International at Wisp Resort will also be known as a friend of the arts as it prepares to hold its first reception for local artists this weekend. Photographs by Kathleen Gibbs and Rev. Dr. Chip Lee will be on display from 6 to 8 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 27, and pottery by Ron and Lorie Skidmore will be shown on Saturday, Nov. 28, from 2 to 4 p.m. at ASCI's "Mountaintop Shop." See story for details.

ASCI To Promote Regional Artists With Mountaintop Receptions

The Adventure Sports Center International (ASCI) will be hosting a series of artist receptions this winter at its "Mountaintop Shop," the retail store located next to its whitewater course at the top of Wisp Resort. ASCI will showcase artists' paintings, photographs, pottery, wood designs, and jewelry at the store throughout the winter, which will be open on weekends and holidays. The diversity of art work speaks to the widespread artistic talent located in the region.

The first reception will be held on Friday, Nov. 27, from 6 to 8 p.m., and will feature local photographers Kathleen Gibbs and Rev. Dr. Chip Lee. Wine and hors d'oeuvres will be served, including cheese provided by Firefly Farms, Garrett County's locally made and internationally award-winning cheese makers. Many of Gibbs' and Lee's works feature landscape scenes of the Adirondacks and "stunning" macro photographs, according to an ASCI spokesperson.

Garrett College art professor Ron Skidmore and his wife Lorie will be honored at a Tea Reception at ASCI on Saturday, Nov. 28, from 2 to 4 p.m., showcasing their decorative and functional pottery. Their Laurel Ridge Pottery is produced through various firing techniques, specializing in high-fire reduction.

Artist receptions will be held all winter at ASCI on Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons. The receptions seek to promote local art and artisans, and will connect art collectors and gift shoppers with authentic works that speak of Garrett County's creative energy. All receptions are open to the public, and all art is for sale.

For more information, persons may call ASCI at 301-387-3250 or e-mail asci@adventuresports-center.com.

Poet's Prediction

The late autumn's cold is still and calm,
As if to prepare us for what's to come...

The Sun sits low in the sky,
Barely warming – but has to try.
The colors range in orange and pink,
Alerting me to a storm instinct.

The leaves skirt hurriedly across the ground,
I think they'd like to get out of town.

The men are warming up their plows.
Predicting that it's not long now.

Will it be inches or will it be feet?
Oh, let us pray... It won't be sleet!

Hold onto your hats when you step outside,
Keep your children and pets close by your side.

For when these Maryland Mountain top clouds open wide.
You'll soon discover the brown wooly worms lied!

Lakers Crush Butler Before Falling To AC Trojans, 64-51

After defeating Butler County CC of Pennsylvania by more than a 2-1 margin on Saturday in a Maryland JUCO Conference game, the Garrett College men's basketball team fell to host Allegany College of Maryland in another conference contest Tuesday night, 64-51.

The results left the Lakers with an overall record of 5-3 and a 1-1 JUCO mark.

Garrett met with little resistance at Butler on Saturday, as the Lakers were led in scoring by 6-3 freshman guard Dominique Goodwin of Potomac Va., who recorded a career-high 21 points. He had three long-range buckets and a pair of dunks, showing why he was such a highly recruited high school prospect.

The Lakers finished the game with 13 three-point shots, four each from 6-1 point guard Shawn Greenfield and 5-10 shooting guard Joe Dubuche.

Greenfield netted 19 points, Dubuche finished with 14, and Chris Hilliard had a double-double with 13 points and 10 rebounds.

Howard Ferguson and Vladimir Vukovic chipped in with nine and eight points, respectively.

Doma Ibrahim pulled down a game-high 13 rebounds for Garrett, while Vukovic and Jordan Gipson each grabbed 11. Jeff Stem and Greenfield each dished out seven assists.

The Lakers dominated the Pioneers in rebounding, also by a more than 2-1 margin (57-25), and held a commanding 48-25 advantage at intermission.

Lake head coach Dennis Gibson was pleased with the effort from his team and the fact that all of his players managed to get into the scoring column.

"It was nice to get some less-used guys some minutes and work on some of our defenses in a game situation," he said. "It is tough to play a game like this, but you can never predict the level of your opponent when you schedule. We have had some great games with Butler over the years; we just had too much size and athleticism for them."

In Tuesday's game at Allegany, the Lakers jumped out to a strong start, building a lead of 8-0, ahead 11-2, and on top by a 14-5 margin before the Trojans woke up.

A three-point bucket by Derrell Armstrong seemed to jump start the Trojans' offense, which came roaring back to cut the Laker lead to 19-17 with 12:20 to play in the first half.

The teams traded buckets, and the Lakers still had a four-point edge, 24-20, at the 10:06 mark. But that's when the lid went on the hoop for Garrett, and the Trojans erupted to score the next 19 straight points to build a commanding 39-24 lead by intermission.

The Lakers did not quit, and managed to cut the Trojans' lead to eight points, 55-47, with a pair of foul shots and a three-pointer by Greenfield. But that would be as close as the Lakers could get.

The 10-minute scoreless period for the Lakers resulted in a shooting effort of just over 30 percent for the game (17 of 56), while the Trojans netted 48 percent of their shots (28 of 58).

Garrett was also outrebounded by a 50-35 margin.

Greenfield and Hilliard were the only Lakers who reached double figures in scoring, finishing with 13 and 10 points, respectively. Hilliard led the team in rebounds with nine. Dubuche and Jordan Gipson each contributed eight.

Jay Burke led the Trojans with a game-high 15 points and a dozen rebounds, Armstrong finished with 12 points, and Marcel Chessen hit 11. Troy Vasci grabbed 10 rebounds.

The win improved the Trojans' overall record to 5-2, and it was their first JUCO game of the season.

The Lakers will return to action next Wednesday at Baltimore City Community College.

Lady Lakers Win Season-Opener Over Columbus; Fall To Allegany At Buzzer

Even though the Garrett College women's basketball team felt some season-opening anxiety, the Lakers overcame their jitters and triumphed with a 73-68 win over host Columbus State Community College last Saturday. The victory was short lived, however, as they were defeated at the buzzer, 61-59, by Allegany on Tuesday night in a Maryland JUCO game in Cumberland.

"The team was very nervous in its first game out," said head coach Thea Garland. "We did not play as well as we would like, but we are very thankful for the win."

Tanesha Williams had a big night on Saturday as she led the Lakers with seven field goals and 5-of-8 foul shots to accumulate 19 points. Brionna Carter added 14 points and a team-high four assists in the win, and Tyesha Briscoe finished with nine points, 11 rebounds, and three steals. Teammates Raven Brooks had eight points, three steals, and a team-high 14 rebounds, Tashara Van Alstyne recorded nine points, and Raizel Benn completed nine rebounds for Garrett.

Columbus State was led by Chelsea Chaffin's 17 points and was 14-for-20 from the foul line. Brianna Dillon added 15 points, and Rachel Fleming finished with 11.

Against Allegany on Tuesday night, the Lakers had a weak first half as the Trojans laid on their offense to lead at the half, 27-3. Garrett caught up, however, to tie the score 59-59 before the buzzer. Allegany's Kim Jones sank the winning basket off a rebounded miss by Jackie Simon.

Janay Collins was 3-4 from the foul line and sank six field goals for 15 points to lead the Lakers. Carter followed with her 14 points, and was 6-of-11 in foul shots. Raven Brooks hit 3-of-4 foul shots to finish with 11 points for Garrett.

Three Allegany players scored in the double digits, with Dakeea Marshall and Ashleigh Fossett as the leaders with each recording 14 points, with 12 of Fossett's points coming from three-pointers. Teammate Tamara Nesmith contributed 11 points to aid in the Trojans' victory. Allegany outshot Garrett, 7-0.

The Lakers (1-1) are scheduled to travel to Baltimore City Community College on Tuesday.

Glotfelty Still Perfect On Mats For McDaniel

Brock Glotfelty finished another perfect weekend with a tournament-best four first-period pins to improve to 14-0 on the season and lead McDaniel College to a third-place finish at the 2009 Red Dragon Invitational at Oneonta in wrestling action on Saturday.

The Green Terror finished with 96 points. College of New Jersey won the team title in the 12-team field with 152 points. SUNY Cortland was second with 105.5 points. Centennial Conference foes Johns Hopkins and Gettysburg finished ninth (56.5) and 11th (28), respectively.

Glotfelty, a resident of Grantsville and former athletic standout at Northern High School, first pinned Chaz Guthrie of Southern Maine in 1:44. He then pinning Clarence Sharrock of Morrisville in 1:08 and Ian Clarke of Cortland in 2:19.

Glotfelty next gained a decision victory over the #3 ranked wrestler, Ed Broderick of the College of New Jersey, 3-1, to send him into the finals against #2 Joe Murphy of Cortland, whom he pinned in 1:33 to win the title in the heavyweight division.

The Green Terror will return to action at the Petrofes Invitational, which will be hosted by Messiah College on Dec. 4-5.

Smiths Make Major Donation To Terp Baseball; Field Is Renamed

Bob "Turtle" Smith, a former University of Maryland baseball player, and his wife Carol have made a major financial commitment to the university's athletic program. In response to their generosity, Maryland's baseball stadium has been renamed Shipley Field at Bob "Turtle" Smith Stadium.

The Smiths, who are residents of Garrett County and Frederick, pledged their gift in support of the university's Greatness Campaign, which provides funds to those areas in athletics with the greatest need, as well as to the Home Run Club, the support group for the Maryland baseball team.

Smith said that he recalls the work ethic and dedication required as a starter, every year, on the Terp baseball team, as well as the rewards of being named co-captain as a senior, and winning the Berger Cup for outstanding contributions to athletics through baseball.

"These experiences had a major impact and influence on my entire life, and make me proud to have the stadium bear my name," he said.

The Smiths decided that the timing of their gift was appropriate, partly because of the naming of new Maryland baseball head coach Erik Bakich.

"Carol and I are very excited about the direction of the baseball program with Coach Bakich at the helm," said Smith. "He is bringing a new enthusiasm and energy that will turn our program around."

"We share Bob and Carol's optimism regarding the future of the Maryland baseball program. Their generosity comes at a wonderful time," said director of athletics Deborah A. Yow. "We very much admire and appreciate their commitment to our baseball program, and this gift will benefit our student-athletes for some time."

"In my brief tenure as head baseball coach, Bob and Carol have been loyal supporters of Maryland baseball," said Bakich. "Bob and I share a vision for what we want Maryland baseball to accomplish. One of my immediate goals

HAVING SUCCESS on Junior Hunt Day (Saturday) was 13-year-old Brandon Cosner, who harvested this 4-point buck at his family farm in McHenry while hunting with his step mother Brenda and his brother. The Southern Middle School eighth grader is the son of Jamie Cosner, McHenry, and Lisa Cosner, Loch Lynn.

YOUNG HUNTER SUCCESSFUL – Michael Rodeheaver, 11, a sixth-grader at Northern Middle School, bagged a 7-point buck during the recent youth hunt. He is the son of Bob and Joyce Rodeheaver, Friendsville. Michael hunted with his dad on the family farm, and got the buck with a Remington 22-250.

See more Junior Hunt Day photos on Page B-10.

LANDING AN 8-POINT on Junior Hunt day was Nathan Hawk, an 11-year-old resident of Kitzmiller.

ONE OF THE FINEST bucks taken on Junior Hunt Day was this 9-pointer by 12-year-old Chance Knox, McHenry. He was hunting on the farm of a family friend off Bumble Bee Road.

is to qualify for the ACC Baseball Tournament every year, meaning we will have a chance of making the NCAA Tournament on a regular basis.

"Having former players and more supporters like Bob will help us spread the word that Maryland is committed to excellence in building and maintaining a first-class program."

This was not the first major donation to Maryland baseball by the Smiths. In December 2007, they established the Robert W. and Carol B. Smith and Family Endowed Baseball Scholarship. This was the first fully funded scholarship for the exclusive use by the baseball program.

"Because of my business education, I've had success in the corporate world as a VP of two Fortune 50 companies; and for the last 22 years as an entrepreneur in commercial real estate," Smith said. "I've told my family and friends many times that, without the baseball scholarship that enabled me to attend and graduate from the University of Maryland, I never would have had such success. As a result, I was only too pleased to give back to the university, and the baseball team, by gifting the first endowment that created a full baseball scholarship."

Bob and Carol, who own Englander's in Oakland, encourage former Terp baseball players to get involved with the program by making a donation to endow or partially endow additional scholarships for baseball, or make an annual gift to the Home Run Club. Smith said he would appreciate talking with former players and friends of Maryland baseball about how they can get involved.

"There is tremendous energy surrounding the team, and I would love for everyone who has ever been associated with Maryland baseball to be part of the excitement," he said.

Traffic Stop Leads To Charges For Driver, Passenger

A driver and passenger were cited by Garrett County sheriff's deputies following a traffic stop conducted on Garrett Highway. The stop was initially made because the occupants of the vehicle were not wearing seat belts.

Dusty Ronald Whitacre was identified as the driver. Investigation revealed his license to be suspended. He is charged with driving on a revoked out-of-state license. He was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

The passenger of the vehicle, Joshua Todd Culp, was found to be in possession of controlled dangerous substance (CDS) paraphernalia. He was released at the scene after being given a criminal citation.

MY BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Hi,

My name is Skye Elizabeth Friend. I was born on August 24, 2009, at 5:00 p.m., weighing in at (sounds like a pro-wrestler, doesn't it?) what I was told – a real teeny, tiny baby at 1 lb. 11 oz. Because my mommy had some problems carrying me, Dr. Savopoulos thought it was best that my mommy be life flighted to Johns Hopkins in Baltimore to have me. I was two months early, but I was very, very fortunate, however, because I received very special care in the hospital from my doctors and nurses. My mommy and daddy, family and friends prayed every day for me, and I know ('cause everybody told me) I am a "Miracle Baby." My mommy and daddy & Mimi Wilt finally got to bring me home on October 20, when I weighed 4 lbs. 5 oz.

This is me today – Lookin' good!

Today, I'm doing great! I weigh 6 lbs. and my older brother, Austin, helps Mommy take really good care of me! I just wanted to take this time to thank everyone for all their prayers, phone calls, love and support. (I know this 'cause my mommy told me what everyone did for us.) I think that's so cool! Anyway, my mommy doesn't know that I wrote this letter to everyone – she's been meaning to do it but I guess because my brother is only 2 and me only being 3 months old, there's not a lot of time in her day.

This is me at 3 days old

Oh, by the way, I almost forgot... I'd better tell you a little bit about my family! My mommy is Kelly Johnson and my daddy is Paul Friend. I have another older brother, Tyler, and an older sister, Haley. My mommy's parents are Leonora & Larry Wilt and Dave & Shirley Johnson. My daddy's parents are Allen & Penny Friend. I also have great-grandparents – my Mimi Wilt's mommy & daddy are Eva Jean & Chester Cramer, and Pappy Dave's mom is Eileen Johnson. Oh geesh... Pappy Allen's mommy is Grandma Laura. Wow... I'm so lucky!

Thanks again, everyone... We won't forget you!

SUPPORTING THE HOUSE OF HOPE recently by donating/collecting various food items were the students and staff of Garrett College.

Garrett College Gives Thanks

by Melissa Parker

Thanksgiving is not just a time to fill our bellies full of yummy food and visit with friends and family; it's also a time to give back to those who aren't as fortunate. With the holiday season approaching, Garrett College is making sure it is doing its part to show its gratitude.

The college recently held a food drive and silent auction to help give back to a community that has given it so much. The food drive and silent auction were part of the college's annual Thanksgiving luncheon, which is sponsored by the GC Quality of Work Life Committee. Several boxes of food were collected, and the silent auction generated $375.

In years past, the proceeds from the auction went toward funding the college's "'Tis the Season" party.

"This year, we realized that there were community residents in great need," said Linda Fike, chair of the Quality of Work Life Committee. "So, we decided to give all the proceeds to the House of Hope."

The House of Hope of Garrett County provides short-term emergency assistance to those in need. The House of Hope operates four free food pantries, in addition to providing emergency assistance with fuel and utility bills and shelter, and medical needs, among others.

In addition to giving back to the community, GC students, faculty, staff, and administration are giving thanks for the good things in their lives this holiday season.

"I am thankful for the opportunity to serve Garrett College for an interim year," said Dr. Jeanne Neff, Garrett College president. "It's a rich and satisfying experience that deepens my already strong attachment to this community."

Many are thankful for the constant things in their lives, such as faith, family, and friends.

"I am thankful to be living on this earth, for my family, friends, and my girlfriend," said Adam Lyburn, a GC student from Delaware.

Likewise, Dallas Bittinger, a GC student from Swanton, said, "I am thankful for my faith, my family, and my friends."

Kalkidan Solomon, a GC student from Ethiopia, also said, "I am thankful for family, friends, and good health."

In addition, Ellen Shaeffer, who works in the GC library, is thankful for her family, and Kalie Ashby, an office assistant in the president's office, is thankful for her great family and friends.

In today's tough economic times, many are thankful to be working.

"I am thankful that I have a job," said Carolyn Deniker, director of the Allied Health program. "I read about layoffs and cutbacks in other areas, so I am thankful that our enrollment is up and we, as a college, are not facing furloughs or layoffs."

Deniker is also thankful for her family, their health, and that they all have good jobs.

Ann Wellham, dean of marketing and enrollment management, is thankful for her career as well.

"I am thankful, in these tight economic times, that I have a job that enables me to live healthy and pursue my dreams as I perform my work in assisting others in their efforts to pursue their careers," Wellham said, adding, 'It's a win/win job!"

Calvin Simms, who works in the facilities department, is also thankful for his job, among other things.

"I am thankful for life, health, family, friends, and a job," he said.

Mildred Bray, switchboard operator for the college, said that she is thankful for her job as well.

Some are thankful for things that many Americans take for granted, such as the freedom to live and study in the United States.

"I am thankful to live in a free country," said Judith Best, adjunct professor.

Similarly, Justin Mazinyane, a GC student from Zimbabwe, is thankful for the privilege of studying business in the United States.

Jason Tuma, a GC student from Silver Spring, is also thankful for education, among other things.

"I am thankful for the ability to learn, for friends, and family," he said.

Still, some are thankful for the simple things in life.

"I am thankful for the beauty of nature," said Conner Whitaker, a GC student from Rockville.

Though the sources of gratitude are varying, one thing is certain: Garrett College has a thankful and giving heart this holiday season.

Adorable Adoptables

PLENTY OF PETS AVAILABLE – Currently housed at the Garrett County Animal Shelter are a female blue tick hound, male black/white tuxedo feline, female brown mix canine, and a female black border collie mix. "Last week's yellow dog and Himalayan cat were adopted," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "But there are plenty of other dogs and more than a dozen cats to choose from at the shelter, including two grey-white tuxedos, orange tabby kittens, a Siamese mix, a longhaired white/tabby, and a longhaired black one. Because of their owners' divorce, eviction, or relocation, the cats were left at the shelter. All of the dogs were picked up as strays without collars or tags, so their owners cannot be contacted. All of these animals need a new home, as there isn't enough room to keep them at the shelter for a long period of time." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. The facility is located along Oakland Sang Run Road.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

I was sad last Thursday, Nov. 19, my Caitlin's 21st birthday. I think a mother should be with the child she gave birth to on her birthday. I remember so clearly every detail about her first hours of life and how I felt. I couldn't believe I had two such adorable daughters.

Although she looked like Claire as a newborn, something was different. Her eyes were even more intensely blue. And she seemed more like a new kitten, whereas Claire was like a new puppy. But I had no doubt that I had the most beautiful newborn in the hospital nursery. I believed passionately that I had the most precious, sweetest thing in the world. I hated when the nurse came in to take her back to the nursery. I wanted to spend every minute of her first couple of days with her.

I think that I will see her less and less now that she is officially an adult. But she will always be my little Caity. I wish I could go back in time to 1990 when she was a toddler – 2 years old; when she was at her sweetest. She had a unique walking style... a little bit pigeon-toed, as many Glotfeltys are, including me.

Fox Network made a very big deal about the president bowing to the emperor of Japan, but with the emperor and empress, bowing to our president is an expression of respect, not subservience. You cannot work with other heads of state without being culturally sensitive. That is why our present president is so popular. He has more positive relationships with heads of states, whether they are in South America, Europe, or even with Asia. We need that if we want to convince other nations to aid our agenda.

Some on the Right attempt to label our economic troubles as Obama's economy. They say he is at fault even though it sprang to life after only less than a year. It was at death's door. What they don't recognized is how big a hole Bush dug. And the Right tried to defeat every move Obama tried to make toward a healthy economy.

It is almost impossible to believe that Naomi and Denver Beitzel are great-grandparents! Their granddaughter Markell and husband Jason Fickes produced a red-haired baby girl last Tuesday. They named her Kennedy.

During Advent, Bittinger Lutheran Parish will be offering the Holden Evening Prayer worship service on Wednesdays, beginning at 6 p.m. The services will be followed by a light meal and fellowship. The first of these musical services will be held next Wednesday, Dec. 2, at Emmanuel Lutheran Church along Brenneman Road, Bittinger.

The Bittinger Lutheran Parish will hold a joint service at Zion Lutheran along Jennings Road at 10 a.m. on the first Sunday of Advent, Nov. 29. Once again, non-perishable snacks will be collected for care packages for young adults of the parish away at college or serving in the military. Everyone is welcome to attend and bring a friend. Persons should also remember to bring a gift for the young people away from home.

For a long time, Rupert Murdoch dragged down the worldwide media. And, of course, he is the CEO of Fox Network, the first totally biased network ever, except in nations where freedom of press is not a factor.

Oprah intends to start her own network. Just about everyone is a fan of hers, because she works for positive change and bringing us together, rather than dividing us. She tries to bring good will to all people. That is what kind of network we need. It is time to end trying to stir up hate, fear, and all kinds of negative emotions.

Instead of harping about the supposed failure of our government, the best medicine for America is positive emotions, and I hope that will help America recover. It is not far from the famous quotation of FDR, "The only thing we nave to fear is fear itself."

It is also like the question about whether you see the glass half full or half empty. Some people can't see that we are in better shape than the last few months of the previous administration. Yes, the unemployment rate is too high, but the housing industry is improving. And we have not faced an economic collapse, and America once again has the "Most Admired Nation" status. Instead of just bombing Iran, we are pursuing other solutions, and we have had long intense evaluations about the Afghanistan policy.

This will be a tough Thanksgiving – the first without my mother. And it will not be a great Christmas without her. I know I miss her every single day, when I think of something I want to ask her or tell her. I hope I mean to my daughters even half as much as she means to me.

It makes me a little sad to see my girls head downstate to visit Lloyd's parents, especially since their grandfather Sussman (Big Al) is in a nursing home. I liked Al and Ruth from the first day I met them. I miss them now. I know their granddaughters are looking forward to visiting them. My girls love them very much. They will miss Al's birthday by a couple of days. He turned 83 on Nov. 21, two days after Caitlin and her father's birthday.

I just heard a shocking bit of news. It was about an old friend who often rode home from the University of Maryland with me, Stan Steyer. Ten weeks ago, he fell on his head, broke several vertebrae, and bruised his spine. The bottom line is that he is paralyzed from the neck down and on a respirator in a hospital in Pennsylvania. I can't believe I learned about this tragedy only now. But his wife Sally said he can use all the prayers he can get.

I am grateful that the state of West Virginia is nutty about deer hunting. I mean, WVU is closed the whole Thanksgiving week.

Pastor Randy Richardson will be away from Bittinger all this week to hunt on his family farm near Wheeling. And Cindy will not be far behind. She will head to Wheeling to visit her mother and other family, then she and her mother will head to Columbus, Ohio, to see her new grandson. This is the second in the last few months.

I guess the day after Thanksgiving is the first day of rifle deer season here in Bittinger. I dread it every year.

I don't get the realty TV craze, but I am pleased that today marks the last episode of "Jon and Kate Plus Eight." I never saw a single episode of it, but they still talk about it in real news programs. I can't believe that the American public was so into such a sad story about a cheating husband and father of eight children, and that viewers enjoyed watching a marriage unravel.

What does it mean when a man uncommits to his marriage and signs up to play his family's tragic story on national television? A divorce is hard for any child, but allowing the whole country to watch it play out, that should be criminal.

Too Loud, Too Tiny, Too Toxic – New Tool Spotlights Toy Trouble

by David M. Johnson
Capital News Service

Figurines small enough to swallow, a knight's helmet with a high concentration of lead, and play phones too loud for young ears are all toys on shelves this holiday season.

There is trouble in toyland.

This fall, the Maryland Public Interest Research Group found hazardous toys on store shelves despite the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008 designed to speed the recall process for dangerous toys.

On Tuesday, Maryland Rep. John Sarbanes, D-Towson, joined Jenny Levin, an advocate for Maryland-PIRG, and Dr. Oscar Taube at Sinai Hospital in Baltimore to talk about hazardous toys and a new tool to help combat them.

"A new interactive tool accessible via smart phone or computer will help parents and other toy-buyers avoid some common hazards," said Levin. "Now parents can shop safely and avoid purchasing potentially dangerous toys for their kids."

The Consumer Product Safety Commission, the federal agency responsible for toy recalls, has removed more than 5.3 million toys or other children's products from store shelves for choking hazards in 2009, according to Levin.

Toy safety has come a long way since the days of Sarbanes' youth, he recalled.

"I remember a lot of things that were so tiny they could be choked on," Sarbanes said. "Looking back, it's a wonder that didn't happen."

The holiday season with guests and presents means parents have to be extra vigilant with toddlers, said Taube.

"It's a time that families can be distracted, a little less vigilent, but when boxes and toys are opened, little things abound," Taube said.

Toxic chemicals in toys made for children under 3 are a problem because kids have a habit of putting everything in their mouth, the participants said.

Baltimore mothers Kate Canada and Elizabeth Ridlington spoke about toy safety while their toddlers played in the background.

"My daughter Lily is 2½, so she's slowly outgrowing the choking-hazard-under-3 rule, but she still puts everything in her mouth," Canada said. "I don't buy any soft plastic toys unless they explicitly state that they're phthalate free – just looking at some of the different chemicals that are in plastics and making sure that we're not exposing her to any extra chemicals that way."

"The danger of toys with chemicals in them is there is no way for the average consumer to detect when they are dangerous," said Sarbanes.

"That's part of the enforcing," Sarbanes said. "Parents really have to rely on the government to do its job and toy manufacturers to do the right thing."

NHS English II Class "Gives Back"

by Nathan Marshall,
Northern High School
English teacher

The assignment? Simply put, to give.

Too often we, as human beings, hear a sad story about human suffering, mope over it for a bit, and then forget about it. It was my goal to not only get my English II students to gain an interest in autobiographical literature, specifically, Night by Elie Wiesel, but also to give back to a world which we all too often take for granted.

Night, a novel set in 1944 Sighet, Romania, tells the story of young Elie Wiesel's struggle for survival during the Holocaust. During this time, Elie gains a new appreciation for the things he too often paid little or no attention to: where his next meal would come from, his friends, his family, etc.

While reading this autobiographical account, students worked in small groups to design and implement a plan that would contribute positively to a part of society that people often neglect.

"Everyone needs to do their part to help those in need," remarked English II student Shane Gray about the project.

After students picked the charity or cause they wished to give back to, they worked on creating the best way to raise money for their cause.

"It was easy for us to come up with the Cut-A-Thon because we already had the location, International Beauty School, and the professionals to actually cut the hair," answered 10th grader Katelynn Hanek.

Students held events such as the Cut-A-Thon, in which individuals were given a free hair cut and styling if they donated their hair. They also hosted a Wear a Hat to Fight Cancer Day, during which students at Northern would pay $1 to wear their favorite hat to school all day.

They were very creative in their approach, some students even taking on babysitting jobs just so they could donate the money they earned to their cause.

The result? In the two weeks that the project ran, students were able to raise over $400 for such charities as the Ronald McDonald House, Locks of Love, and the American Cancer Society. They also collected 52 inches of hair for Locks of Love, several boxes full of non-perishable food for area food banks, 50 pounds of dog food and 30 pounds of cat food for the Garrett County Animal Shelter, bags of clothes and blankets for Goodwill, and blankets, stuffed animals, and children's books for the Dove Center.

Many students also held checker and bingo tournaments at area retirement homes.

"One lady said to us, 'It is nice to see that there are still people who care about us,'" remarked 10th grader Dylan Thomas on his experience with Cherry Hill Assisted Living.

When asked to reflect on the project, 10th grader Blair Upole commented, "Overall, I think the project was a success, it really made me think, and I hope to keep visiting the friends I met at the retirement home for years to come."

With the new 85-minute block schedule Northern has gone to this year, it is so much easier to do an activity like this; one that is still very relevant to scholastic studies but at the same time better prepares our students for a life long after the textbooks have been closed.

After all, how many textbooks teach a student to care?

DOG DAYS AT GRANTSVILLE – The youth of Partners After School @ Grantsville recently had a visit from Grantsville senior citizen Pat Adams and her dog Maggie, who are pictured above with the group. It was Maggie's 9th birthday. Pat spoke to the youth about the importance of properly caring for pets, and discussed grooming, feeding, and training. She emphasized the fact that a puppy is a 15-year commitment, and a rescue dog like Maggie was a good choice for her. The Partners After School @ Friendsville program recently held its annual Lights On After School event, including games, door prizes, a cake walk, and a family dinner. The Partners After School program is provided by Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. and funded by grants through Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc., Garrett County commissioners, Community Development Block Grant, and MSDE Snack Program. For more information, persons may call Karen Wood at 301-895-5818 from 3 to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Oakland Man Sentenced To 90 Days For Driving Violation Charge

In recent Garrett County District Court proceedings, Joshua Robert Brown, 23, Oakland, was found guilty by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert for a charge of driving a motor vehicle on public use property on a revoked license and privilege. Judge Eiswert sentenced Brown to 90 days with 80 days suspended, 18 months of supervised probation, and $265 in fines.

Brown was charged in July when Garrett County sheriff's officers were able to contain him and transported him to the Garrett County Detention Center. He was not prosecuted on charges of disorderly conduct, disturbing the peace, malicious destruction of property valued at less than $500, driving while impaired (DWI) and driving while under the influence (DUI).

In an unrelated hearing, Larissa Kay Kitzmiller, 18, Oakland, was found guilty for second-degree assault, and was sentenced to 45 days with 43 days suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $157.50 in fines.

Kitzmiller's charges stemmed from an incident in August at the Garrett County Fairgrounds. It was reported that she assaulted two other people. While in the middle of a dispute with one of the victims, the second victim attempted to intervene and was subsequently hit in the face by Kitzmiller. The two victims were able to get away from Kitzmiller and get to the police. She was not prosecuted on a second charge of second-degree assault.

In another district court proceeding, Harry Tirrell Burdock, 37, Frostburg, was found guilty for a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) possession of paraphernalia charge and for driving a motor vehicle on public use property on a suspended license and privilege. For the driving violation charge, he was sentenced to 30 days with 28 days suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $207.50 in fines.

Burdock was charged in April after officers of the GCSO observed him operating a vehicle and transporting another adult and two minors. Prior knowledge of his suspended license led the officers to conduct a traffic stop and make contact with Burdock. He was subsequently arrested, and a search incident to arrest revealed a clear plastic pen tube containing an unknown white powder in his front pants pocket. Burdock admitted to using the tube to snort his Clonazepan medication. A bottle of the medication was also found in his pocket. He was transported to the GCSO without incident.

Burdock was not prosecuted on charges of CDS possession not marijuana, driving with an expired license, and two charges of failure to secure a child under the age of 8 in a child safety seat when transporting in a motor vehicle.

Matthew Steven Storey, 22, Friendsville, pleaded guilty to a CDS possession of paraphernalia charge, received a probation before judgment (PBJ) verdict, and was sentenced to one day of unsupervised probation and $157.50 in fines.

GCSO arrested Storey in April on the strength of a bench warrant at his place of residence. A search incident to arrest revealed a smoking pipe containing suspected marijuana and a bag containing suspected marijuana. He was not prosecuted on a CDS possession of marijuana charge.

Cecil Matthew Roberts, 32, Millersburg, Pa, was charged in September by GCSO for having a handgun on his person and having a handgun in his vehicle. His charges were placed on stet with condition being to obey all laws.

Robert Gordon Cook, 35, Swanton, was charged with violation of a protective order in June after reportedly contacting the victim that filed the protective order. His charge was placed on stet with condition being to have no contact with the victim.

Chester Gene Tippins, 40, Portsmouth, Va., was not prosecuted on his September charges of CDS possession of marijuana, CDS possession of paraphernalia, possessing a suspended license, and driving a motor vehicle on public use property on a revoked out-of-state license. His charges stemmed from a traffic stop by Maryland State Police.

Adam Matthew Shaffer, 23, Oakland, was not prosecuted on charges of fourth-degree sex offense, second-degree assault, and harassment as a course of conduct. He was charged in August after an incident with two other adults.

Charles French Stinson, 54, Oakland, was not prosecuted on a charge of violation of a protective order, stemming from August.

Garrett County SKIES

By Dr. Bob Doyle
Frostburg State Planetarium

DECEMBER SUN – As December begins, the sun is in front of the stars of Ophiuchus, moving about a degree a day eastward relative to the stars. In the early morning hours of December 18, the sun enters the star group Sagittarius, where it stays through mid-January. Both of the above star groups are lost in the sun's glare in December. The star group Capricornus is behind (east) of the sun, so it sets after the sun, appearing low in the southwestern dusk. The star group Libra (to the west of the sun) rises before the sun and is visible low in the southeastern dawn. In early December, sunrises in Oakland are at about 7:20 a.m., while sunsets are about 4:55 p.m. (9.6 hours of daylight). Winter begins on December 21, when the sun rises farthest south (of east), has its lowest midday height, and sets farthest south (of west). This the day of the least sunlight for the year, lasting only 9.4 hours. Around the end of December, Garrett County's sunrises are at about 7:38 a.m., and sunsets occur about 5:05 p.m. (9.45 hours of daylight). So during December, the stars are last seen around 6:30 a.m. (early dawn) and then reappear about 6 p.m. (late dusk).

DECEMBER MOON – The moon is full on the evening of December 1, rising about sunset and being visible all through the night. So the moon in early December displays its large lava plains, which some see as the "man," "woman," or "rabbit" in the moon. (The lunar craters are not visible to the eye.) This full moon is known as "moon before yule." In the next few evenings, the moon rises more than an hour later each night. On December 6, the late evening moon appears near the planet Mars. The half full moon appears near the planet Saturn in the southern dawn sky on December 10. The last view of the moon in the eastern dawn (6:30 a.m.) will be on December 14. The moon will reappear low in the southwestern dusk on December 18, appearing above the planet Mercury (try 5:30 p.m.). On December 20, the crescent moon will appear near the bright planet Jupiter in the southwestern dusk. On December 23, the evening moon appears half full, offering the best views of its craters and mountains through binoculars and telescopes. There is a second full moon on December 31, rising about sunset and hanging in the sky all night long. This is the first double full moon since June 2007. The next month with two full moons will be August 2012.

DECEMBER PLANETS – The five nearest planets are easily seen by eye, four of them shining steadily in contrast to the twinkling stars. Of the five, Mercury is most difficult to see, at a low angle to the sun and seen very close to the horizon at dawn or dusk. In December, Mercury can be seen low in the southwestern dusk from December 10 to 28, when it sets more than an hour after sunset. In December, Jupiter is splendid low in the southwestern evening sky, shining steadily and outshining all night stars. Late in the evening, the planet Mars surfaces in the east, appearing in the faint group Cancer. Mars appears high in the south at dawn. The planet Saturn appears in Virgo, rising in the early morning hours. Saturn can be seen in the southern dawn sky. The brilliant planet Venus is at too low an angle to the sun to be seen in December.

NOVEMBER STARS – The Big Dipper is rather low in the north. The two top scoop stars point up and left to the North Star, a modest star about halfway up in the North. Above the North Star is Cassiopeia, appearing as a letter "M." In the west is the white blue star Vega, sparkling as it nears the horizon in the late evening. In the northeast is the twinkling golden star Capella with the bright orange star Aldebaran to the right. Lower in the east is the star group Orion with its three-star belt. On each side of Orion's belt is a bright star: pinkish Betelgeuse to the left and bluish Rigel to the right.

NOVEMBER PROGRAMS – The Frostburg State Planetarium's program for December is "Christmas and Seasonal Feasts," reviewing the surprising history of Christmas and other special occasions connected with the start of seasons. The free public programs are set for December 6, 13, and 20 at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. in Tawes 302. Persons may telephone 301-687-7799 and leave name and address, and a free planetarium bookmark (includes small campus map showing planetarium and easy parking areas) will be sent to callers. Persons may also visit the Frostburg State web site, where there is an area devoted to the planetarium (http://www.frostburg.edu/planetarium).

Dr. Doyle writes this column for those who like to identify the brightest stars, planets, and sights in their backyards.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE MEMBERS ATTEND STATE MEETING – Andrew DeLiddo and Marilyn Regentin, members of the Garrett County Democratic Central Committee, recently attended a meeting of the Maryland State Democratic Central Committee in Silver Spring. Interior Dept. To Strengthen Oversight Of Coal Mining Ops.

Officials at the Department of the Interior have recently announced that the department is taking immediate actions to strengthen oversight of state surface coal mining programs and to promulgate federal regulations to better protect streams affected by surface coal mining operations.

"America's vast coal resources are a vital component of our energy future and our economy, but we have a responsibility to ensure that development is done in a way that protects public health and safety and the environment," said Wilma Lewis, assistant secretary for land and minerals management. "We are moving as quickly as possible under the law to gather public input for a new rule, based on sound science, that will govern how companies handle fill removed from mountaintop coal seams. Until we put a new rule in place, we will work to provide certainty to coal operations and the communities that depend on coal for their livelihood, strengthen our oversight and inspections, and coordinate with other federal agencies to better protect streams and water quality."

The public is invited to review and comment on the proposed rulemaking and on the Interior's Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's (OSM) proposed Oversight Improvement Actions. The advance notice of proposed rulemaking will be sent to the Federal Register shortly. Beginning on the date of publication, comments may be submitted using the Federal e-Rulemaking Portal at www.regulations.gov. The document has been assigned Docket ID: OSM-2009-0009.

OSM is publishing an advance notice of proposed rulemaking regarding the protection of streams from the adverse impacts of surface coal mining operations. The notice requests comments on alternatives for revising the current regulations, which include the stream buffer zone rule issued by the Bush administration in December 2008.

The 2008 rule modified a 1983 rule that prohibited the dumping of overburden within 100 feet of a perennial or intermittent stream except when such activities "will not cause or contribute to the violation of state or federal water quality standards and will not adversely affect the water quantity or quality or other environmental resources of the stream." The 2008 rule allows a surface coal mine operator to place excess material excavated by the operation into streams if the operator can show it is not reasonably possible to avoid doing so.

While the new rule is being developed, Interior is taking immediate actions to strengthen protections for streams and communities in coal country, provide regulatory certainty for industry, and bolster OSM's oversight and enforcement activities.

"We are moving as expeditiously as possible in the rulemaking process, but we will not take shortcuts around the law or the science," said Joe Pizarchik, OSM director. "Until we complete the new rule, we have to manage the shortcomings of the 2008 rule. OSM will establish a new practice for reviewing permits under the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act (SMCRA) that will improve consistency and coordination with other federal agencies."

Under the new practice, the review and approval of SMCRA permits must be coordinated with reviews and authorizations required under the Clean Water Act. OSM will work with the Corps of Engineers and the Environmental Protection Agency to coordinate these permitting processes and ensure effective and coordinated compliance with provisions of the Clean Water Act.

Lewis and Pizarchik also announced a number of proposed actions to improve the agency's effectiveness in overseeing state implementation of their approved surface coal mining regulatory programs. Under these proposed actions, OSM would, for the first time since coal-producing states

IT'S TIME!

With the economic situation this year, we expect great need...

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the 12th year, The Republican newspaper and the Civic Club of Oakland are asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is the WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM?

The Republican
GFWC Civic Club of Oakland

The Civic Club and The Republican's WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM is basically neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds are being used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administers the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special corps of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Members of the Civic Club of Oakland are taking the families shopping at Wal-Mart. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, long johns, jeans, boots, pajamas, or other needed winter items, spending up to $125 per child.

The Civic Club of Oakland is again heading up the volunteer/shopping coordination. Many volunteers are working together to make sure the children of Garrett County stay warm this winter.

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax-deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children.

Donations should be postmarked by December 5, 2009. Those collected after December 5 will be saved for next year's campaign.

Thanksgiving reminds us of the pilgrims of Plymouth, Massachusetts. They risked their lives crossing the treacherous Atlantic on the Mayflower, suffering disease and death on their long journey in search of a place where they could worship without being persecuted for their religious beliefs. Psalm 23:3 must have comforted them on their arduous journey "... He restores my soul. He guides me in paths of righteousness for His name's sake."

Because those brave men and women paved the way for our religious freedom, we need only walk down the street or drive across town to worship. This week, won't you travel the "paths of righteousness" to worship in God's House? Have a blessed Thanksgiving.

Following the Spirit Within

The Chinese word "Tao," which is often translated into English as "way," is actually much more meaningful than the single word "way." The Chinese character for Tao contains two symbols, a symbol of a person running forward and a symbol for the head (or mind). Thus, the word Tao literally means to run forward mindfully, or to follow the path. The figure running forward can also be interpreted to mean one's true self (i.e., one's head or mind is one's true self). Thus the Chinese character for Tao can be interpreted to mean diligently following the path of the true self. This is the deeper meaning of the Tao, in much the same way that Christians consider following the Spirit within them to be the true Way. All true religions tell us that we must diligently seek to follow the Spirit within us. Unfortunately, our true selves are obscured by our bodies, our desires, our past experiences, and the physical world. It requires diligent, concentrated effort to see the true path. Our true self always knows the path of wisdom, if only we can see and hear the Spirit within us. We should listen to the Spirit within us and diligently strive to follow the true and righteous path.

Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling; for God is at work in you...

Iron Supplements for Iron Deficiency Anemia

Anemia is a condition in which there is a reduced red blood cell mass accompanied by a decreased capacity by the blood to carry oxygen. Iron deficiency anemia is also characterized by a low hemoglobin count and small red blood cells. Sickle cell anemia and thalassemia are genetic forms of anemia that are similar to iron deficiency anemia. Women are more likely than men to be iron deficient. While there are many different types of anemia, iron deficiency anemia is the most common. This anemia is caused by a depletion of iron stored in the body, which may be caused by an insufficient amount of iron intake (especially from animal protein), an increased demand from the body for iron (such as in pregnancy, infants, adolescents, and the elderly), and loss of blood (such as due to trauma or gastrointestinal ulcers).

Iron supplements are available for the treatment of iron deficiency anemia. Such supplements should be taken 1 to 2 hours before eating a meal. It is best to take iron supplements with orange juice to improve absorption of the medication. Iron supplements also should be taken 1 hour before or 3 hours after antacids. Ferrous sulfate, ferrous gluconate, and ferrous fumarate are iron supplements commonly prescribed for this condition.

Capshaw sees shades of 'Grey's' these days

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Jessica Capshaw

Q: Is actress Jessica Capshaw the mother of Booth's son on "Bones"? If so, is she still on the series? And if not, where will we see more of her? –Richard Rose, Watervliet, Mich.

A: Just to put a little more distance between fact and fiction, Capshaw's character on the Fox series – Rebecca – is the mother of Booth's (David Boreanaz) son, and she wouldn't marry Booth, according to him. Since the character is recurring and not regular, there's always the chance Rebecca could resurface, but Capshaw is busy elsewhere in series television now.

The daughter of actress Kate Capshaw and stepdaughter of Hollywood titan Steven Spielberg, she's now playing Dr. Arizona Robbins on ABC's "Grey's Anatomy." She joined the medical drama last season for what was projected as only a handful of episodes, but her stay has been extended considerably.

Q: Can you tell me when "Dark Blue" will be returning with new shows? –Ryan Deever, Daytona Beach, Fla.

A: As this was being answered, TNT hadn't committed to a second season of the Jerry Bruckheimer-produced, Dylan McDermott-starring undercover cop drama. The first-season finale hit a ratings low for the show, which would not seem to be too promising an indicator of further episodes.

Q: I really liked the "Jesse Stone" TV movies, based on Robert B. Parker books and staring Tom Selleck. Are any more in the works? –Larry Mason, San Antonio

A: Those films clearly have devotees, since we get related queries at least every other week. Despite the solid ratings the muster ... each subsequent one, even if it's ready to go. Such is the case again with the sixth and latest, "Jesse Stone: No Remorse." It's been finished since last spring, but as of this writing, the network hadn't specified an airdate for it.

Q: Will "The Closer" have any new episodes soon? All I see are reruns. –Lee Rader, Pasadena, Md.

A: Give it one more week. Kyra Sedgwick's TNT police drama is set to resume with several new Monday episodes starting Dec. 7. An interesting aspect: Jon Tenney, alias Fritz on the show, also is doing a guest arc on ABC's "Brothers & Sisters," so he'll be seen on both series concurrently.

Q: I really like the show "In Plain Sight," and I would like to know if it will be back this year. –Barbara Cole, Babson Park, Fla.

A: Not this year, but you can look for the show's third season to begin in 2010 – likely toward the middle of the year – on USA Network.

A lay responder CPR/first aid/AED course will be held from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Wednesdays, Dec. 2, 16, and 30, at the Oakland ARC office, and Thursday, Dec. 3, Saturday, Dec. 12, and Tuesday, Dec. 22, at the Cumberland chapter house.

This eight-hour course combines adult, child, and infant CPR, AED, and first aid into one entire day of training.

The cost is $40 for new certification and $35 for recertification, and includes a text, CPR kits, a first aid practice kit, and two certification cards.

A first aid class will also be held from 6 until 9 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 9, at the chapter house in Cumberland.

assumed responsibility for their regulatory programs, conduct independent inspections of operators with state-issued surface coal mining permits. OSM would also conduct more oversight inspections, place greater emphasis on reducing the off-site impacts of mining, and review more state-issued surface coal mining permits and state permitting processes in an effort to improve state permitting decisions. The new OSM oversight and enforcement policy would also include revised guidelines for conducting oversight inspections.

"Through tougher oversight and stronger enforcement of SMCRA, we are putting all hands on deck to ensure that Appalachian communities are protected," said Pizarchik.

The reforms announced are consistent with the Obama administration's commitments in a June 11 Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) among the Department of the Interior, the Environmental Protection Agency, and the Army Corps of Engineers to reduce the harmful environmental consequences of Appalachian surface coal mining.

The public is invited to review and comment by December 18 on OSM's proposed Oversight Improvement Actions, which can be accessed at http://www.osmre.gov/topic/oversight/scm/scm.shtm. The preferred method for submitting comments is via e-mail to Oversight@osmre.gov. Comments may also be mailed to: Administrative Record (MS 252 SIB), Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, 1951 Constitution Avenue N.W., Washington, DC 20240.

Have You HEARD?
by M. Keith Nester, Sr., BC-HIS
M. Keith Nester, Sr., BC-HIS Cathy Arnold, HIS DECIBEL LEVELS
You may already be familiar with the unit used to measure sound intensity known as the "decibel," but you may not realize that every ten-point increase on the decibel scale represents a ten-time increase in sound intensity. While near-total silence is 0 decibels (dB), a 10-dB sound is ten times more powerful, and a 20-dB sound is 100 times more powerful than near-total silence. Normal conversation is about 60 dB, and any sound above 85 dB can cause hearing loss. If you have to raise your voice in order to be heard by someone else, you are exceeding the 85-dB level. It takes only eight hours of listening to sounds at the 90-dB level to cause hearing damage.
If you have questions about hearing deficits, hearing instruments, or hearing evaluations, or if you just need to talk to a hearing specialist about the state of your hearing, we want you to know you are always welcome at AUDIBEL. Perhaps you have a hearing aid that sits in the back of a drawer because it did not live up to your expectations. If so, bring it to us and let us take a look. It may be that a simple adjustment or a switch in styles is all it will take to bring your hearing abilities up to maximum capacity.
P.S. Exposure to 140-dB sound causes immediate damage and actual pain.

• You may be surprised to learn that in 1980, the mayor of Detroit gave the key to the city to Iraqi dictator Saddam Hussein.

• If you're planning a trip to Minnesota anytime soon, you might want to stop in the town of Pipestone to see its claim to roadside-attraction fame: a 30-foot-long peace pipe.

• If you think postage rates are getting high now, consider this: To send mail by Pony Express originally cost $5 per ounce — and that was when a dollar was worth a whole lot more than it is today.

• The World Health Organization does not include cockroaches on its list of insects hazardous to human health.

• It was in 2006 at a Christian youth conference in Atlanta that the world's largest recorded pillow fight took place, with some 10,000 teenagers taking part in the festivities.

• American author Ken Kesey is best known for his novel "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," which is set in a veterans' hospital. He got the inspiration for the novel from work he did with patients while working the night shift at Menlo Park Veterans Hospital — a job from which he was later fired.

• If you're ever vacationing in Denmark's capital city, you might want to keep in mind this unusual statute: It is against the law in Copenhagen for an unmarried couple wearing bathing suits to kiss on the beach.

• On Nov. 30, 1954, the first known modern instance of a meteorite striking a human being occurs at Sylacauga, Ala., when a meteorite weighing 8.5 pounds crashes through the roof of a house and into a living room, bounces off a radio and strikes a woman on the hip.

Q. At a recent garage sale, I purchased a box for $10 that contained nine bobbing-head dolls. They are in excellent condition and include mostly sports figures. How can I determine current values? — Theresa, Swansea, Ill.

Four Local Barns Ready For Quilt Block Self Tour

A total of four barns in Garrett County are now decorated with painted quilt squares as a result of the efforts of the Barn Quilt Association of Garrett County.

The first quilt square was placed on the barn at the Gary and Kate Fratz farm. Others are now located at the farms of Sue Logan, Wendell and Ruth Beitzel, and Greg Hinebaugh.

Interested persons may take a self-guided auto tour to see the four barns by downloading the information from the web site at www.garrettbarnquilts.org. Clicking on the "Self Tour" button on the left will bring up a downloadable map marked with the locations for each of the barns in the tour. Markers on the map will provide directions and more information.

More barn quilt blocks will be mounted next spring. Persons who would like to have a barn considered, make a financial donation, or volunteer services can find the forms on the web site, write for information at 809 Memorial Drive, Oakland, or call 301-616-4978.

"The mission of the Barn Quilt Association of Garrett County is to provide a sustainable heritage tourism attraction/activity while preserving and celebrating the unique agriculture, history, and arts culture of our area," a spokesperson said. "We want to use visual combinations of barns and quilt designs to educate the public and showcase our Appalachian tradition."

Diakon Ministries Names New CEO

MARK PILE

The operator of Diakon Adult Day Services at Mountain Glade, Oakland, has named its new president/CEO.

Mark T. Pile, of Macungie, Pa., was unanimously selected this week by the board of directors of Diakon Lutheran Social Ministries, Allentown, Pa., to head the organization, one of the nation's largest Lutheran social ministry agencies, effective Jan. 1.

Currently Diakon's chief operating officer, Pile will replace the Rev. Daun E. McKee, who is retiring the end of this year. Pile's selection culminates a more than yearlong national search process.

Locally, Diakon also operates the Frostburg Heights senior housing complex in Frostburg. Other regional programs include Ravenwood Lutheran Village and the Village at Robinwood, both in Hagerstown.

Pile was named chief operating officer when Diakon was created, having held a similar role with Lutheran Services Northeast. LSN and Tressler Lutheran Services affiliated in 2000 to create Diakon. Before joining LSN in 1997, Pile served as vice president of Somerset Hospital in western Pennsylvania.

A fellow with the American College of Health Care Executives and a member of the Academy of Certified Social Workers, Pile is a 1974 graduate of Lycoming College, Williamsport, Pa. He earned his master of science in social work degree from the University of Pittsburgh and also holds a master's degree in health administration from the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond.

WMC PROVIDES SUMMER JOBS FOR YOUTH – The Western Maryland Consortium Summer Youth Employment & Training Program (SYETP) provided 80 Garrett County youth with summer jobs this past year, and utilized 32 worksites throughout the county with one Garrett Roving work crew. The summer 2009 program was a seven-week program beginning June 22 and ending August 7. Samantha Priapi, Nathaniel Calhoun, Donald Teagarden, and Matt Broadwater, seen above left to right, all participated in the program by raking leaves for the WMC Garrett Roving crew at Broadford Park. Rosie Reid, below, also contributed by preparing sliced oranges at the Judy Overlook Center. The Western Maryland Consortium has provided local eligible youth with summer jobs for over 30 years. Funding for this past year's program was sponsored through local partnerships with Garrett County Department of Social Services, Workforce Investment Act, and additional American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (stimulus) grants. Any youth who would like to participate in this proven work program for the summer of 2010 may contact the Western Maryland Consortium at 301-334-8136.

Holiday May Hold Hope For Jobs As Maryland Unemployment Rises

by David M. Johnson
Capital News Service

Maryland's unemployment rate rose in October to its highest point since the recession began, but there's hope for jobs in a report showing seasonal retail positions may surpass 2008's poor numbers.

The state's unemployment rate inched up one-10th of a point to 7.3 percent, according to figures released Friday by the Department of Labor. This comes even though StateStat, Maryland's data tracking web site, reported more than 4,200 new-jobs as a direct result of stimulus money.

While the jobless figures are gloomy, those looking for temporary retail work during the holiday may find it just a little easier than last year's difficult season.

Holiday retail positions around the country are predicted to increase compared to those in 2008, but only because last year was the worst holiday hiring season since 1989.

During a normal year nationally, about 600,000 retail positions open up from October to December. Last year, 384,000 temporary jobs opened. This year the level is expected to be lower than normal, but an improvement over last year, said Challenger, Gray, and Christmas, which aids unemployed workers.

However, there is more competition for each job.

"The stronger sales figures heading into the holidays could boost seasonal hiring above last year's meager activity," said John A. Challenger, chief executive officer of Challenger, Gray, and Christmas. "However, it may also encourage more people to enter the holiday job market."

Maryland's seasonal employment numbers are projected to be on a par with, if not worse than, those of last year, according to Maryland Retail Association president Tom Saquella.

"The two biggest cost factors for retailers are payroll and inventory, and they're keeping a tight lid on both this season," Saquella said. "I would describe retailers as cautiously optimistic."

A paycheck is not the only reward for seasonal employees, he said.

"Most stores offer a nice discount for employees, sometimes 25 percent off," Saquella said. "As many people go to work for the discount as they do for the money."

Maryland payrolls reported gains in durable goods manufacturing, administrative and support services, and local education in October. Job losses were seen in construction, retail trade, and the financial sector, according to a statement from Alexander M. Sanchez, the secretary of the Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation.

"We have not yet seen the kind of broad-based, sustained job growth that would signal a clear path to recovery, and we still face many challenges in helping unemployed Marylanders get back to work," Sanchez said.

Part-time work may be a way to edge back into the full-time work force, said the Susquehanna Workforce Network in Havre de Grace.

"We're encouraging them to look for a variety of employment opportunities," said Bruce England, executive director of Susquehanna.

"Some will be needing to find some temporary or interim work before they are able to find their desired full-time employment. Obviously now we have more people unemployed than in many of the past years."

Susquehanna counseled a record number of clients looking for work during the 2009 fiscal year, as Maryland's unemployment rate grew from 4.4 percent to 7.2 percent.

In Our Hearts
We thought of you with love today,
But that is nothing new.
We thought about you yesterday,
And the days before that, too.
We think of you in silence.
We often speak your name.
Now all we have are memories,
And your picture in a frame.
Your memory is our keepsake,
With which we'll never part
God has you in his keeping.
We have you in our Heart
Sadly missed—
Aunt Hazel, we love you!

Local Student In Honor Guard At Cedar Crest

Hannah Walters of Grantsville, a sophomore at Cedar Crest College, Allentown, Pa., recently served in the student honor guard for the inauguration of Carmen Twillie Ambar as the 13th president of the college.

Dressed in academic regalia, the honor guard lined the procession route as the president and others processed, and followed the president as she entered Lees Hall auditorium for the ceremony.

Walters was one of 40 students who earned the honor based on her outstanding level of motivation and academic achievement. According to a Cedar Crest spokesperson, Walters "exemplifies the mission of the college, which is to educate women in the liberal arts, and prepare them to be leaders in an increasingly global society."

Hannah is the daughter of Walt and Teresa Walters.

Cedar Crest College was recently selected as a Top 10 women's college in the United States by Forbes. Founded in 1867, Cedar Crest currently enrolls approximately 1,900 students in more than 30 fields of study.

POP-UP MEAT THERMOMETERS

Q. How does that little thing work that pops up and tells you that a turkey is finished cooking?

A. This is a clever invention that takes advantage of a principle of materials. Like so many useful things that find their way into everyday products, the device is extremely cheap and can be thrown away without a second thought. That's a lot different from the old days, when you had to jab a large meat thermometer into the turkey and read the temperature off it while peering through the window on the oven.

The device consists of a tube with a shaft inside, plus a spring that (when released) will eject the shaft from the tube. Pretty simple, and cheap. The trick comes in the part about "when released." As manufactured, the shaft is locked tight in some material, and cannot be ejected. But at a certain temperature, that material melts, and then the shaft is free to move.

In the case of cooking a turkey, the idea is to have the shaft pop up when the meat reaches a certain temperature, which everyone agrees to call "done." That is usually about 180° to 190° F – not a wide range of variation. (Incidentally, 185° F = 85° C, by a conversion factor.)

Finding the right material that melts at exactly the right temperature is not all that hard to do. Just as ice melts at exactly 32° F (0° C), every other substance melts at a definite temperature. By mixing the right proportions of different materials, you can pick the temperature you like.

Here's a well-known example: Pure tin melts at 232° C, and pure lead melts at 327° C, but tin-lead solder is a mixture of the two called a eutectic; "60/40" solder melts at a lower temperature of 190° C (374° F). There is a very wide range of temperatures that can be selected by alloying the right combination of metals.

In a similar way, various ceramics and plastics can be mixed to select a particular melting point accurately. Having it be cheap and non-toxic (lest some blockhead shoveling it in might swallow the whole thing) are the criteria driving the selection.

For those whose idea of "done" is a different temperature of the meat, a traditional meat thermometer can always be used. Some families prefer to remove the wings and drumsticks a little sooner, while others prefer to let them roast a little longer. But for most people, in most cases, the pop-up thermometer tells you what you want to know, close enough.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED
Now that we've experienced the fallout from the subprime lending disaster, there is no longer such a thing as "easy money." Now you need perhaps ten to fifteen percent down, an excellent credit record and verifiable proof of income when you apply for financing.
One reason for all this scrutiny is that many lenders sell their loans on the secondary mortgage market, and they are using required (and automated) software to factor in all the variables in the equation that results in a thumbs up or a thumbs down. In other words, it's not quite as personal as it used to be.
Save yourself time, stress and heartbreak by seeking preapproval for financing before you even look at House One. I say "preapproval," and not "prequalification," because prequalification is only an "estimate" of the loan amount for which you might qualify once your application has been fully reviewed.
Preapproval puts you in the driver's seat with sellers, because it means that you have already basically "applied" for financing with your credit report, verified income, and proven ability to make a respectable down payment. Preapproval goes several steps beyond prequalification, and gives you the best indication of how much home you can afford.
If you don't have a lender that you know and trust, ask your real estate professional for help. He or she can put you in touch with a lender that they have used and trust.
If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

USDA National Scholars Program Open For 2010

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced this week that USDA/1890 National Scholars Program applications for the 2010 academic school year now are being accepted. Aspiring high school seniors and rising college sophomores and juniors are encouraged by the USDA to apply before the Feb. 1, 2010, deadline.

"This program furthers the Obama administration's goal of promoting and encouraging America's young men and women to consider careers in agriculture and public service," said Vilsack. "Under this terrific partnership, college-bound students benefit from an outstanding educational opportunity and USDA benefits from the knowledge, talent, diversity, and skills that they will one day bring to our organization."

The scholarship program is a partnership initiative between USDA and the 1890 Land Grant Universities and Tuskegee University. It is designed to expand diversity in USDA through the recruitment of talented students into public service in agriculture and related fields, including food sciences, natural resource sciences, and agricultural sciences.

Since the inception of the National Scholars Program in 1992, USDA has funded scholarships for over 500 students. Through this partnership, USDA also hires these graduates into career positions. USDA/1890 scholarship recipients receive full tuition, coverage of fees, books, use of laptop computers and printers, software, employment, and employee benefits for each of the four years they pursue a bachelor's degree. For each year of the scholarship, students receive room and board provided by the partnering institutions. Students are required to work one year at USDA for each year of their scholarship.

The mission of the Land-Grant system is to teach, conduct research, and provide outreach. The system was initiated by President Abraham Lincoln with the passing of the Morrill Act of 1862. A second Morrill Act was passed in 1890 to grant freed slaves and African Americans access to Land Grant institutions in southern states. The passage of this bill brought educational opportunities in technical, military, and agricultural sciences to the general working class population who had no other access to higher levels of learning.

USDA selects scholars based on recommendations of participating 1890 Land Grant institutions and Tuskegee University.

Three Maryland students were among the 23 USDA/1890 national scholars named for the 2009 academic year.

For more information about the USDA/1890 National Scholars Program, persons may contact Carl Butler, program manager, USDA/1890 National Scholars Program, at 202-720-9238 or by e-mail at: 1890init@usda.gov.

For more information or to access the application, persons may visit the USDA/1890 National Scholars Program web page at http://www.ascr.usda.gov/1890programs.html. Applicants should save the application to their computer, complete the form, and mail it to the USDA/1890 Agricultural Liaison Officer at the 1890 University of choice.

FFA COMPETES IN SOILS EVENT – Members of the Southern Garrett High School FFA recently competed in the Maryland State FFA Soils Career Development event in Washington County. The team placed second in the state, with Rebecca Winegardner taking top honors as the first place individual and Levi Lantz placing sixth in the event. During the competition, the students analyzed three land positions and soil profiles to determine soil properties. They classified each position and determined its limiting factors and land class. Next, land use recommendations were made for each position based on soil profile interpretations and provided data. The Southern team expressed its thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Donald O'Brien, Joshua McKnight, and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Lantz for their assistance in providing practice pits in preparation for the competition. Pictured above, front row, from left, are team members Mollie O'Brien, Jacob Stahl, and Rebecca Winegardner. In the back are Levi Lantz, Ryan Miller, and Aaron Lantz. For her first place win, Winegardner received a $100 award from the Maryland Soil Conservation Service. She is the current Southern High School FFA president.

Seminar Slated On Cover Crops

A cover crop seminar will be held at the Pleasant Valley Community Center near Oakland on Tuesday, Dec. 8, starting at 7 p.m. The featured speaker will be Les Yoder with Homestead Nutrition.

Yoder will focus his discussion on the use of cover crops to improve soil conditions. He will discuss why and how cover crops fit into the crop fertility program using a systems approach.

Yoder and Homestead Nutrition have been doing field research along with Penn State at the farm of Steve Groff near Lancaster, Pa. Together, they have developed some unique blends of cover crops that improve soil tilth and fertility, a spokesperson said.

The seminar is free of charge. Questions may be directed to the Garrett County Extension Office at 301-334-6960.

FSA REMINDS PRODUCERS TO VOTE IN THE 2009 ELECTION

Eric McCartney, county executive director of the Preston County Farm Service Agency, reminds farmers in Local Administrative Area (LAA) 3, which are the Lyon, Reno, and Union districts, to vote in the 2009 County FSA Committee election.

The County FSA Committee is the most direct link between USDA-Farm Service Agency programs and local producers. County committee members administer USDA-FSA programs on the local level, inform producers of program provisions, recommend necessary program changes, participate in county committee meetings, and perform other duties assigned by the state FSA committee.

"So please take time to vote for the candidate that you think is most qualified to serve the farmers in your LAA," McCartney said.

Completed election ballots must either be postmarked or returned to the Preston County FSA Office no later than Monday, Dec. 7. The Farm Service Agency encourages participation in the 2009 committee election by all under-represented groups in LAA 3.

Eligible producers in LAA 3 who have not received an election ballot in the mail may obtain a ballot by telephoning 304-329-1923, faxing 304-329-3056, or visiting the FSA office located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza. Anyone interested in learning more about the Farm Service Agency may also go online and visit www.fsa.usda.gov./pas/default.asp.

The Preston County FSA Committee will tabulate LAA 3 election ballots on Wednesday, Dec. 9, at 9:30 a.m., in the Kingwood USDA Service Center. The counting is open to the public.

In Memory of Hazel Stewart who passed away November 25, 2007

A million times, I'll need you,
A million times I've cried,
If love alone could have saved you,
You never would have died.

If all the world was mine to give,
I would give it, yes, and more,
To see you coming up the steps, and walking through the door.

To hear your voice, to see your smile,
To sit and talk with you awhile,
To be with you the same old way,
Would be my fondest wish today.

A heart of gold stopped beating,
Two smiling eyes laid to rest,
God broke my heart to prove to me,
He only takes the best.

Sadly missed by,
Cecil and Robin

Demaree Inflatable Boats Inc. Rewards Wendy Frantz For 25 Years Of Service

CELEBRATING 25 YEARS OF SERVICE Is Wendy Frantz of Friendsville as she was recently recognized and awarded $2,500, $100 for each year of service, by Dave Demaree of Demaree Inflatable Boats Inc. (DIB). Frantz began working at DIB in 1984 as an entry level boat assembly technician and has since moved to the position of assembly floor supervisor. See story for more details.

Demaree Inflatable Boats Inc. (DIB), a leading manufacturer of industrial grade inflatable boats and pontoons, recently celebrated the 25-year anniversary of one of its key employees, Wendy Frantz of Friendsville. To celebrate the event, DIB president Dave Demaree asked all of the employees to gather in the break room, where he handed Wendy $2,500 in cash – $100 for each year of service.

"I am really pleased to award this $2,500 to Wendy, for all of her years of loyal service at Demaree Inflatable Boats," said Demaree. "We know that Wendy shares our commitment to building the highest quality industrial grade inflatable boats, pontoons, military boats and rescue boats on the market today."

In 1984, Wendy started working at DIB as an entry level boat assembly technician, and as a result of her consistent high-quality work throughout the years, she was eventually promoted to assembly floor supervisor.

"A lot has changed since I started with Demaree Inflatable Boats in 1984," said Frantz. "At that time, Ronald Reagan was president of the United States and Ghostbusters was the top movie at the theatres. Likewise, I have seen DIB grow from a handful of people making whitewater boats to more than 20 employees making a wide variety of boats and related products which are shipped all over the world. If you don't mind rolling up your sleeves and working hard, DIB is a great place to work."

With headquarters in Friendsville, DIB is a custom manufacturer of industrial grade inflatable workboats, rescue boats, pontoons, and Rigid Inflatable Boat (RIB) sponsons (stabilizing tubes/collars) for government and for private industry.

Everyone Wins When You Make Charitable Gifts

Its Thanksgiving time again. Like everyone else, you probably have many things in your life for which you are thankful. And you may want to show your appreciation for what you have by making a gift to a charitable organization. If you do, both you and the charitable group can come out ahead.

Of course, it s no secret that 2009 has been an unusual year for the economy, with most of us feeling the effects of the recession in one way or another. Consequently, you may believe you can t really afford to make charitable gifts right now. But there s probably never been a more urgent need for these gifts, as the distressed economy has led to a decline in contributions for charities across the country. Furthermore, your charitable gift can provide you with some distinct economic advantages.

Specifically, by making charitable contributions, you can gain these tax benefits:

• You can take an immediate tax deduction. If you itemize your taxes, you can deduct your contributions to charitable organizations as long as they are tax-qualified. (Be sure to ask the organization if it has tax-qualified status.) Your tax deductions for charitable contributions are generally limited to 50% of your adjusted gross income. (If you want to claim a deduction for the 2009 tax year, you ll need to make your contribution before Jan. 1.)

• You can avoid capital gains taxes. If you want to support a charitable group, you re not limited to making cash contributions – you can also donate other assets, such as stocks or real estate. If you ve held these assets for a long time, their value may have risen considerably. If you were to sell appreciated assets, you d have to pay capital gains taxes on your profits. But if you donated these assets, you could avoid the capital gains liability while still claiming the tax deduction.

• You can remove assets from your taxable estate. In 2010, the estate tax is repealed, but it will be back in 2011. Estate taxes can be heavy, and if your heirs aren t prepared for them, they may have to sell assets to pay them. To possibly help avoid this problem, you may want to reduce the value of your taxable estate. One way to do this – and also receive an immediate income tax deduction – is to donate assets, such as investments and property, to a charitable group. If you want to still enjoy the benefits of these assets while you re alive, you could transfer them to a charitable remainder trust, which would then sell them and reinvest the proceeds, out of which you could receive an income stream for life. Upon your death, the charity you have designated will receive the remainder of the trust s assets. (To properly establish this type of trust, you ll need to work with a qualified legal advisor.)

As you can see, the old saying "when you give, you also receive" is certainly true when it comes to making charitable donations. So during this holiday season, be as generous as possible to charitable groups and to yourself.

BPW Approves Land Acquisition In Garrett County

The Maryland Board of Public Works yesterday approved the acquisition of more than 200 acres of land in Garrett County through Program Open Space. The board also accepted acreage donated by the Nature Conservancy.

The BPW approved $365,625 for the acquisition of 244 acres of forestland in-holdings within Savage River State Forest southwest of Frostburg. The properties contain rare mountain peat land, unusual red spruce forest, and sensitive wetlands.

The Department of Natural Resources noted in a press release that the complex is a large, high quality wetland with numerous state-listed threatened species. Mountain peat land and red spruce forest communities are found around the wetland; these are natural habitats that are usually found much farther north in

Anonymous Donor Pledges $25,000 In Matching Funds To Dove Center

The Dove Center, Garrett County's domestic violence prevention and resource center, has received a pledge of $25,000 from an anonymous donor to launch Phase II of the organization's current capital campaign.

The Capital Campaign Committee has been raising funds since 2007 for a new family shelter with additional office and counseling space. The pledge is structured to match new funds donated by individuals, groups, and businesses through the end of 2009.

Several local business owners have already contributed under the Community Investment Tax Credit program, which gives back approximately 72% in tax credits for every dollar donated. The CITC is still available for business owners who want to give to the Dove Center. For every $1,000 contributed, the business gets back approximately $720 in tax credits.

"The Community Investment Tax Credit (CITC) program is an excellent way to help your community while securing bonus tax savings for you and your business.," said Mary Lantz, CPA of Craig Ingram and Associates. "The low net out-of-pocket cost makes this expenditure one of the best ways to spend your business's funds, and provides an efficient end-of-year opportunity for last minute tax savings."

The Dove Center provides over 7,000 services to more than 500 new families on an annual basis, a center spokesperson said.

"The positive work done by the Dove Center has more of an impact than most people realize," said Denny Glotfelty, Garrett County commissioner. The center spokesperson note that the three county commissioners have personally contributed to the capital campaign.

The proposed shelter will be located close to health and community service centers, and will temporarily house up to six families at a time. The building, which has been designed by Marta Hanson of Hanson and As-

Garrett Co. Towns Awarded Program Open Space Funds

Gov. Martin O'Malley announced yesterday that the Board of Public Works has approved two recreational projects in Garrett County through Program Open Space and the Community Parks and Playgrounds Program.

Oakland will receive $88,000 to upgrade the existing concession stand, improve the picnic area, replace the lifeguard stands, renovate the ticket booth, and replace older playground equipment with new handicapped-accessible equipment at Broadford Lake Recreation Area. These improvements will be made near the park's swimming area.

Grantsville will receive $8,000 to install safety lighting next to the community park walking trail and build a gazebo near the town's fishing pond and library.

Seven other areas in Maryland were also awarded project funding, including Barton, Frostburg, Lonaconing, and Westernport.

Constellation Energy Takes Over Clipper Windpower Turbine Proj.

Constellation Energy announced Monday it had signed an agreement to own, develop, construct, and operate a 70-megawatt wind turbine project planned for Garrett County's Backbone Mountain.

The Baltimore-based company will acquire the $140 million Criterion project from Clipper Windpower Inc., which had planned to erect 28 turbines along the ridgeline in the Eagle Rock area.

Constellation is expected to finalize its deal with Clipper in the first quarter of 2010 and have their turbines in operation by fall. Project proponents estimate the wind farm will generate enough electricity for 23,000 households.

Old Dominion Electric Cooperative has a 20-year agreement to sell that power. The not-for-profit wholesaler provides electric to cooperatives in Maryland, Delaware, and Virginia.

Clipper is headquartered in California and the United Kingdom and operates a turbine manufacturing plant in Iowa. A company spokeswoman said the decision to sell the project did not reflect a lack of confidence in Maryland's market for renewable power. She noted it was "normal" for her company to develop wind projects and then sell them to others to build and operate.

The Eagle Rock project will be Constellation's first wind power generating venture. But the company has been buying wind power produced in the Midwest.

Constellation officials note they recently completed one of the largest photovoltaic systems in Maryland – a nearly 1-megawatt solar project for McCormick & Company – and constructed a 300-kilowatt solar system for the Maryland Environmental Service, the first of its kind for a Maryland state agency.

The Eagle Rock project is the first of two commercial wind farms planned for Garrett County. Synergics Wind Energy received approval from the Maryland Public Service Commission last month to construct 20 50-megawatt wind turbines in the Roth Rock area of Backbone Mountain.

The Annapolis-based company has a 20-year agreement with Delmarva Power & Light to buy the electricity generated by that project.

Md. Finalizes Financing For Liberty Mews

Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) Secretary Raymond A. Skinner announced yesterday that DHCD has committed over $2.3 million in state loans and federal American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) financing for Liberty Mews, a rental housing project that will create 36 affordable townhouse units in Oakland.

Sponsored by the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Liberty Mews will be located adjacent to Liberty Square, a 30-unit elderly housing development completed earlier this year, and its renters will have the opportunity to become homeowners by purchasing their rental units after 15 years.

"Liberty Mews is a testament to Maryland's strong partnership with the Garrett County Community Committee and the great support the state has received through the federal American Recovery and Reinvestment Act," said Skinner. "The construction of Liberty Mews will create jobs in Garrett County, provide affordable rental housing for Oakland, and put its residents on the path to homeownership."

According to a DHCD spokesperson, "Liberty Mews residents who choose to purchase their units and become homeowners will receive homeownership counseling and support from Community Action, helping prepare them to

by Karen Anderson
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Even with all the painful reductions to this year's budget, next year's revenue shortfall is predicted to be nearly twice as large, as much as $2 billion, creating a real challenge for Maryland legislators assigned to draft a budget the state can afford.

To make up for it, the legislature will have to find ways to spend less since many state leaders are against imposing additional taxes to generate revenue.

"We're not going to raise any taxes next year," said Senate President Thomas V. Mike Miller Jr. at a legislative preview he and House Speaker Michael Busch hosted in Annapolis Tuesday evening.

"So we're going to have to do less with less," Miller said.

Both Miller and Busch made it clear that K-12 education, which grew in spending by roughly $700 million since fiscal 2007 while the rest of the state's general fund budget shrank, should remain a top priority

MRS. BOB CRATCHIT'S WILD CHRISTMAS BINGE, a comedy by Christopher Durang, will be the next stage presentation by the Northern High School department of theatre arts. The Christmas show will be given at the school on Dec. 3-5 at 8 p.m. The play is "a playful, cracked look at the perennial Dickens' Christmas classic about Ebenezer Scrooge and his discovery of the true meaning of Christmas through the visitation of three ghosts. In Durang's giddy version, the ghosts' magic is off, and Scrooge and the ghosts keep showing up at Bob Cratchit's house way too early, where Mrs. Bob Cratchit is in a state of fury, hating her life, and planning on doing anything in her power to get out of her current state of affairs." Tickets will be sold at the door, $10 for general admission and $7 for students. The production will run in two acts, with concessions available at intermission. The lead role will be played by junior Becca Engle. Other cast members are Derek Broadwater as Ebenezer Scrooge, Austin Tombley as Bob Cratchit, Laura Schroyer, Zak Harding, Zachary Green, Marley Kamp, Rebecca Glotfelty, Ashley Miller, Blair Upole, Alex Baker, Rosemary Rosser, Sarah Glotfelty, Jordan Seamon, Kendra Paugh, Kerri Darby, and Lucinda Griffin. Other students involved in the production are Jack Chilcoat, Katelynn Hanek, Ethan Smith, Madi Sines, Asa Archer, and Jenna Duckworth. The play is directed by theatre teacher Nathan Marshall, student directed by sophomore Alexandria Glotfelty, and stage managed by junior Dylan Humberson. All the proceeds from the performance will benefit the NHS Drama Club and the department of theatre arts. Pictured above from left are Becca Glotfelty, Rosemary Rosser, Austin Tombley, Alex Glotfelty, Ashley Miller, and Jordan Seamon.

STUDENTS COLLECT 1.5 TONS OF FOOD – The Garrett County Community Action Committee's Food Resources office recently coordinated with Garrett County Health Department AmeriCorps members in a Kids Helping Kids Food Drive. A total of 3,000 pounds was collected by students at Dennett Road Elementary, Swan Meadow, Bloomington Elementary, Northern High, and Southern Middle schools. Food was picked up at the schools by Sandy Sutton, AmeriCorps supervisor, and AmeriCorps members Austin and Raven Smith. Pictured are Swan Meadow students shopping for food and loading their donations into an agency van. Community Action's food programs promote the agency's goal of increasing the number of families and individuals who are economically self-sufficient and able to live independently in the county. G-Force Preparing For Maryland State FTC Tourney

by Arlene Lantz

The Garrett County 4-H and GEARS sponsored FIRST Tech Challenge (FTC) G-Force team has been working hard to prepare for this weekend's Maryland State FTC Tournament. The team will have the opportunity to tour a flight simulator that air traffic controllers use for training at CSC in Rockville, before competing at the College of Southern Maryland in La Plata on Saturday.

This year's FIRST Tech Challenge game is the Hot Shot Challenge for the 2009 season. Each game match is made up of two distinct types of play – operator-controlled and autonomous. Each tournament features alliances of two teams playing side-by-side on the playing field. Teams will compete to score the most points by completing various tasks, including emptying Ball Chutes with plastic baseball-size wiffel balls and scoring them in high, low, and off-field goals.

Teams will be challenged by completing tasks during autonomous and driver-controlled periods and will be scoring special bonus balls for double points at the end of a match. The team's engineering notebook that they work in each practice will be part of the team judging. The youth also have to meet with a panel of technical judges to explain the features of their robot and how their team contributes to their community.

The team members on G-Force have given back over 1,000 hours of robotic community service since they returned from the World Festival in April. They have done several 4-H afterschool workshops, helped each month with the family SuGO Sunday events at GEARS, and have been helpers for the Board of Education summer technology camps and for local FLL teams. They have also held robotic demonstrations at the Maryland Days at College Park, the Garrett County Agriculture Fair, and the Maryland State Fair, and they have presented workshops at the Maryland 4-H State Teen Focus at College Park and at the Maryland State Teen and Adult Leader Forum in Ocean City.

G-FORCE PREPS FOR TOURNAMENT – Delegate Wendell Beitzel stopped by GEARS this past Sunday to congratulate last year's G-Force team and to give the members best wishes for the upcoming tournament this weekend. He presented each team member with a Maryland House of Delegates House Resolution Certificate in recognition of placing second in the 2009 FIRST World Championship for robotics. Above, in the front row, are Derrick Maust, Kevin Haenftling, Delegate Beitzel, and Kendrick Bender. Back row: Bryan Rippeon, Aaron Lantz, Nathan Tichnell, and Mikail Perrine. Not pictured: new freshmen rookies Zach Frick and Levi Lantz joining the team this year. Below are Derrick Maust and Levi Lantz coaching Donald T. Floyd Jr., president and CEO of the National 4-H Council, on how to run the team's demo FTC robot. "G-Force team members are amazing," noted Floyd, "especially when they sneak one of those robots up behind you." The team recently spent two days at the National Association of Extension 4-H Agents Conference in Rochester, N.Y., showcasing its robotic platforms to 4-H agents and state leaders across the country. The next SuGO event will be held this Sunday, Dec. 6, at 1 p.m. at GEARS. See story for details.

The team is working with the Maryland state 4-H leaders to help establish the Maryland Robotics Pilot program. The National 4-H Council and Lockheed Martin are providing funding for this pilot program. G-Force has done two different robotic introduction workshops across the state and have several training sessions scheduled to be held at GEARS this winter.

At the FTC World Festival in Atlanta this past April, the G-FORCE team had the opportunity to meet several of the staff on the National 4-H Council working with the Science, Engineering, and Technology (SET) 4-H program.

"Seeing the G-Force team in action at the US FIRST International Competition in Atlanta was truly an inspiration," stated Eddie Locklear, the National 4-H SET Director. "It reminded me of the reason I have devoted over 34 years to 4-H." He explained that by interacting with the 4-H members and volunteers of G-FORCE, several strategies have been developed for building a 4-H robotics program to serve thousands of youth throughout the 4-H system. "Thanks to G-Force members for the tremendous contribution they are making to this important 4-H SET Program."

G-FORCE is also working with the National 4-H Council to establish new 4-H FIRST teams. Team mentors are sharing their FIRST experience with teams across the country as they facilitate various conference calls. G-Force received one of these grants from the National 4-H Council to help support their FIRST team this year.

The National 4-H Council recently invited the team to the National Association of Extension 4-H Agents (NAE4-HA) Conference in Rochester, N.Y., to demonstrate their robots for the 4-H agents and state leaders across the country. The team also met several of the National 4-H Council staff including Donald T. Floyd Jr., who is the National 4-H Council president and CEO.

"G-Force members have a passion for robotics and science that gives me great confidence in our future," stated Floyd.

Northern High School To Host FLL Tournament

Northern High School will be hosting a FIRST LEGO League (FLL) qualification tournament on Saturday, Dec 12. This is the first time that an event like this has been offered in Garrett County. In the past, FLL teams had to travel to the Baltimore or Pittsburgh, Pa., areas to the tournaments. The event is sponsored by Garrett Container Systems Inc. of Accident and organized by FLL veteran coach Sandy Rodeheaver.

The event will be held in the NHS gymnasium, with opening ceremonies beginning at 9 a.m. and robot rounds commencing at 9:30. Spectators can expect to watch robot rounds throughout the morning until 11:30 a.m. and then from 12:15 to 1 p.m. in the afternoon. An awards ceremony will be conducted shortly after the last robot round.

Eight teams will be participating, six from Garrett County and two from the Hagerstown area. Teams winning in the four judging areas and the overall Tournament Champion's Award will be invited to compete at the Maryland State FLL Championship in January.

State organizers have arranged for nine qualification events throughout Maryland. Prior to this season, all Maryland teams have been able to compete at a single state championship event. Because of tremendous growth in the number of FLL teams in Maryland, state organizers are requiring that teams compete in one of these nine events to qualify to participate in the state championship.

"Every aspect of a large scale FLL event will be replicated at our local competition," stated Rodeheaver, despite the relatively small number of teams competing. "This will be a wonderful opportunity to come and experience the high level of excitement and enthusiasm toward science, engineering, and math generated at FLL competitions." She encourages all considering starting or becoming involved with a FIRST LEGO League to the event.

FIRST LEGO League teams consist of up to 10 students, ages 9 to 14 years. Teams compete by designing and building a completely autonomous robot over an eight-week period to tackle various challenges on a 4' x 8' playing field. Only LEGO components can be used to build the robots, including LEGO controllers, sensors, and motors. Teams must complete a research project related to the theme of the year and present the project to a panel of judges during the day of competition. This will be the eighth year that the Garrett County Board of Education has been sending FIRST LEGO League teams to various regional, state, and world competitions.

Organizers extend thanks to Garrett Container Systems of Accident for partnering with Northern High School to make this event possible.

More information can be obtained about the event on the NHS web site www.nh.ga.k12.md.us or by calling 301-616-3231.

THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE award for best decorated Christmas tree at the second annual Festival of Trees was presented to one titled "Ringers & Singers: St. Mark's Lutheran Church Celebrates Church Music Worldwide." The tree was designed and decorated by Jim Tong, owner of Jan Florist, Oakland, and other members of St. Mark's. All proceeds of the festival, held at the former Oakland armory, will go to the Dove Center, Garrett's County's shelter for victims of domestic abuse. Pictured above are Dorothy Tuel, chairman of the Dove Center board of directors, and her husband Dr. David Tuel. According to Pam Trickett, chairperson of the festival, the event was "major success." She noted that visitors came from a five-state area and made the four-day festival part of their family Thanksgiving observance. She said that the "Twas the Night Before" preview party and live auction held last Wednesday were also well attended, with Joe Friend donating his auctioneer services. "The festival showcased the amazing creativity and heart-felt generosity of our community," Trickett said. "We're grateful to all the volunteers who make this event happen, to the donors and bidders, and to the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce for support and encouragement."

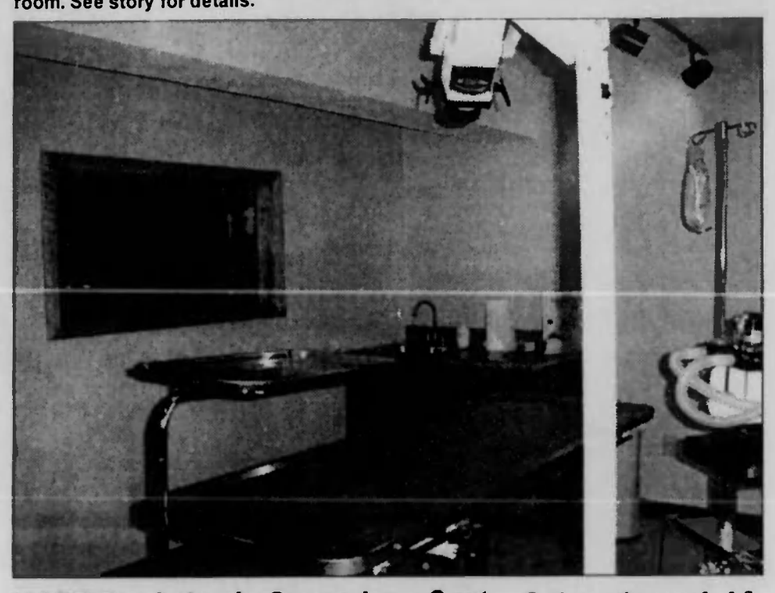
SPAY/NEUTER CLINIC BECOMES A REALITY – HART for Animals Inc. opened a low-cost spay/neuter clinic in the McHenry Plaza this week. The facility is a key part of the nonprofit organization's effort to reduce the number of unwanted animals in Garrett County. Pictured are the front of the clinic and the operating room. See story for details.



HART For Animals Opens Low-Cost Spay/Neuter Clinic In McHenry Plaza

HART for Animals Inc. announced Monday that it had successfully completed the state of Maryland's inspection and approval process for a low-cost spay/neuter clinic. The facility, located in the McHenry Plaza along Rt. 219, is a key part of HART's effort to reduce the number of unwanted animals in the county.

The HART Spay/Neuter Clinic will provide low-cost spaying and neutering for the pets of individuals whose income level would otherwise prevent them from altering their pets. Eligibility will be determined by presenting either a government assistance card, such as an Independence Card, or other proof of financial need.

Initially only male cats will be neutered, as HART phases in female cat spaying and then dog neutering and spaying during 2010. All surgeries will be by appointment only, in the order in which the calls are received.

The cost per cat surgery will be $50, and part or all of the cost may be covered by vouchers from Garrett County's other animal organizations and by donations.

The clinic is not a full-service veterinary office and will be open Monday to Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on surgery days. The clinic can be contacted by phone at 301-387-SPAY (7729) or by e-mail at clinic@hartforanimals.org. Calls will be answered or returned during business hours from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

As always, animals that are lost or are being given up by their owners must be taken to the Garrett County Animal Shelter at 152 Oakland Sang Run Road and cannot be left at the clinic.

HART for Animals has been rescuing and transporting animals to regional rescue groups since 2003. In 2007, HART began a campaign to raise funds to build an animal adoption center in the county. This year, the organization signed a 99-year lease with the county for a 6.5-acre property along Bumble Bee Road, which is the projected site for the center.

The Spay/Neuter Clinic in McHenry will not delay the building of the adoption center, according to HART president Michael Pellet.

"On the contrary, when people see the HART Clinic, they will realize how great is the need and how much their help can make a difference," he said. "We are deeply grateful to Drs. Pat and Sue (Bredel) because without them we would not be able to do this."

HART's rescue coordinator Caroline Robison said this year has been a very difficult one for rescues, as the difficult economy and home foreclosures have resulted in an increase in the number of homeless animals.

"Even with volunteers fostering animals, especially kittens, we were not able to keep up with so many animals," she said. "Few people outside of animal rescue can imagine how painful it is to condemn healthy animals to death just because there is no place to keep them."

HART for Animals, Inc. is a 501(c)(3) organization. For additional information on their programs and the Spay/Neuter Clinic, persons may visit hartforanimals.org or call 301-387-SPAY (7729).

DUI Charges Filed Following Single-Vehicle Accident

A Terra Alta, W.Va., man was arrested and charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies following a single-vehicle accident on Hutton Road on Saturday.

Shawn Gittere, 36, had reportedly been traveling west, when he crossed the center line and drove off the eastbound lane and struck a tree. He then drove down an embankment and landed back on the roadway. Investigation determined Gittere to be intoxicated.

He was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Southern Rescue Squad. Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

He is charged with driving under the influence, driving while impaired, violation of license restriction, crossing the center line, and failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision. Upon release from GCMH, Gittere was transported to the Garrett County Detention Center to await a bond hearing.

Oakland Rotary Assembling Gift Boxes For Needy

The Oakland Rotary Club's annual Christmas Project will get under way at the southern end of the county on Saturday, Dec. 12, at 8:30 a.m., with gifts and food certificates being delivered to those in need.

The gift boxes will be assembled on Friday, Dec. 11, at St. Peter's Catholic Church parish hall, Oakland, in preparation for Saturday's deliveries.

The Grantsville Rotary Club will be handling arrangements for the northern end of the county.

Families and friends are invited to take part in this Christmas experience, with the purpose of helping children, families, and senior citizens to enjoy the holiday season.

The Rotary clubs of Garrett County extend thanks to all volunteers and those who have donated presents.

Those with questions or who are seeking more information may contact Daryl Walters at 301-334-7601, or any Rotary member.

Deputies Respond To Several Weather-Related Accidents

Icy roadways were found to be the cause of several weekend accidents. Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to the following accidents, which are unrelated.

Deputies responded to the 5000 block area of Kitzmiller Road Saturday morning for a single-vehicle accident. Investigation revealed that Rebecca Reckart, Kitzmiller, had been traveling west, when she lost control of the 1997 Ford SUV she was operating. The vehicle traveled off the westbound shoulder and overturned. Reckart was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Elk Garden Rescue Squad. No citations were issued.

An accident was reported at approximately 11 a.m. Saturday morning which led deputies to Ben Dewitt Road. Investigation revealed that Harold Cole, 64, Oakland, had been traveling eastbound when he lost control on the icy roadway. His vehicle struck a utility pole, causing it to snap. Cole was taken by Southern Rescue Squad to GCMH, where he was treated and released. He was not cited for the accident.

Deputies were called to Sang Run Road late Friday afternoon for a reported two-vehicle accident with injuries. It was revealed that Merchant Brownfield, Uniontown, Pa., was eastbound, when he lost control of the 1997 Chevrolet sedan he was operating. Lewis Pennington, Baltimore, was traveling west and noticed the sedan out of control. He slowed his 1997 Dodge pickup truck to a stop before Brownfield's sedan struck it.

Brownfield was taken to GCMH by Northern Rescue Squad. Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company also responded to the 5 p.m. mishap. It was determined that icy road conditions were the cause of the accident.

SHS STUDENT ATTAINS HIGH RANK – John Edward Compton, a student at Southern High School, recently received an award from the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10077. Compton attained the rank of Eagle Scout in the Boy Scouts of America, and has been awarded numerous other badges and awards from the Scouts. Compton is active in many programs at Southern, including ROTC, and has been decorated many times. In honor of his achievements, the VFW presented him with a check and a certificate of recognition at a ceremony in November. He is pictured, left to right, with Paul Everly, Compton, Wayne McCaughey, and Lt. Cmdr. Ralph Sheaffer.

Juvenile Caught Shoplifting At Oakland Wal-Mart

An 11-year-old was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies last Friday after a shoplifting complaint was made by a Wal-Mart employee.

It was reported that the male juvenile was seen placing electronic devices into his pockets. When he was confronted by the deputies, it was discovered that he was concealing approximately $100 worth of merchandise in his coat.

The juvenile, who is from the Washington, D.C., area, was detained and later released to a family member at the scene. Charges were filed through the Department of Juvenile Services. He is charged with theft under $500.

The Price of Fame...

The accident involving golf great Tiger Woods this week and subsequent revelations about his apparent promiscuous behavior that have the major media piranhas in an absolute frenzy is without question a disappointing turn of events, even for those who don't particularly like the game of golf. While the majority of even the most ardent fans would acknowledge that Woods is indeed just a human being, with many of the same weaknesses as everyone else, his actions this week have nonetheless caused him to plummet from that unrealistic, squeaky-clean pedestal, likely never to return again.

One cannot help but to admire Woods for his incredible level of skill and accomplishment as a golfer, but his fall from grace has been all the more pronounced because it is the first time in his life that he has been cast in a negative light. And everyone in the entire world is watching and listening.

Yes, there is no question that the highly competitive, grossly insensitive media go overboard when something like this happens. There is something wrong when the infidelity of a super star becomes the #1 news event of the day or week, superseding coverage of all other truly newsworthy events that impact hundreds, or even millions, of people. They also toss an individual's right to privacy to the wind, pulling out all the stops to get as many juicy details as possible.

The problem for Woods is that, when one such as he who has become such a positive role model, particularly for children, is implicated by his unsavory misdeeds, it really does take a toll on more than just him and his family.

To the envy of many, Tiger reportedly raked in approximately $1 billion this past year. From a material goods perspective, he can virtually own anything he wants. Yet, there are probably few people who would want to trade places with him today.

Fame is something which so many people strive to attain, but few take into account the potentially destructive consequences that so often come with it.

To the Editor:

As we shop for gifts this season, let's try to spend our hard-earned dollars in our own community. Rather than heading out to distant malls and mega-stores, perhaps we could consider our local options. We have many fine shops for special gifts, as well as services that provide gift certificates. Let's help our neighbors by patronizing Garrett County businesses.

To the Editor:

As a citizen of the town of Oakland, I have some major concerns regarding a proposed ordinance. The acting mayor and council are making a request for refinancing of various projects, providing for the issuance and sale of an aggregate principal amount not to exceed $3,325,000. Yes, that total is three million, three hundred twenty-five thousand dollars!

This ordinance will be on the agenda for discussion at the next meeting, which will be held next Monday, Dec. 7, at 7 p.m

I have been regularly attending the meetings of the council and asking questions regarding proposals or policies that affect me directly as a taxpayer. I intend to question the amount of money the town is requesting to refinance the Third Street Bridge.

I strongly encourage everyone to attend this meeting and to actively participate by asking questions concerning this proposal.

To the Editor:

This is in response to the editor's "Not Rocket Science..." editorial of 11/19/09 and the letter by Jan Fickel (11/26/09).

The editorial states, 'Wind turbines are failing all over the United States and Europe." I have searched the web and have not found any study that supports his statement of large-scale failures and abandonments. However, I do agree with the editor that all power-generating industries should be regulated and held to the highest standards for the safety of the public

As for Mr. Finkel, didn't you understand the satire of calling Jon Boone a "Fighter of Windmills" Don Quixote? Mr. Boone has made a career as a self-proclaimed non-paid "crusader" fighting windmill technology.

Mr. Boone's ego may have been injured by my letter, but unless he resides near a coal-fired power plant he is probably still healthy.

The really relevant disparaging comment in my editorial was: Coal power plants in the USA kill 30,000 people each year.

Does anyone care about that fact?

Now a little thought to ponder - The Wright Brothers made the first heavier-than-air flight a little more than 100 years ago. Many good things came out of that flight. First, there was no lost luggage. Secondly, it was the beginning of where we are today, flying around the globe as an everyday convenience, not to mention several manned trips to the moon and a continuously manned multi-national space station orbiting the Earth.

This aforementioned observation may seem disconnected to the energy conundrum, but it illustrates what can be done in just one and one-third lifetimes.

Just imagine what we can do if we apply our technology and resources to the renewable-energy tasks. Just maybe we can improve our environment and even protect the health of our citizens. Maybe we can do the above in a lifetime. Maybe in your lifetime.

Remember, if you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem.

To the Editor:

With the holidays approaching, Garrett College has participated in the Festival of Trees, a fundraiser for the Dove Center. It was such a wonderful experience to see the community come together in the holiday spirit to help those in need

The college's tree, titled "I'm Dreaming of a GREEN Christmas," had ornaments all made from recycled and repurposed materials to bring awareness to the need for energy and resource conservation. We did it as a contest, so the students and staff participated in making the ornaments, and we placed them on a live potted blue spruce tree.

I mention this for two reasons: One is, I think we should all stop and think about what we are doing this holiday to lower our impact and conserve our precious resources while still finding a way to celebrate the holiday spirit in a meaningful way. Sitting around tables in the cafeteria with students and staff creating original ornaments, talking, laughing, and sharing ideas, was much more rewarding than rushing around the malls and other department stores looking for imported ornaments from China. And think: Will this year's lawn ornament be next year's landfill problem?

My second reason for mentioning this is that I would like to suggest that we think about the gifts we buy, and support our local businesses rather than supporting cheap products sent from overseas. Most do not think about the resources required to get that cheap product from China or other places to here – the plane or cargo ship trips, the trucking and the gas required to get these products to stores.

Some alternative ideas: a live plant from a local florist or a visit to antique stores such as the Blue Moon in Grantsville, where you would be recycling a beautiful treasure from the past. It is much more pleasant to browse a store such as Schoolhouse Earth or the Book Mark'et than to fight the crowds at the mall.

There is also a lot of local artwork that make great gifts. Visit Penn Alps or the Garrett County Arts Council's Gallery Shop in Oakland.

Last year, my husband, son, and I made baskets of homemade goodies with colorful noodles and jams and tucked in a present or two from a local business. We had a blast and saved a lot of money in the process.

Just something to think about, and Happy Holidays!

Thanks,

To the Editor:

As is our tradition during the holiday season, I am writing on behalf of PAWS to thank The Republican and your readers for their kind support, and to wish them and their pets all the best for the New Year. Even with the economic downturn, Garrett County residents and visitors generously supported our programs during 2009. It is so gratifying to live in a community that still understands the value of helping one another.

Our pets bring unconditional love and comfort into our lives. Yet too many dogs and cats have no loving families and must endure terrible hardships. Local rescue, shelter, and adoption programs are crucial and do much to alleviate this suffering. Yet they can only address our animal problems – not prevent them. The key is to spay and neuter pets so that there are fewer unwanted and discarded puppies and kittens in the first place. While most people understand this, many Garrett County residents simply cannot afford the costs of spaying and neutering their pets, even though they want to do so.

Almost all of the funds donated to PAWS are used to help families spay and neuter their pet dogs and cats. Residents who qualify can take their pets to any vet in the county, and PAWS will pay for about two-thirds of the cost of the procedure. More information is available at www.garrettpaws.org.

Donations to PAWS range from $5 to hundreds of dollars, but we value all contributions equally. Once again, we give special thanks to local DJ Jonny Rock for generously volunteering so much of his time and talent to make our springtime Passion for Pets Challenge such a great success, with local restaurants donating tips on special karaoke nights to PAWS. I also thank all of the other people who have volunteered their time and energy this year to carry out PAWS activities.

As usual, as the year winds down, so do our funds. If any of your readers would like to help us this Christmas season to provide assistance to even more Garrett County families, they can send their tax-deductible donations to PAWS, P.O. Box 745, McHenry, MD 21541.

Thank you all again!

Sincerely,
Tom Hertz
President, PAWS

To the Editor:

The level of laughter in these mountains has been greatly toned down. The art of storytelling has lost its champion. Garrett County's magician at the turn of a pun, a man capable of holding an audience together with a combination of mirth intertwined with merriment is no longer among us.

Gary Yoder has passed away.

Along with his sense of humor was a career based on befuddling his employers, not only as to where he was at any given time, but what he was doing. A former secretary of the Department of Natural Resources for which Gary worked was once asked by a reporter, "What does Gary do for you guys?" The man took a long sip from his drink, put the glass back on the counter, and placing a hand on the questioner's shoulder said, "We don't know exactly what Gary does, but he's better at it than anyone we ever had before!"

What Gary did was befriend the people who would help both him and his boss look good, and end up with something great for the county. If this involved discussions that turned into heart-to-heart chats lasting long past the time the club closed down, Gary would stick it out. In fact, he would hold the person he was trying to influence until he was in complete agreement with some arrangement that would benefit the county and its citizens. He would seize a crowd with humor, and then deliver his real message.

Many people envied Gary's easy way with people. A few have even tried to imitate it. But no one could come close. After all, how do you compete with someone who was banned from the annual Liars' Contest because he won too many times? (At least that's the way Gary explained it.)

But even Gary could turn serious, especially when he had a fly rod in his hand. He could dazzle clients and friends alike with the beauty and the pinpoint accuracy of his casts.

Gary lived in part for the western Maryland rivers, but mostly he lived for his family. Please send your prayers of any faith in their direction.

If this letter seems a bit irreverent it's because Gary wouldn't want it any other way. I am already greatly missing the man who could make people laugh with a joke that usually contained at least a kernel of wisdom and life's lessons.

Sincerely,
Glenn Tolbert

Auto Club Offers "Tools" To Help Senior Drivers

From AAA Mid-Atlantic

AAA is joining the American Occupational Therapy Association (AOTA) in supporting their first annual Older Driver Safety Awareness Week, Dec. 6-12. The campaign aims to generate awareness about the importance of senior driver safety and mobility and to educate the public about the variety of resources available to assist older drivers and their families.

Many seniors and their families will at some point struggle with a difficult decision about an older adult's driving ability.

•How does one know when it's time to hang up the keys?

•What options exist when they can no longer drive?

During Older Driver Safety Awareness Week, AAA Mid-Atlantic is encouraging seniors and their families to take the first step in addressing this difficult issue by having a conversation about driving and aging.

To help families of senior drivers, AAA offers expert advice, research-based tools and resources through its safety and mobility web site – AAASeniors.com. The information and tools on the site are designed to aid in prompting conversations, assessing abilities, and improving the comfort and safety of older drivers.

'Often people do not know where to turn for assistance to address the safety and mobility challenges often faced by older drivers and their families. The auto club's web site provides the tools needed to create an action plan to help manage the inevitable, and often difficult, consequences of aging, and its effect on driving ability," said Ragina C. Averella, manager of Public and Government Affairs at AAA Mid-Atlantic.

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, one in five people will be age 65 or older by 2030, with an estimated 90 percent licensed to drive; in 2008, there were over 34 million people aged 65 and older in the U.S. Older drivers represented 15 percent, 31 million, of all licensed drivers in 2007, according to the National Highway Traffic Administration (NHTSA).

Nationwide, based on data compiled by NHTSA, there were an estimated 717,000 older driver-involved crashes (age 65+) in 2008 accounting for nearly 8 percent of all crashes. Older driver involved crashes resulted in 5,569 fatalities, 11 percent of total fatalities, and an estimated 231,000 injuries, 8 percent of total injuries.

According to the Maryland Highway Safety Office, in 2008, there were a total of 9,884 older driver-involved crashes (age 65+), accounting for 10 percent of the total crashes in Maryland. Older Maryland driver crashes resulted in 85 fatalities, 14 percent of total fatalities, and 6,545 injuries, nearly 14 percent of total injuries in Maryland.
